Will Rogers Remarks:

MINNEAPOLIS, July 1. [To the Editor of The Times:] Mr. Coolidge's sermonettes are running more to the spiritual than the political. He had layed off the tariff and Uncle Joe Grundy in favor of faith, and passed up the disarmament treaty and Hiram in favor of divine guidance, and sets more store by eternal things than he does the United States Senate. He wants us to get back to the old early New England tradition where, if you wasn't praying, you was burning somebody that was, so it looks like I am left single handed to cope with Borah, Smoot and all material and temporal matters.

Senate Votes to Boost Rates

House Expected to Refuse Concurrence in New Schedule

Hints Heard That President Will Veto Bill Unless Cost Reduced

WASHINGTON, July 1. (AP)—The new World War veterans' relief measure was passed today by the Senate after the Democrats had succeeded in raising the disability pension rates above the level provided by the House bill bearing the administration's approval.

This change in the House measure, which was voted, 37 to 26, forces the bill into conference for adjustment of differences. There were hints of another Presidential veto if the increased rates are allowed and administration supporters are seeking a way tonight to reach a compromise.

Over-riding Hoover forces on the increase, the Senate showed its irritable mood in closing hours of debate. It refused to enter an agreement to vote tomorrow on the bill and then proceeded to vote.

Leaders Approve Program to Assure Continuation for Enforcement Board

Resolution Drafted for Use if Amendment Fails to Receive Approval

WASHINGTON, July 1. (AP)—A precautionary program to assure funds for the continuation of the Hoover law enforcement commission and its investigations was formulated today by House administration followers in preparation for a contest over an appropriation of $350,000 for the organization's expenses in the new fiscal year.

A resolution was approved late today by the House Rules Committee to authorize the commission to continue its studies into prohibition and all other law enforcement, and administration forces are confident of favorable action by the House tomorrow when the second deficiency bill is submitted for action on Senate amendments.

LIMITED BY SENATE

An item of $250,000 for the commission was stricken from the deficiency bill on a point of order raised by Representative La Guardia, Republican, New York, on the ground the commission was not authorized for a second year. When the measure went to the Senate, an item of $50,000 and a reappropriation of $88,000 of unexpended funds were inserted with the proviso the commission confine its studies to prohibition enforcement.

The Senate today agreed to the conference report on the deficiency bill, carrying about $73,000,000 for contingencies in government operation, but sixteen amendments, including appropriation for the Wickersham commission, still are in disagreement.

ACTION DUE TODAY

The conference report will be submitted to the House tomorrow, and if a point of order is raised against the Wickersham allotment of $250,000 to be recommended by the House Appropriations Committee, Acting Chairman Purnell of the Rules Committee will offer the resolution and continue the life of the commission, which technically expired today, and to provide $250,000 and the unexpended balance for the fiscal year 1931.

It will be brought up under special legislative status to assure early action.

Chairman Wood of the House Appropriations Committee predicted favorable action by the House and the Senate. Wood said it is to be regretted "an attempt has been made to slap the administration" by not providing funds "recommended by the Budget Bureau with the approval of President Hoover."

BAR LEADER DENOUNCES CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, July 1. (Exclusive)—As the House leaders were preparing today to make certain the Wickersham commission's appropriation will be restored one way or another Henry Upton Sims, president of the American Bar Association, denounced Congress for its refusal to provide adequate funds for the completion of the commission's work.

Los Angeles Among Many California Cities Hit by Ruling on Sale of Electric Energy

BY FLOYD J. HEALEY
"Times" Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1. (Exclusive)—In a majority opinion of widespread potential application, the Railroad Commission today ruled private power companies in the State of California are not obliged to sell electric energy to a municipality for use in a distributing system in competition to the source of the energy.

The ruling was in the specific cases of the city of Fairfield against the Great Western Power Company and the cities of Mountain View and Stockton against the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, but the tremendous interest in the cases is evident in the fact eleven other cities intervened on behalf of the municipalities directly concerned, as friends of the court. Included in the list is Los Angeles, where the Southern California Edison Company and the municipal Bureau of Power and Light are engaged in the distribution of electric energy. Other cities that filed briefs in the cases are Chula Vista, Fullerton, Redlands, Santa Monica, Colton, Hayward, Reedley, San Bruno, Burlingame and Salinas.

DISSENTING OPINIONS

President Seavey and Commissioner Carr returned separate dissenting opinions.

The municipalities sought an order from the commission forcing the two power companies, Great Western and Pacific Gas and Electric, to supply them with electric energy for purposes of resale over municipally owned distributing systems in competition with the companies furnishing the power, and the commission was asked also to fix rates the cities should pay for such energy.

In the cases at issue, the majority opinion of Commissioners Louttit, Decoto and Whitsell, held that "a careful review of all the facts and circumstances fails to establish the claim that either of the defendant utilities has dedicated its facilities to the use of systems operating in competition with it."

SEAVEY'S CONTENTIONS

None of the complainant cities now is prepared to receive power for resale purposes, the decision points out, nor have they any existing facilities for the distribution of electric energy.

President Seavey asserted a municipality has the legal right even though it has granted franchises to privately owned utilities, to supply its municipal needs and also to supply and sell to its inhabitants, light, heat and power. The procuring of a franchise by a privately owned utility without reservation, he held, is a clear dedication of service to the city as a competitor.

CAPTURE OF CHICAGO GANG BALKS BEER RACKET PLOT

Suspects, Wanted in Lingle Murder, Found Arranging Vast Liquor System

Four Chicago beer runners and their brewmaster sat silent and morose behind bars at the City Jail last night as they awaited transportation in irons back to their home stamping grounds.

Their arrest early yesterday morning revealed comprehensive plans for the erection and operation of a large brewery in Los Angeles, which was to be a coast-wide business directed by Chicago racketeers and supplying hundreds of gallons of illicit beer to dealers from Seattle to San Diego.

Details of the inner workings of the group, who have been identified as members of the notorious "Bugs" Moran gang, came to light when search was directed to Los Angeles for the murderer of Alfred (Jake) Lingle, Chicago newspaper man.

THREE MURDER SUSPECTS

In addition to bearing the title of "beer barons," three of the quartet are also held on suspicion of murder and will be returned to Chicago to answer questions on the daylight slaying of the reporter.

The four, reputed to be beer gangsters, but who gave their occupation as "salesmen," and are now awaiting extradition, are:

Frankie Foster, alias Frost, alias Foreman. He is credited with being the "brains" of the Coast clique and the boss of the barons. In police circles in Chicago he is known as a gunman, formerly connected with the Al (Scarface) Capone gang, but more recently a right-hand man of "Bugs" Moran, leader of a rival gang.

Marvin Apler, alias Hart, a six-year resident of Los Angeles, but who has been acquainted with beer-running activities in Chicago for several months. He is described as the Coast "contact man," and was supplying the needed information as to locations and possible customers.

Frankie Fisher, 30 years of age, wanted in Chicago, according to the police, on several gangster activities and here to direct the operation of the beer-laden trucks.

BREWMASTER IN GANG

George Davis, 35, identified as Foster's bodyguard, and who was recruited in Chicago after he spent some months there. He is formerly of San Francisco, and is wanted in the Illinois city on his past record.

With this quartet, authorities also found Herman Walters, 38, a brewmaster, who came here from Chicago to take charge of the erection of the brewery and to superintend the output.

While these five are in the City Jail, the sixth person arrested in the raid, Mrs. Frank Foster, wife of the leader, is held in the County Jail. She is booked for investigation, and, according to the police, is not wanted for Chicago crimes.

None of those under arrest is wanted for crimes in Los Angeles, it was stated, and their disposition is entirely in the hands of the Illinois authorities.

FOSTER INDICTMENT DUE

The raid on the Chicago crew came suddenly after careful planning of over two weeks by Investigators Dudley and Scherping, sent here by Chief Investigator Pat Roche of the Chicago State's Attorney's office, on a tip that Foster would be found here directing plans for the new beer venture.

Foster is chiefly wanted in Chicago for questioning in connection with the murder of Lingle, and his indictment by the grand jury for the killing was forecast here yesterday by Dudley. "We know that Foster supplied the gun that was used in the slaying," he said. "We also know that he was in the underground passageway ten minutes before the assassin slipped up behind Lingle and shot him in the back of the head, and we also know that he supplied all the weapons and ammunition used by the Moran gang in their killings." Dudley said in explaining that he would have permitted—if necessary—all the rest of the crowd to have made their get-away to effect the capture of Foster.

Two weeks of trailing and checking by the Chicago investigators, in which they were assisted by Investigators King and Chriss of the District Attorney's office, brought them to a realization that the time had arrived for the arrests, and Monday afternoon the law struck.

APARTMENT WATCHED

It struck at an exclusive apartment-house near Ninth and Serrano streets in the Wilshire district, which was known to be the headquarters of the gang.

SURPLUS AS YEAR ENDS

Nation Also Cuts Debt Total

Mellon Reports Balance of $184,000,000 at Close of Fiscal Period

Payments on Obligations for Twelve Months Put at $746,000,000

WASHINGTON, July 1. (AP)—President Hoover's first full fiscal year in office was completed with a surplus of $184,000,000 in the Treasury and a reduction of $746,000,000 in the gross public debt.

Secretary Mellon announced total receipts for the twelve months amounted to $4,178,000,000, while expenditures were $3,994,000,000. For the year previous receipts were $4,033,000,000, while expenditures were $3,848,000,000.

Mr. Mellon said the total gross debt is $16,185,000,000, as compared with $16,931,000,000 on June 30, 1929.

In announcing the surplus the Secretary said $76,000,000 was due to debtor nations making their June 15 payment on war debts in cash instead of in United States securities. The surplus also was increased, he pointed out, by abnormal customs receipts due to withdrawals of imports in anticipation of tariff legislation.

HEAVY INCOME REVENUE

Income taxes provided the greater revenue, producing a total of $2,411,000,000, as compared with $2,331,000,000 the previous year. The increase was made in face of the stock market collapse and the 1 per cent reduction on normal and corporation incomes.

Back tax collections produced $6,000,000 more in 1930 than in 1929, the Secretary said. Receipts from customs amounted to $587,000,000, a decrease of $15,000,000, as compared to the previous year, while miscellaneous revenue increased $21,000,000 to a total of $628,000,000, due chiefly to the tobacco, stamp and estate taxes.

INCREASE IN OUTLAY

The Secretary said the chief increases in expenditures were $37,000,000 on account of the War Department, $10,000,000 for the Navy, $29,000,000 for the Veterans' Bureau, $14,000,000 for the Commerce Department due to the census, $16,000,000 for the Shipping Board and $150,000,000 for the Federal Farm Board.

The main decreases he listed as $19,000,000 reduction in interest payments, $57,000,000 decrease in internal revenue funds and $35,000,000 paid in 1929 as back railway mail pay.

"The original estimate of surplus made in advance of the fiscal year was $225,000,000," the Secretary said. "The 1 per cent tax reduction of last fall estimated as amounting to $80,000,000 for this fiscal year reduced this figure to $145,000,000. The actual surplus for the year just closed is $184,000,000."

INDICTMENT THREATENED

Chicago Gunman Arrested Here Must Talk or Face Trial for Murder of Lingle

BY JOHN P. GALLAGHER
"Times" Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, July 1. (Exclusive)—Frank Foster, who, at one time, owned the revolver with which Alfred (Jake) Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter, was killed, is to be indicted here for Lingle's murder if such indictment is necessary to bring him back from Los Angeles, where he was arrested early this morning. Chief Investigator Patrick Roche of the State's Attorney's office made that announcement tonight after an exchange of conversations over long-distance telephone with his detectives in Los Angeles who traced Foster to the Pacific Coast metropolis.

"I am preparing a list of questions for Foster to answer," Roche explained. "It may be that if he answers them all truthfully it will not be necessary to bring him to Chicago, but if it is we will ask his indictment for the Lingle murder, as he is at least an accomplice if not the actual slayer. Having guilty knowledge alone makes him an accomplice if he does not divulge it."

Foster has been identified as the purchaser of the snub-nosed 38-caliber revolver that was used in the murder of Lingle.

The officials here believe that he can tell who owned the revolver after it left his possession and also can detail information as to the motive and the slayers.

MOTIVE SUSPECTED

The motive has been pretty well established as the resentment of gambling house proprietors over Lingle's demands upon them enforced under threat of suppression by the police.

Foster left town on June 11, two days after Lingle was murdered, Roche's detectives learned, and they ficers, reinforced by detectives from Central Station, secreted themselves in the apartment-house. A few moments later Mrs. Foster was in custody and held incommunicado at the District Attorney's office.

Just as dusk settled over the city Foster walked into the apartment-house. He had been out for an afternoon at the beach, and with his body guard walked unsuspectingly to the elevator which would carry him to his private home.

As Foster stepped to the elevator King, who had been waiting in the darkened reception room, moved in and shoving a revolver in Foster's side told him to put up his hands, that he was under arrest.

Foster, with hands in the air, turned and faced the officer with a smile and made light of the act of authorities who would dare throw him in jail.

The wanted man glanced at his wrist watch. "Oh, it's 6 o'clock; well, I'll be out by 7," he mused. Then his face dropped. "Oh," he said, "I forget that this is not Chicago."

He and Davis, who had been placed under arrest in the meantime, were then hustled away to the jail in Burbank, while the officers kept their vigil.

WALTERS ENTERS TRAP

Some time later Walters walked into the trap, and was rushed to the jail at Central Station, where he was placed on the blotter as Bert Williams, wanted for vagrancy. Walters talked about his arrest and his connection with the gang, but the other members were as mute as a marble shaft.

"I ain't got nothing to hide," said Walters. "I know you fellows are all cops and that I am under arrest, but you have nothing on me. I was employed by Foster to come out here and start a brewery. That's my connection. I'm not a gangster or a killer, and they don't want me for anything in Chicago." Walters gave his occupation as industrial engineer on the police blotter.

With Foster and his bodyguard safe behind bars, the investigators awaited the return of other members. Shortly after midnight their vigil was rewarded when Fisher and Hart walked through the lobby and into the waiting arms of the law. This pair spent the night in the Beverly Hills jail.

PUT THROUGH ROUTINE

Yesterday morning they were all at Central Station, where they were photographed, fingerprints taken, and put through the regular police routine.

The bravado of the Chicago racketeer had somewhat faded after an entire night in jail, and the entire quintet, with the exception of Walters, the brew-master, were apparently subdued. All were well dressed and, according to the arresting officers, well supplied with cash. None of the four carried less than $100 in cash in his pocket, and Foster had thrice that amount.

Efforts to get the would-be coast-wide beer barons to talk of the enterprise were futile. They had nothing to say, not even to the police, and all questions were answered by a half-smile. Hart appeared very nervous as the fingerprinting proceeded, but the others took the situation as a matter of no moment.

Pocket handkerchiefs were almost continually held over the lower part of all mouths and the eyes of each one of the prisoners were ever on the alert for a camera. There seemed to be a pronounced aversion on the part of all to posing for a picture or discussing the arrest.

After the tedious identification bureau work was completed and the five were hurried to their cells, Davis and Fisher in unison called back: "Well, did you fellows find out anything?"

Foster refused to leave his cell yesterday for a conference with Dudley and King, and only offered a sickly smile to the officers when they asked if he had any statement he wanted to make.

Hart left his cell long enough to make a visit to the office of Chief of Detectives Taylor, but he was not inclined to give any information and was soon sent back to his iron cot.

"There's no use trying to talk to these fellows," said Dudley, as he mopped his brow after a hard night and day of work. "Wait until they are back in Chicago, and perhaps they will feel more inclined."

Mrs. Foster spent the night and practically the entire day at a downtown hotel, where she was held in seclusion under guard. Later she was taken to the District Attorney's office and she remained true to the code. She declined to talk, but admitted that she had been in Los Angeles only two weeks. After posing for a picture, which she admitted was a violation of the ethics of her husband's group, she was booked at the County Jail.

Foster, Fisher and Davis are all wanted in Chicago, according to telephonic advices received by Dudley from Roche. At the same time Roche directed that photographs, fingerprints and other data on the six be hurried by air-mail to his office.

In accordance with instructions, Dudley said, that all prisoners would be held here until word is received here to start the trip back. Anticipating that those arrested will fight extradition, moves were made yesterday to have this formality cleared up at the earliest moment.

Members of the Moran gang have been filtering into Los Angeles in twos and threes since the killing of Lingle, according to Dudley. Prior to that time, he said, only two or three of them were known to have moved to the Pacific Coast. He estimated that at least sixteen of the Chicago gang were here before the raid, but yesterday said that he believed all had moved to other climes.

MORAN IN FLORIDA

Moran has been in Los Angeles on one occasion, the Chicago investigators said, but they believe that he now is in Florida. They have no trace, they said, of his having been here for some months. The two investigators assert that Foster was to pave the way for the moving of the Moran beer-running activities here, and that the "big boss" would arrive here to make his headquarters only after the preliminary details had been worked out and the "business" operating on a Chicago-like basis.

Foster and his wife lived in near seclusion in their apartment, and were well supplied with clothing and cash. In checking over Foster's wearing apparel the officer counted eighteen suits of clothing of expensive weave and latest patterns. Over thirty pairs of shoes hung in the velvet holder, and the hats and caps were too numerous to count.

A substantial checking account was also located in a bank near the apartment. Checks were honored on either Foster's or his wife's signature.

HAVE EXPENSIVE CARS

Two expensive cars were at the disposal of Foster and his men, and the apartment in which Hart and Davis lived was known as "headquarters." Day and night meetings and conferences were held here, according to the investigators, as the gang rushed plans for their brewery. All preliminary work was done by Walters, but the final say in all matters was held by Foster, according to the officers.

Trunks and baggage of the sextet, which, according to the officers, are extensive and expensive, will be subjected to a rigid search.

Already mail intercepted while the gang was under surveillance has revealed information of value in the hunt for the Lingle killer, and divulged plans for the brewery building.

FIND NO WEAPONS

Reports that some six automatics, revolver and snub-nosed pistols were found in the apartments were denied yesterday by King and Dudley.

"These fellows are smart," said Dudley and King. "They wouldn't have their weapons in their living quarters, but would keep them stored in some convenient hide-out where they could be reached easily and quickly."

Foster, explained Dudley, is known as the "arsenal keeper" of the Moran gang, and is familiar with the operations of practically every known make of firearms.

quoted him as saying Chicago was too hot for him. At that time, Roche said, the revolver had not been traced to him.

Of those arrested with Foster, Marvin Apler, alias Hart; George Davis and Frank Fisher, according to the police, are well-known figures in the Chicago underworld.

Fisher was once charged with murder with Walter O'Donnell, gunman and copper-hater. Fisher also was indicted with Willie Druggan, younger brother of Terry Druggan, the beer baron, for attempted extortion of La Salle street brokers.

Walter is said to have been a Moran brewmaster and Davis is rater as a bodyguard for Foster.

The round-up on the west coast was termed by Roche as "the most important development so far in the Lingle murder investigation." Both Roche and Assistant State's Attorney Charles F. Rathbun were optimistic today after the arrest of Foster in Los Angeles, and Grover Dullard here. It was indicated they now believe they are on the right trail and a speedy solution of the murder is expected.

The snub-nosed "belly gun" dropped by the slayer beside Lingle's body was traced to Foster through the acid process of restoring filed-off serial numbers. Foster bought the gun from Peter Van Frantzius, sports goods dealer and firearms seller, at 608 Diversey Parkway.

The clew that led to Foster and his pals was a telegram sent by Foster from Chicago to some one in Agua Caliente, Mex., just four hours after the slaying. Foster stated in the message that he would first go to Los Angeles, then to the de luxe resort below the border. He could not be extradicted from Mexico.

Foster stated he would carry credentials to prove his identity and "reliability."

Roche has obtained some information of value regarding the Lingle murder from the nine men and one woman seized here Monday night in two raids on headquarters of the Moran-Aiello gang with which Foster was formerly affiliated and against which suspicion of the Lingle murder had been directed. Whether the information concerned Foster he would not say.

AID GIVEN HERE LAUDED BY CHICAGO OFFICER

Appreciation of the hearty co-operation of the District Attorney's office and the police department were expressed last night by Investigator Dudley of the Chicago State's Attorney's office, in discussing the arrest of five men and one woman in the round-up of Chicago gangsters here.

"Without the aid of the two offices here our task would have been extremely difficult and doubtful of success," said Dudley. "We asked for aid when it became apparent that we were ready for the arrests. The aid came quickly and whole-heartedly and much praise is due them for the assistance rendered and the work accomplished."

It was learned last night that three of the arrested men carried authentic "press cards" from the Chief of Police in Chicago. They were found on Fisher, Foster and Davis when searched. The cards, entitling them to the usual courtesies extended newspaper men while on assignments, are being retained here as souvenirs by Investigator King. Dudley explained that they are "unusually common back in Chicago."

"I believe the Moran gang is deeply rooted here," said King, investigator from Pitts's office, as he talked of the arrests. "This move, directed by the Chicago investigators, may have broken the backbone of the attempt to establish a beer-running racket in Los Angeles, but I doubt it.

"There is no doubt in my mind that these Chicago gangsters expected to tie up with some of our local talent in their large operations and it will take closest vigilance on the part of our enforcement organizations to prevent the ultimate success of the movement which the six arrests have revealed," King continued.

GANGSTERS IN LOOP BATTLE

Chicago Gunmen Open Fire on Officer's Machine

Bystander Fatally Wounded; Another Also Injured

Lingle Murder Suspect in Car Target for Bullets

CHICAGO, July 1. (Exclusive)—Jack Zuta, manager of the Moran-Aiello vice interests, who had been held twenty-four hours as the suspected instigator of the murder of Alfred Lingle, won his release from the detective bureau under bond at 11:25 o'clock tonight. But Zuta was far from serene.

There was mortal fear on his pudgy face as he loitered uncertainly in the bureau lobby. He approached Lieut. George Barker, whose squad had arrested him and four others the previous night.

"Lieutenant," he quavered, "I don't want to go outside. They're gunning for me I haven't got a rod and I'll never get home alive. Get me across the 'Loop,' will you?"

The lieutenant grinned with easy tolerance at the gangster's fear.

"LIFT" OFFERED

"Hop in my bus," he said. "I'm going home and I'll take you as far as State and Lake streets."

Vastly relieved, Zuta climbed into the rear seat of Barker's sedan. The other prisoners, Solly Vision, Albert Bratz and Leona Bernstein, also released under bond, also got in. Vision sat beside Barker while Zuta huddled between Bratz and the girl.

They started north, Barker following the street-car rails. They had just crossed Quincy street, traveling at about fifteen miles an hour, when a dark-blue Chrysler sedan swung from behind and passed between Barker's car and the curb.

One of two men in the rear seat—a tall fellow in a tan suit and Panama hat—opened the door, stepped on the running board and drew a black automatic from a shoulder holster. Deliberately he aimed and pulled the trigger, pouring a stream of seven slugs into Barker's sedan.

PLENTY OF SHOOTING

Barker jammed on his brake. The Chrysler stopped also. Two men were firing now, the tan-suited one with a second pistol and his companion with a nickel-plated revolver. The second gunman was leaning from the left rear window.

At the first blast, Vision had scrambled over the front seat to huddle with Zuta, Bratz and the girl in the tonneau. Lieut. Barker was out of the car, standing in the middle of the street, a perfect target under State street's brilliant lights. He was blazing away, exchanging shot for shot.

Behind Barker's car was a stalled northbound State-street surface car. Standing at the controls, gaping at the furious battle, was the motorman, Elbert Lusader, 38 years of age. Some 300 or 400 other citizens had scurried to cover in doorways, behind lamp posts and a few found shelter by crouching behind steel refuse boxes.

MOTORMAN PARALYZED

A bullet from the tan-suited gunman pierced the motorman's neck and nicked his spine. He fell, unconscious and paralyzed. Later he died.

Another shot struck Olaf Svenste, 69, ripping the muscle of his left arm.

In the crowd were Police Lieutenant David Schwartz and Sergt. John Ryan. "It was so brazen I couldn't believe it was happening," said Lieut. Schwartz.

His ammunition exhausted, Lieut. Barker leaped back into his car. The Chrysler started away rapidly and the man in the Panama hat slipped back inside.

Barker's car was creeping up when, at Madison street, there came from the exhaust of the fleeing car a burst of smoke, which spread almost instantly from curb to curb and seemed of approximately twenty-foot density.

CHASE AT END

Barker drove through it, keeping sight of the fugitive car across the walk. The Chrysler wheeled east in Madison street with Barker fifty yards behind. At Wabash avenue the chase led north again and there the pursuit stopped. Barker's car had run out of gasoline.

What became of Zuta, Vision, Bratz and the girl is a question which none of a dozen witnesses, rounded up by squad men, could answer. Apparently at the moment Lieut. Barker got his pistol into action, diverting the gangster fire to himself, the others seized the opportunity to flee afoot.

Examination of Barker's sedan indicated Vision might have been wounded in the leg. The base of the front seat was pocked with bullet holes, made by the first blast of the gunman from the Chrysler running-board.

Rumor for some days has been that gangland had marked Zuta for death because, so the gangsters believed, Zuta had decreed Lingle's death. His arrest was brought about by an anonymous tip to the detective bureau Monday evening.

"There's a pack of gangsters in the first-floor flat at 807 Lakeside Place," the tipster had said. Barker's squad sped to the flat, brought in Zuta and Bratz in their shirt sleeves and posted guards to arrest anyone entering the flat. Thus were Vision and the girl taken.

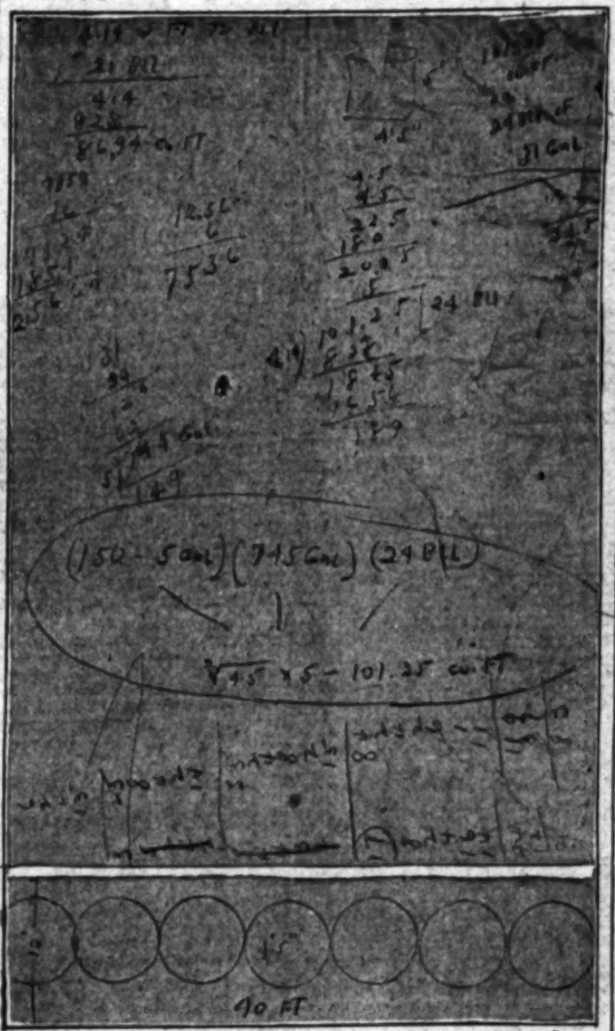
Cryptic Figures Hold Wet Secret



Beer Plant Diagram

GANGSTERS' BEER PLANT PLAN FOUND

Brewmaster Had Drawing of Factory Projected for Los Angeles Section

Although it may never clear up the slaying of Jake Lingle, Chicago reporter, the arrest early yesterday of five gangster-suspects has served to nip in the bud a gigantic plan to establish a beer industry on the very outskirts of Los Angeles county. The Chicago detectives who trailed the quintet here from the Windy City say they are satisfied beyond doubt that the plan was steadily taking shape.

Fierce competition among the rival beer barons of Chicago, with its attendant succession of gang wars and bloodshed, according to the detectives, prompted the selection of Los Angeles as a new center of operations. Some time ago, before Jake Lingle was shot down, they say, Frank Foster, asserted "brains" of the quintet in custody, came here to "get the lay of the land." He remained a week, then returned to Chicago to organize his forces, being followed later by Marvin Hart and George Davis, who police say, have been engaged in bootlegging activities here and in San Francisco for several years. Davis became Foster's bodyguard, and Hart "took a course" in beer running, as it is practiced by the big shots in Chicago's underworld.

Several weeks ago the five, accompanied by the woman believed to be Foster's wife, landed in this city, and at once set about the establishment of a beer-running system. The detectives say they were joined subsequently by four other Chicagoans, and the nine merged interests with seven local racketeers, bringing the total number in the gang to sixteen. The migration here, according to the officers, indicates it was the ultimate intention of George (Bugs) Moran, notorious Chicago gang leader, to shake forever from his heels the dust of Chicago. Foster, they declare, is a "lieutenant" of Moran, having long since switched his allegiance from Al (Scarface) Capone.

On the shoulders of Herman Walters, self-admitted brewmaster, rested the task of planning and supervising the construction of a brewery. Three sites were chosen as good "spots," and while their advantages and disadvantages were being contemplated, Walters was busying himself with paper and pencil. He went to a local brewery now engaged in the manufacture of near-beer and made a ground plan of the complicated apparatus involved, presumably, the detectives believe, to facilitate the ambitious industrial scheme of Foster and his henchmen to make beer of the alcoholic variety. Yesterday, in subjecting Walters to a search, the officers found this plan in his pocket.

Drawn with the precision of a trained draftsman, the plan shows a row of seven circles, supposedly representing an array of vats or drums for the brewing of the amber contraband. The circles are within an area formed by lines representing the floor dimensions.

On the opposite side of the makeshift "blue-print," are numerous cryptic scribblings, which to the initiated undoubtedly convey the potential output of the brewery. There are sums in multiplication, subtraction, addition and division; and even an algebraic equation is employed to ascertain the answer in terms of barrels and gallons.

While four of the asserted gangsters remained tight-lipped about the venture, Walters, the brewmaster, admitted unhesitatingly that a vast beer plant was the object of the expedition. He said he had been engaged at a salary to assume charge of the manufacturing, adding he is not a gangster or killer, and dismissing further discussion of the subject by insisting "that was all there was to it."

NEVADA DESERT GONE BUGHOUSE

Too Much Prosperity Turns Heads of Reptiles

May Showers Bring Flowers and Insects Follow

Chuckwallahs Fat and Lazy From Easy Pickings

TONOPAH (Nev.) July 1. (AP)—A mischievous aftermath to Mother Nature's fanciful mood which with a nineteen-day rain transformed Nevada's desert wastes into a vast bed of brilliant flowers, is engaging the interest of entomologists and botanists alike.

With abundant foliage to feed on, insect life has multiplied until the great desert wastes are virtually alive with creeping creatures. Investigating the phenomena at the request of the United States Bureau of Plant Industry, Letson Balliet, mining geologist and naturalist, finds the supply of insect food is so plentiful that, in turn, their natural foe—lizards and reptiles—are becoming fat and lazy.

SUPPLY BREEDS DEMAND

"Later in the year," Balliet says in his report, "we will probably find the lizards and reptiles multiplying to meet the unbalanced food supply."

In normal years, Balliet says, the insect eggs and larvae attached to the dried leaves of the preceding year's vegetation are blown away into the sand and perish by the millions. But this season, thanks to the unusual rains, the insects in the larvae and pupae stages found abundant plant life for food.

"They multiplied so fast that the reptiles gorge themselves and lazily lie back in the shade of the sage brush. They do not dart after a fly or a bug as in other years, hence the layman is inclined to think there are fewer of them this year. Worms and insects crawl right up to the fat and lazy reptiles, which enjoy their meals in bed.

OVERFLOW HOME RANGE

Cultivated areas adjacent to Death Valley are being overrun with the insect pests, Balliet reports, a little green fly seeming to be particularly numerous. There are great numbers of gnats, moth millers, moth winged butterflies and the Mississippi butterfly.

Only a dry year will reduce the insect crop to normal but flocks of blackbirds, quail and grackle are giving the agriculturist some relief.

Robin redbreasts, magpies, avocets, meadow larks, orioles and other birds can be seen farther out on the desert than ordinarily, he says, but never beyond the reach of water.

Deadlock in Congress Hard on Washingotn

WASHINGTON, July 1. (AP)—The District of Columbia government went "broke" today as a stubborn set of Senate and House conferees failed to agree on appropriations for the nation's capital.

For more than a month the conferees have been glaring unmovingly at each other across a committee table. The House group says $9,000,000 is enough for Washington. Senate conferees say it should be $12,000,000.

Meanwhile all authority for any funds died today, the first day of the new fiscal year. Another conference was called for this afternoon as President Hoover began to look into this controversy.

RULERS LEAVE BELGIUM

BRUSSELS, July 1. (AP)—The King and Queen of the Belgians today left for a visit in Switzerland. At Lucerne they will receive a visit from the Princess Marie Jose of Piedmont, bride of Prince Humbert of Italy, who is said to be expecting an heir.

QUIZ ASKED OF COTTON PRICE DROP

Resolution by Sheppard Approved by Agriculture Committee in Senate

WASHINGTON, July 1. (AP)—A Federal investigation of declines in cotton prices in 1916, 1926, 1927, 1928, 1929 and the first half of 1930 would be made under a resolution approved today by the Senate Agriculture Committee.

The inquiry proposed by Senator Sheppard, Democrat, Texas, would be conducted by the Department of Agriculture through the grain futures administration. A sum of $125,000 would be authorized.

Investigators would learn the cause of cotton price slumps, the amount of short selling on exchanges, who did the short selling, its effect and public participation in "futures," and whether "the majority of the public lost or won on the deal."

Growers Say Price of Meats Cuts Demand

DENVER, July 1. (AP)—A tightening of the differential between the price of meat animals to the packers and the cost of meat to the consumers is the solution of the problem of under-demand confronting live-stock markets, W. B. Tagg of Omaha told the National Live-Stock Exchange, in session today.

Mr. Tagg, a member of the National Live-Stock and Meat Board, and president of the Omaha Live-Stock Exchange, said there must be a reduction of at least 10 per cent in the price of meat to consumers and the reduction must be made by retailers, hotels and restaurants.

Sproul Takes Up His Duties as Head of U.C.

BERKELEY, July 1. (AP)—Dr. Robert Gordon Sproul, civil engineer, tennis player and student of the classics, took office today as president of the University of California, succeeding Dr. W. W. Campbell, retired.

Barely 39 years of age, Dr. Sproul was said to be the second youngest president of any major university in America. He took office with no ceremony, merely walking into the president's office, where he faced a battery of interviewers.

Formal inauguration ceremonies will be held October 22.

SPEEDY SUBMARINE PLACED IN SERVICE

MARE ISLAND, July 1. (AP)—The submarine V-6, speedy addition to the United States Navy, was commissioned here today with formal ceremonies conducted by Admiral G. W. Laws, commandant of Mare Island. The craft, launched March 15, is 370 feet long, 180 feet longer than the S-boats. Its cost was about $3,000,000. Diving and speed tests will be conducted in San Francisco Bay. The submarine will join Division 20 of the battle fleet at San Diego by January 1.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1. (AP)—Capt. H. S. Seagar, former Los Angeles police officer, assumed his duties today as chief of the State Division of Narcotics. He succeeds Frank Benson, San Jose, who resigned because of ill health. Seagar was appointed by Gov. Young. WOMEN JOYFUL OVER NEW RIGHT

Organized Femininity Holds Cable Bill Celebration

Bryan's Daughter Leads in Citizenship Fight

Repatriation By Simple Statement Provided

WASHINGTON, July 1. (AP)—Organized femininity, estimated as 500,000 strong, today fired off figurative cannon crackers of jubilation for the increased independence of women. They celebrated the long-fought-for passage of the Cable bill, relieving American-born women married to aliens from the necessity of involved naturalization proceedings to regain their citizenship.

American-born Ruth Bryan Owen, expatriated by her marriage to a British army officer, naturalized like any other alien into her home land, defender of her seat in Congress on a citizenship basis, was banner-bearer and outstanding example in the "parity of citizenship" campaign.

CABLE ACT CHANGED

She sat with the House committee considering the Cable bill. Her naturalization experience was cited as "not just treatment" in the report of March 31 recommending its passage. She pronounced the existing naturalization process as applied to American-born women "an absurdity" and "a farce."

Among the requirements she labelled "perfectly irrelevant" when applied to American women was having to affirm: "I am not a polygamist nor a believer in the practice of polygamy."

To emphasize her stand for women's citizenship rights, Mrs. Owen served as her own attorney in her election contest case, explaining she did it "because, to me, the elements we are considering are so simple they do not require any legal presentation."

ONLY STATEMENT NEEDED

The new Cable bill, an amendment to the Cable Act of 1922, strikes out the presumption that a native-born woman loses her American citizenship by residence abroad after her marriage to an alien.

It provides for repatriation by simple affirmation, instead of requiring residence in the United States for a year, declaration of intention to reside here permanently, and posting of the name for ninety days.

Under its provisions, native-born women would not be required to take the same searching examination and naturalization process as is required of a foreign-born alien. It would permit a native-born woman who had lost her citizenship by marriage to an alien to return to the United States outside the immigration quota.

Prodded by the combined forces of the National Women's Party, the League of Women Voters, the Business and Professional Women's League, the American Association of University Women, and a dozen other women's groups, the Senate yesterday saw the legislation through to a last-of-the-session victory.

The women working for the legislation feel no fear that President Hoover will fail to approve it.

STRAIGHT LINE BENT UP BY TEAMSTERS' UNION

NEW YORK, July 1. (Exclusive) Art is not so long these days, time not so fleeting, but the teamsters' union, for whom a straight line is not the shortest distance between two points, still has its pride.

Members of that union yesterday moved a musical comedy, "Stepping Sisters," from the Royal Theater to the Masque Theater next door. The houses' stage doors are adjacent, they both use the same alley and the transfer of scenery and baggage would be but fifteen minutes' work for three stage hands. Yet, in keeping with union orders, teamsters backed their trucks to the Royal door, drove out the alley past the Masque door, around the block and back into the same alley before the props were unloaded into the Masque.

The operation cost $300.

RESCUE RUSHED TO OIL RESERVE

After Eighteen Years' Talk Bill Introduced

Measure for Consolidation of Elk Hills Field

Action in Present Session Not to be Pressed

WASHINGTON, July 1. (AP)—Legislation eighteen years in contemplation for the preservation of the Navy's most valuable oil reserve reached the House today from its Naval Committee.

The bill, designed for the protection of reserve No. 1 at Elk Hills, Cal., will not be pressed at this session. The committee intended its report to the House should serve as a declaration of Congressional policy.

The measure, which was introduced at the request of the Navy Department by Chairman Britten, permits the acquisition of privately owned land in the heart of reserve No. 1, either through exchange or through purchase with royalty oils.

Development of the private lands in the reserve, it is contended, will reduce the value of the naval lands as reserves through drainage.

JADWIN HEADS POWER GROUP

Army Engineer Chief Named by President Hoover

Retired Lieutenant-General Agrees to Accept

Will Have Hand in Spending Millions of Dollars

WASHINGTON, July 1. (AP)—Lieut.-Gen. Edgar Jadwin, who, as chief of army engineers, gained intimate knowledge of the country's waterways, was selected today by President Hoover to head his new power commission.

Gen. Jadwin retired seven months ago from the post in which he supervised the development of waterways and worked out the Mississippi flood-control program. In his new post he will pass on applications to develop power resources in navigable streams and on public lands.

He has agreed to accept the appointment. His nomination, with the other commission members, will be sent to the Senate in special session this summer for confirmation.

When two members have taken office the new commission will supplant the old, which had as members the Secretaries of War, Interior and Agriculture, and which, since 1920, has supervised expenditures of about $250,000,000 for power developments.

In the new commission applications for power plants are to be placed in the hands of five $10,000-a-year men who, the act stipulates, may have no other occupation. Nor may they have been connected in any way with, or hold any stock in, power companies.

At present seventy applications for power permits are pending with the commission.

REDS' OPPOSERS SEE NEW LIGHT

Right Wing Leaders Recant Views Long Held

Jeers for Retractors Hint Abasement Futile

MOSCOW, July 1. (AP)—Joseph Stalin, strong man of soviet Russia, and his Central Committee of the Communist party today routed the Right Wing opponents of their policies.

Once there were five who openly disapproved of the Central Committee and Stalin's leadership—Leon Trotzky, the partner of Lenin in early soviet days; Alexis Rykov, long a Communist officeholder, Michael Tomski, member of the executive council; N. A. Uglanov, Commissar of Labor, and Nikolai Bucharin, once editor of Pravda, official newspaper.

Now Trotzky is an exile on an island in the Sea of Marmora; Bucharin last November recanted in order to remain in good standing, although he still is under fire, and today Rykov, Tomski and Uglanov made abject apologies, but were subjected to much heckling and abuse from the all-union Communist congress.

The derision which greeted their speeches of retraction indicated there was little chance of their being reinstated in good favor.

Thus Stalin has crushed all opposition to his policies and warning was given that in the future the party would take even harsher measures against the right wing.

The official newspapers Pravda and Izvestia, not satisfied with the retractions of the three leaders, demanded that Bucharin, too, come forth with a confession and pledge to remedy his errors through future work for the cause.

GOVERNORS SEE POWER USURPED

Encroachment of Nation on States Deplored

Senate Assuming Executive Prerogatives Also

Gov. Young Leaves Without Delivering Speech

SALT LAKE CITY, July 1. (Exclusive)—Tax and finance maladies with which the States are assailed formed the discussion of the second day of the national Governors' conference here, without any new panacea being projected. General lamentation was expressed over the rising cost of government and widening spread of governmental activities.

The Governors deplored the growing tendency of the Federal government to usurp or absorb State functions and the rights of States. Likewise did they view with alarm or applaud views of alarm of the rising power of the United States Senate over executive prerogatives.

STATE RIGHTS INVADED

The Federal government's rule with respect to State taxation of national banks is a "glaring invasion of the rights of States to levy a suitable tax on institutions conducted for private profit," said Gov. Dern of Utah.

Gov. Erickson of Montana told his fellow-Governors he is not ready to concede that Uncle Sam is a better or more efficient administrator than the States.

Gov. Gardiner of Maine, making his first formal address at the conference today, took a fling at the direct primary.

DIRECT PRIMARY HIT

"The demagogue loves the primary," he said. "It is his line. Let us acknowledge the theoretical virtues of the direct primary law, but let us question if, in fact, it is a successful contribution to political administration."

Gov. Emmerson of Illinois threw this thought into the conference:

"The present slump of business will not end until we forget the stock-market crash and remember that the country lost not a single penny of real value in that debacle. Agriculture, mining, manufacture and trade all must join hands in solving their problems or all will eventually suffer the consequences.

"The real problems of any people are economic rather than political and full consideration of these on the basis of what is just and economically sound is the hope of American agriculture," said Gov. Weaver of Nebraska.

SENATE ATTACKED

Gov. Christianson of Minnesota delivered an attack upon the United States Senate and the shift in governmental control.

"During the last three national administrations," he said, "there has been a shift from the President to the Senate, due to the determination of the Senate to control the executive department through the power to confirm or reject appointments. Coincidentally has come a shift from the State to the Federal governments.

"The real stimulus to the development of Federal power has come, not from theory, but from the necessities of policy which are the outgrowth of social changes. I do not believe that any State is justified in surrendering to the Federal government, nor that the Federal government is justified in taking over from any State, any function unless the exercise of that function is essential to the national welfare and is such that it cannot be exercised with reasonable efficiency by the State."

Gov. Young of California returned to Los Angeles today without having an opportunity to make his scheduled speech on the reorganization of the State government.

Two Killed and Two Injured in Crash of Auto

McMINNVILLE (Or.) July 1. (AP) Two persons were killed, two others suffered probably fatal injuries and the fifth escaped in an automobile accident today when an automobile, driven by Clifford Ward, 24 years of age, of Santa Monica, Cal., chauffeur, left the Pacific Highway and crashed into a tree.

Ward and Miss Marie Rogers, 22, Portland, were killed, and Helen Johnson, Portland, and Max George, Portland bellhop, suffered injuries physicians said were serious. George's skull was fractured and Miss Johnson received internal injuries.

Clinton Carter, Portland, leaped to safety.

Authorities were told the automobile belonged to Mrs. E. J. E. Peake, Santa Monica, who is visiting in Portland. She said Ward was not given permission to use the automobile.

Large Bootleg Ring Disclosed

CLEVELAND, July 1. (AP)—Federal authorities revealed an asserted international bootleg and whisky smuggling organization, extending from Cleveland to Kingsville, Ont., McKeesport, Pa., and Fernandina, Fla., when secret indictments were returned here today naming ten men and charging fifty-two overt acts.

Word of the indictment came on the arrest here of "Gentleman Danny" Coughlin by Paul Hanson, special Federal investigator.

He pleaded not guilty to a charge of conspiracy to violate the Federal prohibition and smuggling laws.

ARIZONA AIDS FIGHT ON PINK BOLL WORM

PHOENIX, July 1. (AP)—Acting Governor Frazier issued an executive proclamation today granting the State Commission of Agriculture and Horticulture an additional fund of $21,000 for use in clean-up work in the pink boll worm infested area in the Gilbert district.

Detroit Mayor Denied Writ to Estop Recall

DETROIT, July 1. (AP)—Circuit Judge Webster today refused Mayor Bowles and his supporters an injunction restraining the City Clerk from acting on petitions demanding the Mayor's recall.

In his decision Judge Webster stated that he had no right to interfere with the election because "it involves questions wholly of a political nature."

The judge also stated that "it is of vital importance that the questions involved in this litigation should be speedily disposed of and through the co-operation of counsel on both sides the case is now in a position where it can be quickly brought before the Supreme Court."

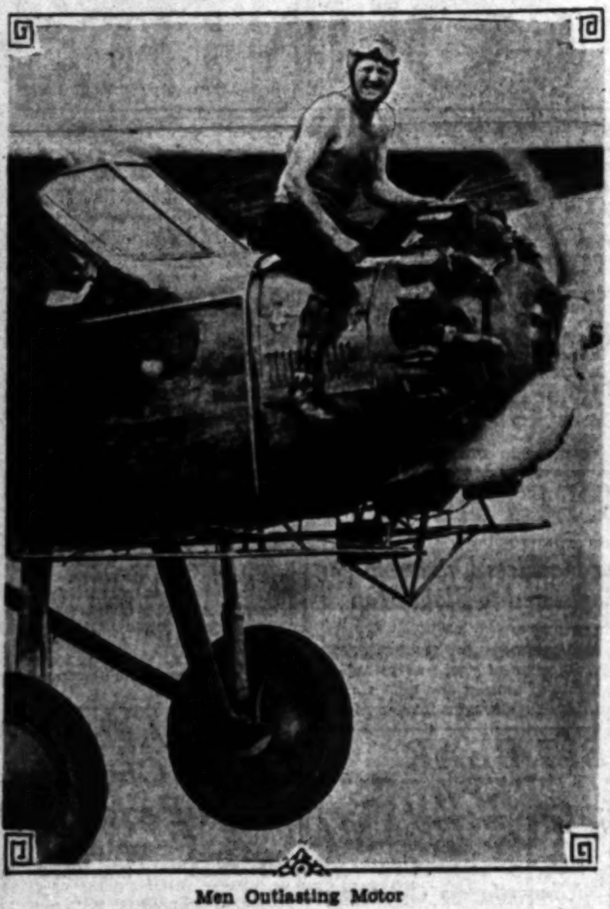
Riding Fleecy Clouds of Success



Men Outlasting Motor

Here is Kenneth Hunter astride the endurance plane, City of Chicago, over Sky Harbor Airport, with John Hunter at the controls.

PLANE'S MOTOR FAILING

Hunter brothers set out to beat three weeks ago.

Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brine, the endurance flyers whose record was exceeded when the Hunter boys passed the 420th hour last Sunday, went up over Sky Harbor Airport this evening in the ex-record-holding plane St. Louis Robin, dropped a wreath of flowers and a note saying: "Congratulations on a wonderful job. We are pulling for you with both hands and feet."

And the Hunter boys answered: "We hope we're down by July 13 to see you take off to beat our record."

Two hours later, at 5:30, Kenneth Hunter, the youngest, performed the most perilous feat of the flight in order to remove paper and string which had been blown back to the tail and caught in the wires where it was feared the controls would be clogged.

DEATH DEFIED

An evening crowd of 5000 spectators saw John steer the orange and blue monoplane directly over the airport, 300 feet up. "Beans," as Kenneth is known to his brothers, climbed head first from the hatch in the top of the cabin, straddled the top of the plane and slid backward ten feet to the tail. Holding on to the end of a rope fastened inside the plane he reached backward with the other hand and was seen to pick away the debris, tossing it out to blow away in the backwash of the propeller.

Twice he made the trip, each time remaining only a minute and then crawling cautiously back to the hatch to tumble in head first. A sudden lurch of the plane would have pitched the flyer to the ground. It was a death-defying feat for he wore no parachute.

As Kenneth pulled his feet into the ship after his last trip the crowd cheered wildly.

RADIO GREETINGS SENT

At noon the flyers broadcast a greeting to radio listeners. A National Air Transport mail plane equipped with radio broadcasting set went aloft, tossed a line to the flyers and hovered above them while first one then the other spoke through the microphone. Their message was relayed by short-wave set to the ground and there transmitted for the National Broadcasting System.

Through the crackle and static and the roar of two motors the listeners caught their words.

WHAT THEY SAID

"Hello, mother, Irene, Walt and Al—and everybody," shouted John. "I've been away from the earth so long now that I don't know whether I'll be able to walk when I get down. Things are going all right and we are going to hang on as long as possible. Here you are Kenneth, take the mike."

"Well, folks, we're still going and hope we won't be down until the Fourth of July. Mother, sister and my brothers deserve just as much credit as we do. Flying was bad this morning because of the rain and clouds. We had to refuel at an altitude that was so low it was dangerous. Generally we go as high as 3000 feet. Be seeing you when we get back to earth."

REFUEL IN CLOUDS

Early this morning the City of Chicago and its Spartan crew nearly met disaster. Clouds hovered over the field, fog blew in from the lake and a drizzle of rain fell just at the hour when the plane was running close to the end of its fuel supply.

There was a hurry-up call to Maj. Luke Christopher of the National Aeronautical Association, asking whether by the rules of the association the plane could fly northward 150 miles where the weather was clear to refuel. But the word came back that if they did their record would not hold. So the refueling Hunter team took off immediately to attempt the dangerous contact at 200 feet.

Low under the clouds the two planes sped across the airport in perfect position. From time to time the planes were nearly lost to view in the haze. But the operation was successful and the endurance plane rose again into the clouds above.

VISITED BY MOTHER

The mother of the Hunter boys, with her daughter, Irene, beside her, went up in a twenty-one-passenger plane tonight and exchanged signals with the two boys. After flying alongside for a time the mother and daughter came down enthusiastic about the trip.

They were accompanied by Dale Jackson, who, with Forrest O'Brine, set the endurance record of 420 hours, plus.

Soon after, the refueling ship, Big Ben, took up the brothers, Walter and Albert Hunter, for the 178th contact. A load of seventy gallons of gas was drained through the contact tubes.

MAY GET CITY GIFT

A gift of $50,000 for the flyers from the city of Chicago loomed as a possibility tonight when Alderman William Feigenbutz said he would introduce a resolution in the City Council to make possible a present of a "substantial check" to the Hunter brothers.

A broadcasting company is to pay them $1 a minute for time on the air, and the usual offers from cigaret, candy and other manufacturers have been streaming in.

POINCARE TAKES RAP AT TARIFF

Canadian Minister Also Assails United States at Paris Meeting

PARIS, July 1. (AP)—The "week of American nations" organized by the Franco-American committee tonight developed an unexpected attack upon the new United States tariff by former President Raymond Poincare.

"These unhappy incidents of recent years," was the way the former President and Premier described the tariff and other economic developments to which he took exception.

"There is a crisis in the friendship of the nations, which if it is not remedied promptly will grow worse. Countries that try to antagonize other peoples will find they are attached to those other peoples by bonds they cannot break."

Philippe Roy, Canadian Minister to France, also spoke, referring to "at least three attempts on the part of the United States to seduce Canada which failed because Canada is bound to remain faithful to Great Britain."

M. Poincare's onslaught upon the tariff policies in the Hawley-Smoot bill took Americans present by surprise and left them rather stunned. But the South Americans seemed to relish the way their northern neighbor was being hauled over the coals.

Zionists Patch Up Differences at Convention

CLEVELAND, July 1. (AP)—American Zionists, divided into factions by a split in their organization in 1921, ended their differences today at the closing session of the thirty-third annual convention of the Zionist Organization of America and elected an administration representing the present and preceding administrations.

An administrative committee of eighteen was named to succeed present directing heads, of whom Louis Lipsky had been president for nine years since retirement of Supreme Court Justice Louis D. Brandeis, upon defeat of his policies.

Supporters of Justice Brandeis and Judge Julian W. Mack, leaders in the previous administration, are in the ascendancy in the new leadership.

Pastor Flees in Murder Puzzle

NEW YORK, July 1. (Exclusive)—Further complications developed today in the Queens 3-X murder puzzle, when Rev. John Van Der Veer Cooper, Jr., disappeared from his home in Brooklyn.

The hangman's noose sent the pastor last week from Philadelphia, with a 3-X note advising him to "do it now." A death threat that followed is regarded as more or less of a hoax by the police, but Deputy Vincent Sweeney of Brooklyn, detectives admitted, does not know Rev. Mr. Cooper's whereabouts.

House Passes Wagner Bills on Unemployment

Public Works Measure Sent to Senate Conferees

Labor Agencies Proposal to Wait December

WASHINGTON, July 1. (AP)—Legislation designed to aid in preventing unemployment neared enactment today with passage by the House of the Wagner bills for advance planning and regulated construction of public works during business depression and for an employment index to show the need for building acceleration.

The public works bill, already passed by the Senate, was amended and returned there for composure of differences. Congressional action was completed on the employment index bill and it was sent to the President.

House leaders have decided to defer action on the third of the measures introduced by Senator Wagner, Democrat, New York, until the December session. This bill would create a nation-wide system of employment exchange agencies under Federal aid.

MAROONED YOUTHS SAVED

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1. (Exclusive)—Drenched to the skin, John and Mike Conway, 17 and 16 years of age, respectively, were rescued by Coast Guardsmen today after they had been marooned for more than five hours on a rock off Baker's Beach.

BRITISH LORDS RAP TREATY

Naval Chiefs Declare England Only Nation to Make Armament Cut Under Pact

LONDON, July 1. (AP)—The navy's viewpoint of Britain's part in the recent naval conference today was communicated by the admiral of the fleet, Earl Beatty, and Lord Jellicoe, war-time sea lord, to the House of Lords in vigorous attacks upon the treaty conclusions.

Earl Beatty, easily England's most prominent naval figure, assailed the treaty, declaring Great Britain the only nation that made any disarmament or reduction and the reduction made was so great as to render her impotent and incapable of maintaining control over various states of her far-flung empire.

INDIAN ISSUE RAISED

The Earl's denunciation contained a reference to use of the fleet for a far eastern contingency. This was taken by observers to indicate the home government had not overlooked the possibility of a necessity for sending warships—possibly a fleet—to India.

Earl Beatty said the London naval treaty had resulted in an increase of armament for other countries, the United States increase being 233,000 tons, Japan's 10 per cent of her strength and France being left without any restriction whatever.

France, the speaker said, already had built three 10,000-ton cruisers, is building three more and has authorized ten others, while Italy had built two, is building four and has authorized another.

Admiral Beatty severely criticised the Admiralty for formulating a naval policy that did not take into consideration the possibility, however remote, of a naval attack on the part of the United States.

CUT IN CRUISERS

"Treaties themselves," he said, "do not always give security and safety. I'm anxious to know the reasons which have induced the Admiralty and the government to cut down the number of cruisers from seventy to fifty."

Earl Beatty said it was a most "inexplicable thing" because seventy cruisers until recently had been declared by the Admiralty to be an irreducible minimum for its needs."

Earl Jellicoe, who commanded the British grand fleet during the war, supported Earl Beatty's warning, with which he said he was in the fullest possible agreement.

Lord Parmoor, replying for the Labor government, contented himself with repeating arguments often previously employed by Prime Minister MacDonald.

HOOVER READY TO CALL SPECIAL SESSION MONDAY

WASHINGTON, July 1. (AP)—President Hoover has decided to call the Senate into special session for consideration of the London naval treaty on next Monday, if Congress adjourns any time this week.

Congressional leaders were making a drive today to assure an adjournment by Thursday night in order to permit a holiday over the Fourth of July.

WOMEN VOTERS LEAD IN REDWOOD CITY

BROTHERLY ACT WORTH $60,000

Kindness on Battlefield of France Pays Dividend

Orange Lawyer Will Share in Frenchman's Estate

He Carried Wounded Poilu to First-Aid Base

ORANGE, July 1.—Although the World War was concluded twelve years ago, recollection of an engagement on the Soissons front July 18, 1918, came back today to P. E. Bingham, local attorney. An act of kindness performed on that day has brought him one-fifth of the $300,000 estate of the father of a poilu whose life he saved.

Bingham often wondered if Perrie Renault, the French soldier, had survived his wounds. In fact, he made several efforts to get in touch with the brave defender of France, but he never dreamed that the young man's father would remember him in his will.

Bingham was a lieutenant of Company L, Third Battalion, Sixteenth Regiment of United States Infantry, which, in an advance upon the Germans, was supported on the left by a French division and on the right by the English. Bingham noticed a young Frenchman who had been wounded and was unable to move. He carried him back to a first-aid dressing station and, after learning his name, left him to the care of base hospital attaches.

The years passed, Bingham returned to the United States and took up the practice of law here. The French lawyers handling the settlement of the elder Renault's estate, have written to him that he is one of five to share the estate.

Teaching Child to Sing or Play to be Fostered

PASADENA, July 1.—Plans to foster the idea that every child should learn how to sing or play some musical instrument despite the present era's increasing dependence upon "canned" music will be discussed at the twentieth annual convention of the California Music Teachers' Association which will open next Monday in the Hotel Huntington. Arrangements are being made to entertain more than 300 delegates from every county in the State.

The convention business sessions will be opened with concerts and vocal selections, and several sessions in the course of the four-day gathering will be devoted entirely to elaborate musical fiestas.

Principal speakers will include C. Arnold Wagner of Los Angeles, George Liebling of New York, Miss Elizabeth Simpson of Alameda, and Abby Whiteside of New York.

Officers of the Los Angeles county section of the association are: Max Van Lewen Swarthout, president; Mary Wood-Arfwedson, first vice-president; Miss Helen F. Young, second vice-president; Claude Purves Smith, third vice-president; Mrs. Gladys T. Littell, recording secretary; Miss Ella MacGlashan, corresponding secretary, and A. D. Hunter, treasurer.

Desert Yields Up Skeleton of Aged Victim

EL CENTRO, July 1.—Deputy Coroner Charles C. Cockley returned from the desert, five miles south of Plaster City, today, bringing a human skeleton which was discovered by a boy rabbit hunter Sunday. According to Cockley the bones evidently are those of an elderly man who had been dead at least two years. They were partly covered with drift sand. A gray hat and bits of clothing indicated that the man was wearing overalls and work shirt at the time of his death. His height was about five feet nine inches and he had gray hair. There were no indications of violence, and officers who examined the skeleton believe that the man was a victim of heat or lack of water.

Oxnard Rotary Seats Officers

OXNARD, July 1.—Charles Campbell, district manager of the Southern California Edison Company, was installed today as president of the Rotary Club, having been unanimously elected at a recent meeting. In his speech of acceptance, Campbell cited a few of the activities and projects he would like to see the club undertake during the coming year.

Campbell is a director and chairman of the finance committee of the local Chamber of Commerce, a director on the Community Service Board and a director from this city for the County Chamber of Commerce.

Other officers installed were H. G. Paulman, secretary, and Eugene H. Agee, treasurer.

"FISH FIGHT" ON LARGE SCALE

Mackerel Sky Seen in Pasadena as Youths Hurl Catches at Each Other When Their Mothers Refuse to Clean Haul They Brought Home

SOUTH PASADENA, July 1.—This city's "great fish fight" is ended, called off on account of darkness last night and depletion of the flush used as missiles. Casualties include two broken automobile windshields, four broken headlights, and the torn remains of what were once fifty fresh mackerel.

Receiving a report late yesterday that there was a riot in the vicinity of the Marengo school, officers raced to the scene to find two carloads of boys wiping fish scales from their eyes.

One of the combatants explained that they had been fishing at the beach and when their mothers balked at cleaning fifty mackerel, they decided to stage a fish fight in the absence of any ammunition for a snowball encounter.

The police ordered the boys to clean up the broken glass and fish from the street and depart, as no member of either fish army wished to file a complaint against his adversary.

"It was so different that we had a lot of fun, but wait till my dad sees this windshield!" shouted one of the "fishy" marksman as his team left the field.

DAM PLANS EXPEDITED

Pasadena Officials Move to Rush Work on Water Project After Engineers Report Favorably

PASADENA, July 1.—Despite threatened suits of San Gabriel Valley cities and protective organizations, construction of this city's $7,000,000 independent water-storage dam at the Pine Canyon site in San Gabriel Canyon will be rushed to completion as rapidly as possible, it was announced today following a conference between the Board of City Directors and Samuel B. Morris, head of the city water department.

This decision followed the filing of the final report on the dam site by Dr. F. L. Ransome, California Institute of Technology geologist, and Lewis C. Hill, the city's engineering consultant, both of whom reported the ground to be satisfactory for erection of the 295-foot concrete barrier.

City officials admit that they are surprised that threats of Whittier, Long Beach and protective organizations to bring suit to prevent this city from impounding San Gabriel River water have not yet been made good, but assert that the city's legal department is prepared to fight any such suits in the event that they are filed.

This city last year voted $10,000,000 in bonds to construct the dam and a seventeen-mile conduit to this city. Engineer Morris announced today that the water department is progressing rapidly with the main outlet tunnel work, having driven 2200 feet of the tunnel to date.

The city already has expended more than $50,000 in San Gabriel Canyon in test work, which includes sinking of 419 feet of shafts, 1248 feet of drifts and 180 feet of adits.

PROSPERITY REIGNS IN COAST CITY

Santa Barbara in Increase of More Than $7,000,000 in Bank Clearings

SANTA BARBARA, July 1.—Increase of more than $7,000,000 in bank clearings and more than $300,000 in building construction during the fiscal year of 1929-30 over the total of the previous year, was indicated in figures given out yesterday, the last day of the fiscal year, by local banking and building officials.

The great increases in money circulation and in building construction are taken by city officials and those closely in touch with current economic conditions in the city to indicate that the community is witnessing an unprecedented period of growth and activity. Money in circulation totals $106,726,755.

Bank clearings for 1928-29 totaled $99,736,591 and for the past year they were $106,762,755, an increase of $7,026,164.

Expenditures for building construction during the 1928-29 fiscal year were $2,361,291, and for the past year $2,662,550, representing an increase of $301,259.

Building during the past three fiscal years has seen a steady climb, with the exception of 1928-29, when it dropped slightly. The totals for the past four years, including the one just completed, are: 1926-27 $2,300,511; 1927-28, $2,488,247; 1928-29, $2,361,291; 1929-30, $2,662,550.

HUNTINGTON PARK BANK CLEARINGS IN LARGE GAIN

HUNTINGTON PARK, July 1.—Bank clearings of the Huntington Park Clearinghouse Association for the first six months of this year show a gain of $7,701,538.27 over the first six months of last year. The total for the six months period of 1929 was $24,028,835.73, and the first six months of this year shows a total of $31,730,374.

Assessments to Finance Santa Fe Plan Urged

PASADENA, July 1.—The $6,900,000 project of the Santa Fe Railroad for elimination of all local grade crossings and erection of new depots here will never be consummated unless an assessment district is formed to bear a portion of the cost, asserted City Director N. J. Shupe, formerly attorney for eastern railroads, today.

The Santa Fe's proposal which has met with the favor of a majority of the Board of City Directors, proposes that the railroad company should bear $4,200,000, and the city $2,700,000 of the improvements' total costs. Raising of this city's share of the financing was reported to be the major obstacle to starting work, and until Shupe announced himself in favor of providing this money through assessing owners of property along the right of way, it was believed the funds would have to be procured by bond election or from the city's general fund.

In Chicago, according to Shupe, the city paid only a small fraction of the crossing elimination costs while assessment districts bore the large share of the expense.

City Attorney Harold P. Huls asserted that the California Public Utilities Act leaves it to the State Railroad Commission to apportion the cost allocated to a city in grade-crossing eliminations.

Lawn Checkers Novel Outdoor Game in Valley

RESEDA, July 1.—Outdoor checkers is the latest of the several recreational games. William Courtney, secretary-manager of the Reseda Chamber of Commerce, today announces he is installing one of these huge outdoor "checker boards" in concrete in the lawn in front of his new building on Reseda Boulevard, and the playground will be free to all who care to use it during the summer months. The local Chamber of Commerce is housed in the Courtney Building.

The game is to be played just like the regular game of checkers. The pieces will be of light wood and players will push them around with a crook fashioned somewhat like a hockey stick.

Courtney's game will be called "San Fernando Valley checkers," and each of the movable pieces will be named after San Fernando Valley towns or important landmarks in the valley district.

"When new tourists stop and play the game," Courtney said today, "it will make them better acquainted with what is in the valley. When residents of the valley towns fall to squabbling, as they usually do, they can come over to my checker board and fight it out in the sunshine. It will be much more dignified to see them 'crowning' checker-board pieces than for them to attempt to 'crown' each other every time a new civic problem comes up for settlement."

Three Churches Unite Against Marathon Dance

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 1. Three churches, the Methodist, Baptist and Christian, have united forces to oppose the marathon dance being staged here in the Security Building on Ocean Boulevard. The Woman's Christian Temperance Union has aligned itself as being opposed to the dance, and on June 25, last, passed a resolution opposing the endurance dance and the above churches adopted the resolution.

The petition being circulated throughout the city is obtaining many signatures which will be presented to the City Council next Monday evening asking that the dance cease.

The American Legion, Joseph Rodman Post, No. 133, passed a resolution opposing the dance. William F. Curnutt, Commander, and Adjutant R. F. Patrick, stated that the Legion is in no way connected with the marathon dance.

Youth Injured by Boiling Tar

ONTARIO, July 1. — Physicians were striving today to prevent Roy Lowery, 20 years of age, 649 East A street, from becoming permanently disfigured on the face. While working on the roof of a poultry house at Etiwanda the handle on a bucket filled with boiling tar came off, throwing the hot tar in Lowery's face. He was taken to San Antonio Community Hospital, where physicians said there is some chance of not being permanently scarred.

GOVERNMENT FORM DECIDED

Council-Manager Type of Municipal Administration to be Recommended by Ventura Freeholders

VENTURA, July 1.—The council-manager form of city government will be recommended to the voters by the Board of Fifteen Freeholders elected to draft a charter for this city. This was decided unanimously by the Freeholders last night. Under this form of city government, it is understood, the Councilmen, probably seven in number, will be elected by the voters.

First work on drafting the charter which will go before the voters for their approval or disapproval was begun last night as the Freeholders carefully read over charters of various California cities, picking out the desirable parts of each and including them in a temporary skeleton for the proposed local charter.

STUDY OF FRUIT FLY COMPLETED

Dr. H. J. Quayle Back From Intensive Investigation

Conditions in Spain and in South Africa Surveyed

He Says Pest Would Not Be Long in California

RIVERSIDE, July 1.—Dr. H. J. Quayle, entomologist of the University of California Citrus Experiment Station here, arrived here yesterday morning after an absence of more than ten months abroad in which he made an intensive study of the Mediterranean fruit fly under conditions similar to those of California. He comes back with ample information as to the steps that will be necessary to combat the dread pest if it should be introduced into California.

It is his belief that should the fly be reported in California, the system of inspection here is so thorough and the organization to fight pests is so complete, that the battle would be begun at once and would be handled on an intelligent basis. This would make it very difficult for the fly to get established, as it now is in the Mediterranean countries and South Africa.

THREE MONTHS ON YACHT

Dr. Quayle spent three months on the yacht Utowana, owned by Allison V. Armour, who placed it at the disposal of the government for this service. Three months were spent in the northern hemisphere countries during the period that the fly is prevalent there, especially in Spain. Another three months were spent in South Africa during the summer. Thus, this Riversider will have had virtually four summers in succession, without a taste of winter, two in California and two abroad.

Dr. Quayle, who is one of the leading authorities on the Mediterranean fruit fly, comes back to the United States greatly surprised that Congress has allowed the Florida situation to go so long without an appropriation with which to fight the second season of possible infestation. While there have been but two minor infestations found there, he stated, the most rigid inspections should have been under way as early as April and May. Under the present appropriation of $1,700,000, however, inspections have begun under an army of men and time will soon disclose whether there is to be a serious situation this year. Should a real infestation appear, an additional $1,500,000 will be available, he said.

In speaking of his trip, Dr. Quayle said:

SUCCESSFUL FIGHT TOLD

"My studies were confined, for the most part, to countries where the situation virtually is identical with that in California. The behavior of the fly varies under different conditions and we shall now be able to predict how it will behave if it ever gets into California. To achieve this result, I was in Spain during the northern hemisphere summer and in South Africa during the southern hemisphere summer."

He then described the successful fight that is being made in South Africa against the fly, which has existed there for thirty to forty years. While it has not been eradicated, the fruit is marketable and is sold generally on the markets of Europe, particularly in England. In the infested districts, spraying is done every ten days during the ripe-fruit period and great care is taken about picking up ripe fruit.

Record Price on School Bonds Sale Reported

SANTA ANA, July 1.—Said to have established a record price for a school bond issue in California, the $494,000 Santa Ana High School bond issue today was sold by the County Supervisors to the National Bankitaly Company, the Anglo-London Paris Company and Weeden & Co., on a premium bid of $23,715.

Extraordinarily spirited bidding took place between eight powerful financial groups for the bond issue, no bid going lower than $18,000. Local financial authorities assert that the sale sets a new mark for the State.

PASTOR REASSIGNED

TUJUNGA, July 1.—Rev. Willard I. Lowe, who has been pastor of the Tujunga Community Methodist Church for three years, has been reassigned to the Santa Maria Methodist Church, by the church conference of the district, which met recently at Long Beach. It is not yet known who will succeed Lowe. While he was here, he built the new Tujunga church and trebbled the membership of the congregation.

POLICE FORCE IN SHAKE-UP

Complete Reorganization of Department at Monrovia Begins With Suspension of Officer Tooker

MONROVIA, July 1.—Complete reorganization of the Monrovia police department, a movement inaugurated this week with the suspension of Officer Tooker, was announced today by Chief of Police Frank Scott.

"Insubordination and actions unbecoming an officer were the reasons for Tooker's suspension," Chief Scott stated. Tooker has secured a hearing with the City Council on the 3rd inst., at which time he will present his side of the matter.

E. A. Bovee, former Chief of Police, and for two years patrolman, was transferred from his beat to the office where he will assume the duties of desk sergeant in place of R. B. Odwarker, who will assume Bovee's duties as patrolman, and at school crossings.

Jack Martell will be transferred from his position as patrolman to the night-prowl car in place of Officer Lotz, who will take over the beat of Officer Tooker.

Roy E. Creager, recently of the San Fernando police department, will take over Martell's beat, from 9 p.m. to 5 a.m. Motor Officers Phillips and Church are the only officers not affected in the new program, and the former is in Canada at the present time on his vacation.

City Mother Woodland is also away on vacation at Halifax, N. S., and her office is being assumed by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ross Woodland, according to Chief Scott.

DEER RESCUED FROM DROWNING IN RESERVOIR

DUARTE, July 1.—Aroused by the frantic splashing of water in a large reservoir on the William S. Baird ranch, workmen investigated to find a small deer struggling to gain foothold on the slippery bank.

The Monrovia Police Department was immediately notified and workmen began their battle to remove the deer from the water before it drowned. Officers arrived upon the scene as the men, directed by a neighboring rancher, W. W. Bacon, hauled the deer from the reservoir.

Chief of Police Scott reached a hasty verdict that the trespasser be released into the foothills on probation.

The young deer had wandered down from the foothills and had evidently slipped into the reservoir while drinking.

MURDER SUSPECT HELD

Bay City Youth Arrested for Reckless Driving in Big Bear Valley, Had Car Registered to Slain Man

SAN BERNARDINO, July 1.—Arrested yesterday for reckless driving in Big Bear Valley, Theodore H. Cilley, 20 years of age, was being held today for San Francisco officers on suspicion of murder and auto theft in connection with the slaying of David J. Lindsay during a hold-up in the Bay City on June 7.

Local officers became interested in their prisoner shortly after his arrest when a .45-caliber revolver was found in the machine that he was driving and the registration slip disclosed that the northern hold-up victim was the record owner of the car.

Cilley admitted that he was with Lindsay on the day of the shooting but denied the murder charge. The youth said that he was riding with Lindsay when the latter attacked him and he fled from the car with Lindsay in pursuit. Circling about, Cilley declared, he beat Lindsay back to the machine, got it started and drove away.

Cilley, according to local police, was on parole from the Ione State School, where he was committed on a charge of automobile theft.

WILL BE RETURNED TO FACE MURDER CHARGE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1. (Exclusive)—Solution of the murder of David Lindsay, 37 years of age, who was dumped from an automobile with a bullet through his back at Fleishhacker Pool here June 8, last, is believed by police to be near with the arrest of Theodore H. Cilley in San Bernardino today. Cilley will be brought here to face a murder charge.

Lindsay, son of Carl M. Lindsay, Fresno attorney, said he had been shot by a hold-up man on Skyline Boulevard, but detectives from the homicide squad, after investigation, said they believed he had been shot in some house near the pool and had been thrown out to avoid suspicion.

Man Asserts Innocence of Fruit Stealing

BRYN MAWR, July 1.—Leroy Moralez of San Bernardino, arrested with his car filled with six sacks of grapefruit at the grove of William Pettit near the Crown Jewel Packing House, told officers in Judge A. B. McCrary's court today that he is the victim of circumstances. In the meantime the officers are hunting for a companion named by Moralez, who, he asserts, is entirely responsible for the theft.

Moralez says he rented his car to the man and drove it and that he had no idea the grapefruit was being stolen until W. V. Thompson, watchman of the grove, appeared with a gun. His companion dropped a sack of grapefruit and ran. Thompson took a shot at him with his shotgun and feels sure that he hit him.

Moralez says he did not pick any of the grapefruit or help load any of it in the car, although it was his car. There were twelve empty sacks found in the car.

This case is similar to that of J. Chavez of Highland, who declared similar circumstances when he was caught and the man with him escaped. A jury in Judge Potter's court in Redlands failed to agree. Later Chavez pleaded guilty on condition he would be given a fine and no jail sentence.

Fine Timber in Line of Forest Fire Threatened

REDLANDS, July 1.—Some of the finest timber in the mountain home section of the San Bernardino Mountains is threatened by a fire burning on the ridge between Mountain Home Road and Santa Ana Canyon tonight. Fifty men were sent up from here late this afternoon, making the number of men fighting the fire at the present time 150.

It is not known how the fire started, but it is burning fiercely and if it gets out of control will sweep over some of the finest forest in the mountains.

BIG BEAR PREPARES FOR DRAMA

"Nevertheless Old Glory" Will Have Premiere There on Friday Afternoon

SAN BERNARDINO, July 1.—Accommodations for 30,000 visitors at Big Bear Lake for the three presentations of "Nevertheless Old Glory," community open-air drama scheduled to open Friday afternoon, have been provided by the seventy resorts of Bear Valley, according to advices just received from Phil Whiting, the director.

The Big Bear Chamber of Commerce, the All-Year Club, the Big Bear Supper Club and other civic organizations, are co-operating in the preparations to take care of a record throng.

Final touches are being put on the Moonridge Bowl, an outdoor amphitheater seating 5000, to be dedicated by the opening performance. Branch box offices have been opened in Los Angeles at the Owl Drug Store, Sixth and Broadway, the May Company, the Broadway Department Store and principal music stores, and at offices of the Lloyd Mitchell agency throughout Southern California.

The play, a western melodrama, re-enacts thrilling events of Bear Valley's first July Fourth celebration in 1861. It will be presented by a cast of 125, with dramatic professionals in the leading roles, supported by pioneer miners and Bear Valley residents. Motor Transit stage lines and the Pacific Electric are operating through excursions from principal Southland cities by way of San Bernardino.

Mayor Promises Van Nuys Funds for City Hall

VAN NUYS, July 1.—Mayor Porter of Los Angeles today formally notified residents that the new $275,000 branch city hall for San Fernando Valley, to be erected here, will be built as soon as there is sufficient surplus in the city's general funds to justify the appropriation. "At present," the Mayor said, "the budget situation makes an immediate appropriation inadvisable, but I believe this condition will be improved within the next few months."

The large site for the hall on Sylvan street and Sylmar avenue already has been bought by residents through a bond issue of $40,000 passed a year ago. Work on the hall has been held up since, because the $275,000 appropriation, promised at the time, has not been made.

"Murderer" Kicked Out of Orange Jail

SANTA ANA, July 1.—The dispute between Walter Perry Ferguson and local authorities as to whether or not he is a murderer was won by the officers today when Sheriff Sam Jernigan evicted Ferguson from his cell in the County Jail.

The authorities were willing to listen a few days ago when Ferguson appeared at Fullerton police headquarters and announced that he had murdered a Mexican near Yuma in 1923. But when Yuma police replied that there had been no such murder Ferguson was viewed more or less skeptically as he continued to protest his guilt.

Finally the Sheriff became downright rude and refused longer to either believe Ferguson or furnish him free board and lodging.

Boulevard Area Votes to Annex

SAN GABRIEL, July 1.—By an almost unanimous vote citizens of the East San Gabriel Boulevard district decided yesterday in favor of annexation to this city. Only twenty-five votes were cast and of these only two were opposed to annexation. There are thirty-seven qualified voters in the area.

The territory to be added to San Gabriel is a narrow strip of about forty acres bordering on the east side of San Gabriel Boulevard from the Southern Pacific tracks to a point 600 feet north of Hermosa Drive. A large portion of the local commercial district is included.

At the next meeting of the City Council Monday night an ordinance will be read confirming the annexation.

SON FINDS MOTHER IN TUB DEAD

Mrs. A. Maddell of South Gate Believed to Have Fainted While in Bath

SOUTH GATE, July 1.—When M. E. Kruger of Pasadena called last night to see his mother, Mrs. A. Maddell, 72 years of age, at her home on Santa Ana street, here, he discovered her dead in a filled bath tub, evidently having drowned six or eight hours before.

Mrs. Maddell was afflicted with rheumatism and had been taking daily hot baths as part of a course of treatment. It is believed she was attempting to lower herself in the tub and fainted. A neighbor reported calling at the residence about 1 p.m., but received no response to her knocks.

Koiner Again to Head Chamber at Beach City

REDONDO BEACH, July 1.—C. W. Koiner, district manager of the Southern California Edison Company, was unanimously re-elected president of the Chamber of Commerce here today.

Peace Officers of County at Alhambra Meet

ALHAMBRA, July 1.—The Los Angeles County Peace Officers' Association met at the Elks' Club here today with more than 100 representatives of law enforcement in the county in attendance. Sheriff Traeger, president of the association, delivered an address and Chris Campbell, president of the Alhambra City Commission, welcomed the visitors to the city.

At the luncheon, Police Judge H. S. Farrell of this city presided. A talk was given by Justice of the Peace William M. Northrup and several entertainment numbers were presented. The afternoon session was devoted to a motion picture showing gas and tear bomb demonstrations.

Among those present at the session were Police Chief Steckel and Police Commissioners C. E. Coe and Willard G. Thorpe of Los Angeles, Police Chief Yancey of Long Beach, and E. J. Wright of the bureau of identification of the Sheriff's office.

Walnut Pest at Chino to Meet Hot Reception

CHINO, July 1. — If the walnut husk fly makes his appearance in Chino Valley groves this summer he will be greeted with a barrage of spraying that is expected to kill the pest before any damage can be done to the walnut crops.

The growers have already armed themselves with a battery of spray guns and spray material. Arsenate of lead spray is used on the trees suspected of harboring the pest. The proper mixture is provided through the Chino Walnut Growers' Association.

C. C. Delphey, horticultural inspector for Chino district, said the fly is now in the pupae stage in the ground and about the middle of the month will emerge. Living for about ten days as an adult, the fly begins to lay eggs in the husk of the walnut. This causes heavy loss by nuts dropping to the ground.

Last year the pest made its appearance about July 20. Spraying will start just as soon as the growers think there are flies in the formative stage.

REDLANDS, July 1.—Justice courts in San Bernardino been thrown into a muddle by the decision of the Supreme Court, misdemeanor cases must be tried in the township in which the

The decision means that in the future officers must take all their cases into the court of the township where the crime was committed instead of taking them before some justice where they think the chances of getting a conviction are better.

It has been the practice of the dry squad particularly to avoid taking cases into the courts where justices have shown they are not sympathetic toward the Wright law. Dist.-Atty. George Johnson has announced he will abide by the deci

Manila Delegate Pleads for Islands Freedom

COLUMBUS (O.) July 1. (AP)—A suggestion the United States set aside the $143,000,000 it will receive from Germany for the Rhineland occupation to promote international education and fellowship was made today at the sixty-eighth annual convention of the National Education Association.

The request came from Augustus O. Thomas of Augusta, Me., president of the World Federation of Education Associations.

"A world civilization is being built up with startling rapidity," he said. "Our country could well afford, on the precedence of the Boxer indemnity, to set aside the $143,000,000 coming from Germany as a payment of expenses incident to the occupation of the Rhineland, the income to be used for educational research, fellowship, exchange of students and teachers. It should be applied to all countries.

"This, done for the development of the spiritual values of a worldwide civilization, would prove a controlling influence in the world's progress and for international good will."

Tied up with the discussion of international education was the statement by Camilo Osias, president of the National University of Manila, the Philippines must have complete independence soon both for the political and intellectual well-being of the islands.

ADVERTISING

IN THE YEAR 1921 the post-war business depression reached its lowest level. A number of advertisers, realizing the opportunity for larger markets, more good will and greater profits, increased their advertising expenditures. This same thing happened in 1929 and is happening now.

A careful analysis of the profitable results of these companies as compared with the companies who decreased their expenditures discloses the following facts.

There were 184 national advertisers who expended $150,000 or more, in leading magazines during 1920 or 1921. Of these 184 advertisers, 59, or 32.1%, increased their advertising expenditures in 1921 as compared with 1920.

The remaining 125 decreased their advertising expenditures in 1921 as compared with 1920.

Of the 59 advertisers who increased their advertising expenditures, 30 published profit and loss figures for the years 1919 to 1924 inclusive. Only these 30 advertisers are included in the analysis.

Of the 125 advertisers who decreased their 1921 advertising expenditures, 46 published profit and loss figures from 1919 to 1924 inclusive. Only these 46 are included in the analysis.

The profits for each group, that is, those who decreased their advertising and those who increased their advertising, were averaged for the six years 1919 to 1924 inclusive.

*1919 PROFITS WERE TAKEN AS A STANDARD AND PROFITS FOR OTHER YEARS WERE FIGURED ON THOSE OF 1919 AS A BASE.

This chart shows the profit performance of the 30 companies who increased their advertising in the year 1921, compared with the profit performance of the 46 companies who decreased their advertising in 1921.

The 30 companies who increased their advertising expenditure in the year 1921 over 1920, and whose profit performances are charted above, represent a large number of diversified industries, including:

Agricultural Implements
Cameras Electrical Electrical Equipment
Foods
Fountain Pens
Furniture
Heating Equipment
House Furnishings & Equipment
Jewelry & Silverware
Lubricants & Fuel Oils
Machinery
Men's Ready-to-Wear
Motion Pictures
Paints & Varnishes
Passenger Cars
Plumbing Fixtures
Soaps & Cleansers
Smoking Materials
Toilet Goods

A considerable number of advertisers have increased their advertising in 1930 over 1929. These advertisers have increased their purchases of advertising space in spite of rather poor business conditions.

We believe the net profits of the firms who increase their advertising expenditures will average considerably higher than the profits of those advertisers who fail to take advantage of the opportunities offered in 1930. And when business returns to normal (as it always does in America) they will reap even greater benefits from their farsightedness.

Highway Officials' Leader Suggests Course

Plan Calls for Action Under Colton-Oddie Bill

Check on Public Domain Routes Advocated

SALT LAKE CITY, July 1. (AP)—Plans for obtaining additional Federal highway appropriations under the recently enacted Colton-Oddie bill for government roads across public domain were presented to the Western Association of State Highway Officials here today by Henry F. Blood, its president and chairman of the Utah State Road Commission.

He called on the State highway departments to prepare information for presentation at Congressional hearings on appropriations under the Colton-Oddie bill, showing the location of main highways through public lands, which he said will entail searching of records in the government land offices.

He said "it probably can be shown the public land States can absorb up to $2,500,000 or even $3,500,000 a year as a continuing authorization until the highways through this class of lands have been constructed," and urged the West provide for representation in Washington when these matters are under consideration.

Other matters to which the attention of the association was directed include traffic safety, uniform vehicle codes and the curtailment of unsightly advertising signs.

Possibilities of hard-surfaced roads as "dividend payers" were called to the attention of the conference by Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the Bureau of Public Roads at Washington. If properly built, he said, such roads not only will support themselves through increased gasoline taxes, motor-vehicle licenses, etc., but will contribute to the support of other roads.

MEMORY BUMPS INTO 1930 WORLD

Everything's Queer to Man Blind Thirty Years

Chicagoan Touches Objects to Verify New Vision

Wife, Others and Own Face Look Odd to Him

(This is the authentic story of the experiences of a man who lost his sight thirty years ago and at 6:10 o'clock in the evening of June 23 regained it again. J. F. Fish is president of Northwestern Business College in Logan Square, Chicago.)

BY J. F. FISH

(Copyright, 1930, by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

CHICAGO, July 1. (Exclusive)—It is like coming into a new world. I have been blind for thirty years and my only conception of the world has been as I saw it in 1900.

Now that I have regained my sight almost miraculously, everything is so changed that I must touch the objects around me to believe my eyes.

I remember that shortly before I was blinded, my wife and I had a tandem bicycle, a bicycle built for two. Now I see young couples in cars rushing by at a terrifying speed. They don't seem to be any happier than we were then.

I had never seen an automobile, a skyscraper or an airplane. My impressions of these modern wonders were rather vague. I believed an automobile to be much smaller than the enormous and awe-inspiring machines that I see now. Street cars look a block long. I had remembered them as the little cable cars and horse cars in use years ago.

SKYSCRAPERS OF THEN

In my mind the Auditorium Building, the old Masonic Temple, and the Marshall Field Building then in course of construction were the biggest and finest buildings in Chicago. The old Masonic Temple was nineteen stories and it was hard to believe that buildings higher than that had been constructed.

When I was last able to see the world women were wearing bustles and wasp waists, men wore mustaches and sideburns. Even, the many new friends and acquaintances I have acquired during the thirty years seemed to me to be dressed in this way.

I have a very sharp visual imagery and, although I could not see these people I imagined how they looked. The streets were populated with the crowds of thirty years ago. Even my students (and we have graduated more than 20,000 from our commercial courses) were the boys and girls of 190).

I was shocked when I first regained my sight and saw the abbreviated styles of women today, and the wide, flat faces of men without mustaches. Now the women's styles are beginning to seem very graceful and charming and I am beginning to like clean-shaven men.

The picture of my wife that I have always carried in my mind is that of a girl in her late twenties, a girl with dark eyes, hazel hair, smooth face and no trace of age.

SHE'S NEW WOMAN

Now that God has given me back my sight I have found a new and very kindly woman, one I can recognize best by pressing back her cheeks until she seems the same slender girl she was before I was blinded. Her hair is gray now and she has changed in keeping with her age.

But through all of this period of darkness she has been my adviser and co-worker. Although the work has been a terrific strain upon her nerves and physical strength, she has never complained and I do not see now how I could have carried on without her.

My sense of color, form, and direction never left me. Although flowers now seem brighter than I had remembered them, my training as an artist in early years helped to keep my sense of color clear. As far as sense of direction was concerned, although I always had a companion to lead me through the streets I guided the companion knowing the town more thoroughly in my darkness than he in the light.

Sitting in my big chair the other evening I suddenly seemed to see a curtain raise. Not wishing to frighten my wife, who was reading to me, I said very quietly, "Something has happened, I believe I can see."

WHO'S THAT WOMAN?

Then I was sure that I saw the davenport with a blue pillow and a gold one. And then I saw a strange, kindly faced woman whom I did not know.

"What is it?" said the woman, and then I knew that it was my wife. She started to cry and I said, "Don't cry. Laugh, be happy."

She almost fell, and I caught her and helped her back to her chair.

Now, after a week of sight the world is beginning to take on proportion again. I am very happy but I can scarcely sleep nights for thinking about it. I am seeing all the friends and students I have never seen before. None of them appears as I had imagined. Often I must close my eyes and listen to their voices to recognize them.

My own face seemed very strange. I thought that I looked much younger and when I looked into the mirror while I was shaving I said, "Who is this fellow I'm shaving?" It gave me a start. I still shut my eyes when I am climbing up the stairs, shave by touch, shut my eyes to regain my balance, shut them to recognize voices, keep them closed as I typewrite or talk. I fully believe that the world carries on 80 per cent of its work through other senses than sight, and I have been able to carry on all my work without it.

BLOOD FLOWS IN RHINELAND

Embittered Germans Attack Separatist Friends

Three Badly Hurt and Home Burned During Rioting

Police Unable to Put Down General Disorders

KAISERSLAUTERN (Germany) July 1. (AP)—What little life remained in the Separatist movement in the Rhineland today was jeered, thumped and burned out by German citizens of several towns.

The worst disorders, caused by evening up old scores with adherents of the Rhenish republic, occurred here where three persons were injured seriously and the home of one burned.

At Breslau and Mayence liberation ceremonies wound up early today with reprisals against Separatists. Both there and here violent scenes occurred. The police in Kaiserslautern for more than an hour were unable to cope with the disorderly elements.

One shop was stoned and the shop and home of another victim suffered considerably.

Celebration of evacuation day continued throughout the Rhineland and from many parts of Germany came press dispatches of celebrations by children and adults.

The Separatist movement is the outgrowth of occupation. It was the occasion of numerous risings on the part of citizens who favored separation of the Rhineland from Germany.

The movement went so far, fostered by French military authorities on the left bank of the Rhine, as to take the form of an organization of a new Rhineland state, to be a Rhenish republic.

It failed from the start.

STEEL MEN ON STRIKE IN KANSAS CITY

Iron Workers' Agreement Ignored by Unionists in Demand for Wage Rise

KANSAS CITY, July 1. (AP)—Members of the local iron workers' union, demanding $12 a day instead of $10.50, went on strike today.

Work was halted on the first million-dollar unit of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company's long-distance exchange building.

The Builders' Association, comprising local contractors, sought an injunction in Circuit Court to prevent the iron workers from striking and from attempting to obtain an increase of the wage scale.

Under a contract to run two years, signed March 11 by building trades representatives and contractors, the iron workers would receive $10.50 a day and an increase to $11 a day January 1, 1931. The contract also provided for inauguration of the five-day week, beginning this week. The iron workers contend their occupation is hazardous and their demand for $12 a day is less than their fellow-workers receive in other cities.

SPAIN WILL ADOPT GOLD STANDARD

Premier Opens Campaign to Stabilize Finances as Peseta Keeps Slipping

MADRID, July 1. (AP)—Launching an intensive financial campaign to stabilize the slipping peseta, the Cabinet of Premier Berenguer tonight decided Spain will return to the gold standard.

Stabilization will be achieved in three stages. The first, begun tonight, concerns unification of the budget and the balancing of revenue and expenditures on a difinite basis.

The second stage will provide for transitional measures, and the third and last will bring back the gold standard.

The government is considered in some quarters to be marking time by postponing the adoption of the gold standard, with the purpose of obtaining a rate for the peseta as high as possible. It may wait until the Cortes, or Parliament, is convened after elections some time in November or December.

BORDER PATROL PLAN APPROVED

House Passes Measure Asked by President

Bill Consolidates Agencies Regulating Entry

Senate Action Doubtful at Present Session

WASHINGTON, July 1. (AP)—Over-riding stubborn opposition from Great Lakes States' Representatives, the House today approved another law-enforcement proposal of President Hoover in passing a bill creating a unified border patrol. The vote was 181 to 56.

The measure now goes to the Senate, where it is doubtful if favorable action can be obtained at this session.

It is designed to prevent smuggling of aliens, liquor and merchandise by making entry illegal except at points to be designated by the President.

Patrols of the Immigration and Customs Service will be consolidated and placed under an assistant Secretary of the Treasury in charge of Coast Guard affairs. The new patrol will be on civil service status.

Before passage it was amended to give small pleasure craft and boats plying on the Great Lakes, which do not under existing law have to report to customs officers the same privileges they now have.

Under another amendment the civil service status of the 1500 men in the existing patrols would not be lost in the new organization, which is to be increased to 2500.

It was the fourth of the major proposals of the Hoover law-enforcement commission recommended to Congress by the Chief Executive.

NEW YORK'S NEW DRY CHIEF TAKES HELM

NEW YORK, July 1. (AP)—In the opinion of Andrew McCampbell, newly appointed prohibition administrator for the State of New York, this city can be made "as dry as any other city in the country."

He said for complete success he will need the full co-operation of local officials and police and that he intends to invite that co-operation. Heretofore the local police have confined their prohibition activities to raids on speakeasies and night clubs of the type they described as "crime-breeding."

McCampbell cited two sections of the internal revenue laws which he said will be used as aids in enforcement. One of these provides that any "seller" of alcoholic beverages operating without a permit is subject to a "tax" of $25 a year without a court trial. He said additional penalties provided under the prohibition law can make this tax as much as $2000.

Another section of the internal revenue laws he plans to invoke provides that property in which a still has been found operating can be seized and forfeited provided the government can show that the owner of the premises knew of the still's existence.

New Clearinghouse Gauge in Operation

Half-Year Drop Ratio Less Than Clearings

Greater Discrepancy Shown in June Figures

Bank debits in Los Angeles for the first half of the current year and for June compared with similar periods last year showed a less proportionate decline than was indicated by the clearings totals, according to figures issued yesterday by the Los Angeles Clearinghouse Association.

The association discontinued the practice of reporting clearings with last Monday's statement on the ground that the debit figures are a more accurate barometer of business activity.

Bank debits for the half year aggregated $6,341,184,030, against $7,370,140,679 last year, a decrease of $1,028,956,648, or 14 per cent. The clearings, published yesterday, showed a decrease of 17.2 per cent to a total of $4,740,677,178. Bank debits for the first half of 1928 amounted to $6,618,070,673.

June totals of bank debits recorded an even sharper discrepancy in the proportionate decline with clearings, compared with June, 1929. Debits totaled $1,010,379,904, against $1,107,530,334 in June, 1929, a decline of $97,150,430, or 8.8 per cent, while clearings decreased 17 per cent to a total of $773,986,108 for the month.

Sales of Mail Order Company Gain in Month

CHICAGO, July 1.—June sales of Montgomery Ward & Co., Inc., totaled $23,989,300 against $21,983,639 in June, 1929, a gain of 9.37 per cent, and for the six months aggregated $130,185,108 against $122,707,540 last year, an increase of 6.01 per cent, it was announced today.

The increase in May was 26.01 per cent and in April 10.31 per cent. March sales were off 8.77 per cent, February, 1.34 per cent and January sales up 1.12 per cent. June sales did not continue the increase shown in May for the reason that the company did not put on any sales campaigns of the magnitude of the sale conducted in one week in May and June had only four Saturdays this year against five last year.

Sales figures this year have been aided by the considerably larger number of retail units operated. The physical volume of goods sold has been larger than the dollar volume owning to lower prices quoted on goods sold this year. The retail division of the company now accounts for about half of the company's total sales volume.

MACHRIS DISCUSSES TRENDS

Leader of Independents Declares Crude Oil and Gasoline Prices Out of Line; Refiners Take Losses

BY EARLE E. CROWE

George L. Machris, president of the Wilshire Oil Company, and militant spokesman for the independent refiners and producers, declared yesterday that both the crude oil and gasoline price structures are resting on a shaky and uneconomic foundation.

If gasoline prices continue at the present low levels, which are wholly unjustified in his opinion, then the heart must be cut out of crude oil prices, contended Mr. Machris in a discussion of price trends. No company, small or large, he asserted, can make money on gasoline at low prices and crude oil at high prices.

CRUDE TOO HIGH

"Either crude oil must be slashed to approximately 60 cents a barrel at Santa Fe Springs," said the leader of the independents, "or gasoline must be raised to 21½ cents retail. Crude oil today is about $1 a barrel too high, compared with gasoline at 12½ cents retail."

Based on the cost of gasoline manufactured from Santa Fe crude at posted prices, the refiners in Southern California, according to Mr. Machris, are taking a loss of from 3 to 4 cents on every gallon of gasoline sold. The prevailing wholesale price today, he said, is 10½ cents a gallon, including tax, which means the refiner is selling his product at 7½ cents.

It is far better for the State and the community, from his point of view, to restore gasoline prices rather than cut crude oil. If crude oil prices are cut to conform to low gasoline prices, more than 250,000 people in the State would be directly affected, he declared. In this group would be royalty owners, laborers, manufacturers, etc.

Gasoline prices below the cost of production affect, on the other hand, only twenty-five or thirty oil companies. The whole trouble, he said, is due to jealousy among these companies and competition for more gallonage. He denied that independents are to blame for the price war. One of the major companies which has lost considerable business in the last year is charged by the Wilshire president with the responsibility for the price-cutting.

SIZE INCREASED

As the largest of the so-called independents, the Wilshire has figured prominently in the periodic price wars in Southern California and in the frequent endeavors to curtail crude oil production. Despite these controversies, the Wilshire Oil Company is about the seventh largest marketer of gasoline in the State, and with its subsidiaries and affiliates produces about 15,000 barrels of oil daily.

The three Machris brothers started in the oil business here seventeen years ago with $10,000 capital. George L., Alfred P. and the widow of Victor A., who died last year, now own the Wilshire Oil Company, engaged in producing, refining and marketing; the Wilshire Annex Oil Company, a producing unit, and control the Bandini Petroleum, Ambassador Petroleum, Commodore Petroleum and Reliance oil companies.

Bids have been reported for the Wilshire group as high as $20,000,000, but the Machris brothers have declined to sell. Mr. Machris described recent rumors of this nature as "all talk," and added that "I think you will find us still in business."

OLD TRADER REMINISCENT

Says Present State of Mind Without Counterpart in Long List of Depression Periods

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

NEW YORK, July 1.—Walter W. Price, wise and experienced, senior partner of Livingston & Co. of New York, has never seen a state of mind as "hysterical and apprehensive as that which exists at the present time."

Reminiscencing the other day, this Wall-street leader said he had gone through the dull periods of 1893 to 1898, and the panics of 1901, 1907, 1909, 1914, 1920 and the crash of 1929.

"I saw Union Pacific in 1897 worth nothing, and assessed for $15 a share," said Mr. Price. "I saw Atchison Railroad sold under foreclosure in 1895. I witnessed the supply of gold in the United States Treasury sink below $50,000,000, and through the direction of Grover Cleveland with the aid of J. P. Morgan, replenished by the purchase of gold in Europe to the extent of $100,000,000, paid for in 4 per cent United States bonds at par without commission.

"And yet through all these times, I never witnessed a state of mind as absurdly exaggerated as that which exists at the present moment."

F. J. Lisman, the New York banker, doesn't think much of the term "easy money." It's a wrong use of words, because "easy money" is the hardest to get. It should be called "low interest money."

Two years ago, anyone desirous of erecting a new building in the business section of any large community, as for example, the Grand Central zone of New York, could have obtained a loan of 70 per cent of the cost of the property, plus the expected cost of the building, with practically no further explanation or security beyond the surety bond, guaranteeing completion.

But today let the same borrower try to secure a similar loan! He may secure one, if he can show a contract from a big responsible tenant for a large amount of the space, or if assured that the owners are prepared to pay taxes, interest and other charges during the early period, without relying on the building's income.

Says Mr. Lisman: "Outstanding loans or bonds, generally looked upon until lately as quite safe, are now treated with more or less exaggerated skepticism. It's the old story of the doughnut—'last year the lender saw only the dough; now he sees only the hole.'"

In a word, there's plenty of money available at record low rates for a quick turn, amply secured, like brokers' loans, at rates from 1½ to 3 per cent. But there is not yet available any great amount of money for capital investment, like building construction, etc., at reasonable rates. It's coming, for money cannot lie idle in the banks indefinitely. But that time has not yet arrived.

Speaking of mortgage money, the National Association of Real Estate Boards, in a survey based on reports from 428 local real estate boards, representing the principal cities of the United States and Canada, reports an improvement in the supply of capital available for real estate loans.

Thirty per cent of the cities represent a "norm" between supply and demand of credit. In real estate mortgage loans and capital, 48 per cent report that desirable loans are seeking capital and 22 per cent report that mortgage money is seeking loans.

Six months ago, real estate loans were seeking capital in 53 per cent of the cities; 19 per cent reported a surplus of capital seeking investment and 28 per cent reported a "norm" between supply and demand.

"It is mortgage money, quickly available and in abundance, that is of the greatest help to the building industry," one construction builder said to me. "This problem is fast clearing up and we look to see a good business in the fall."

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, July 1. (AP)—An extensive list of rails and United States government issues profited most from the greater activity and improved tone of the bond market today.

Some of the support came from a reinvestment demand. The last hour saw turnovers stepped up sharply and closing prices of rails were the best in several days.

Gains from ¼ to ⅝ of a point were made by many issues in the carrier group. Convertible and warrant issues were more staple, showing a rising tendency throughout the day which some failed to hold. Secondary and speculative domestic issues still suffered from the irregularity which has marked their course for some time. Foreign bonds were firm although activity was confined to a few issues.

Prominent in the advance were Erie 5s, Missouri Pacific 5s, New York Central 3½s, Pennsylvania 4½s, Boston and Maine 5s, Baltimore & Ohio Gold 4s, Canadian National 5s, St. Paul 5s. Among less active issues several large gains on large accumulations resulted. Lake Shore and Michigan Southern 5s rose ⅝ of a point. Louisville and Arkansas 5s gained more than a point and Southern Pacific Oregon 4½s a half.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in order given. To expedite transmission, the close is omitted when the same as the low, and both low and close when same as high.

SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1. (AP)—The stock market did an "about-face" here today. Opening strong, prices worked slowly higher, then turned reactionary when raiders appeared in Wall street. Recent buyers threw their stocks back onto the market when they saw indications of renewed professional bearish pressure. Sales of 31,630 shares brought $1,233,405.

The brisk trading for a time after the change in price trend was sufficient to increase the day's volume somewhat over yesterday's. After the first retreat trading slackened. Buyers watched for lower investment openings and sellers preferred to await the Wall-street opening tomorrow to see whether reports of revived bullish sentiment would influence the market.

There was renewed demand for some industrials, resulting in some gains in the group. Schlesinger preferred responded to reports of increased department store sales, rising 3 points. Leslie Salt was up 1¼ and Hawaiian Pineapple 1. Spring Valley was down 1 to a new low.

Investment issues moved along contrary lines. North American preferred 5½s gaining a point, while the common lost 2, recording a new low at 92, and the 6s 1. Transamerica closed down a fraction after making a mild recovery. Its turnover was about one-sixth of the whole market.

A number of the utility preferred stocks showed some investment demand, rising fractionally. Pacific Telephone common advanced on a few sales to net 3 points. Most of the oil stocks slumped fractionally under professional selling. An exception was Union Associates, which moved up more than a point. Belief renewed merger negotiations might be successful had some influence, though advices were vague.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Stock Market Reacts After Early Advance to Close With Irregular Gains and Losses

Anticipation of a material rally to further the recent recovery from last week's depression was dampened on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday when, after a strong opening and early advance, the tide turned abruptly about to once more head the market in a downward direction. Sentiment closely paralleled the action of the New York market which reacted at a late hour from a rallying movement initiated last Saturday.

The extent of the decline, however, was checked and ably resisted. The majority of traders are also believed to be withholding operations until after the three-day closing interval at the end of this week. The result was a mixed array of small fractional changes at the close with only two issues recording a difference of one point.

Standard Oil of California featured the activity with the oils as a group attracting the greatest interest with a particularly strong opening. The Standard company hit a high at 60 1-4 and ended unchanged for the day at 59 7-8. Union Oil hit 41 and reacted to 40, down 1-4 net, while Union Associates reached 39 7-8 and closed at 1-4, up 1-4 net. Rio Grande reached 18 and ended at 17½, up 1-8, and Richfield held a gain of ⅛ to finish at 16. Pacific Western gained 1-4 to 14½, and Shell 3-8 to 18 7-8.

Transamerica continued an active issue, closing off 3-8 net to 30 1-4, after hitting 31. Security-First National ended unchanged at 103, having touched 103½ earlier. LOS ANGELES CURB Operations on the Los Angeles Curb Exchange yesterday were unusually quiet with the volume of transactions sharply lower than on the preceding day. A highlight of the market was a landslide of 32 points for Bank of America N. A. The stock has not been traded here for sometime and the transfer of 200 shares at 103 resulted in the recording of the extensive drop which was computed on the basis of the last previous sale.

Other stocks in the major group fluctuated irregularly on the light transactions. Fokker dropped a full point to 18 3-4 and Security Company units a similar amount to 52. Pacific Indemnity advanced 3-4 to 36 and a small improvement was recorded for Intercoast, Consolidated Steel and Cities Service.

Bandini, which has featured operations over the past two sessions, reacted 55 cents net to 4.45, having dropped 80 cents from its 1930 top price of 5.25 reached earlier in the day. Tom Reed turned suddenly active and advanced 11 cents to 76 cents.

Sales totaled 43,069 shares valued at $96,773; previous day, 49,204 shares valued at $124,049.

Completed! The New International Tunnel
for America's Fourth City

The main bore of the new Detroit-Canada vehicular tunnel, which will connect the heart of the business center of Detroit... America's fourth city... with Windsor, Ontario, has just been completed, according to a recent announcement.

Completion of this important quasi-utility project puts an end to construction problems, and indicates substantial earnings in the near future, a fact which has been reflected in the appreciation of the company's common stock, dealt in in New York. We recommend

Detroit & Canada Tunnel Company
6½% Convertible Sinking Fund Debentures
Priced to yield about 6.70%

This company holds a long term public utility franchise to serve this territory, which has a population of approximately 2,000,000, and is one of the most rapidly growing sections in America. Debentures are convertible into common stock on an attractive basis, thus permitting holders to share in the future profits of this great project.

THE underlying strength of America is very great and her industries are bound to go forward. The present recession in stocks will not last; Stock Exchange values should not depend upon an immediate outlook, but on a long-distance outlook, and the long-distance outlook seems certainly to be as good as ever.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, July 1. (AP)—The more active curb market shares turned downward during the latter part of today's session, in sympathy with the new bear drive on the big board. The curb worked moderately higher during the morning, and the less active issues retained their gains, so that plus and minus signs were evenly distributed at the close.

Activity was concentrated in a handful of the electric power and natural gas issues. Electric Bond and Share was heavily traded, accounting for about 10 per cent of the day's turnover of 564,400 shares. This stock rose 2 points during the morning, but closed at 77, off more than 3 points. United Gas new rose 1½ points, then slipped back and closed unchanged.

American Superpower also was an active feature selling up a point then losing its gain. American and Foreign Power warrants, American Gas and Electric, and Electric Power and Light warrants lost about 2 to 4 points. Midland Natural Gas mounted more than 3 points in a few sales.

Oils were strong early in the day, although preliminary estimates of last week's crude production indicated another upturn. The Texas pipe line law which went into effect recently is expected to help matters in that State, and the situation is said to be well under control in California and Oklahoma. Gulf Oil rose more than 4 points, then lost its gain. Humble closed up 3. Houston Oil new, primarily a gas issue, lost a fraction in active trading.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low and both low and close when same as the high.

STOCKS FALTER AFTER ADVANCE

cent over the same month last year.

Shortly after noon, however, the market appeared bought out. General Electric and Westinghouse showed signs of heaviness and were soon joined by American Telephone, American Can, North American, Johns-Manville and others. Prices sagged steadily throughout the last hour and final quotations were around the lowest of the day. United States Steel finished at 156 7-8, off 2 3-4.

Banking statistics were favorable. Commercial loans made by reporting Federal Reserve member banks showed a gain for the second consecutive week, bringing the increase for the fortnight to $170,000,000. Such a trend would normally indicate an increased demand for business credit.

Money was firm. The call loan renewal rate was 2 1-2 per cent, but went to 3 as the banks continued to take out funds for temporary requirements incident to the first of the month. Withdrawals were considerably lower than yesterday.

A large recovery in the Spanish peseta featured the irregular foreign exchanges. Sterling cables were a shade higher.

Wheat Futures Up on Dearth of July Deliveries

CHICAGO, July 1. (AP)—Surprising scantiness of wheat delivered on July contracts both in Chicago and Liverpool gave a big jolt to wheat traders today.

Sharply higher prices ensued, although this was the first day of the new crop year and ordinarily the rush of wheat from the harvest fields is apt to make wheat appear overplentiful, rather than the reverse. Indications today, however, were that exporters had turned suddenly to the buying side, and growers were acting on Federal Farm Board suggestions to hold wheat back for higher prices.

Chicago closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, 1¾@2c a bushel higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed ¾@1⅛c advance, oats ⅛c off to ⅜c up and provisions varying from 7c setback to 13c gain.

From the outset, the wheat market showed a notable upward trend, with Liverpool prices much higher than expected, and traders giving particular attention to statements from the Federal Farm Board there is every reason to hope for a better average price.

Meanwhile, dispatches from Liverpool said tenders there to fill July contracts were comparatively meager, and drought was reported from Hungary and from Australia as well. Adding impetus was announcement only 1,152,000 bushels of wheat had been delivered today on Chicago July contracts.

Corn and oats mainly followed the upward turn of the wheat market.

Bay City Mart Issues Survey of Operations

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1. (Exclusive)—The stock exchange yesterday presented a report of its activities for the first six months of the current year, showing the total number of stock and bonds listed, with their market values; new and additional securities admitted since January 1, last; the share turnover and market value of stocks of bond traded; dividends paid and passed, and a description of the action of the market since the first of the year.

On the pertinent question of dividends during a period of business depression the report discloses that 102 of 136 stocks listed have paid regular cash distributions since January 1. Two have issued stock dividends in lieu of cash, one has distributed liquidation dividends and two have paid special dividends, making a total of 107 on which dividends have been paid.

In the six months ended June 30, 1929, the share volume was 8,835,242, with a market value of $448,403,076. However, complete shut-down for inventory purposes was made June 28 and will continue until the 7th inst. Tapering off of production is expected to follow the reopening. Peak of inventories is usually reached around June 1. Expansion of the inventories has cut down cash holdings to around $25,000,000, against the rising $41,000,000 at the opening of the year. Cash resources are expected to steadily increase from now to the end of the year.

This series, written by Fred C. Kelly, a successful author and speculator, shows how others may do as he has—take profits from Wall Street. An unusually clear and penetrating analysis of the psychology of speculation is given in these articles. They present a point of view on stock market movements that has been neglected, for the greater part, both by speculators and financial writers. There are many unexpected conclusions that run counter to popular opinion. You can profit from the definite suggestions and long list of common market blunders pointed out in these articles.

Orange Issues Serum Appeal

SANTA ANA, July 1.—A threatened depletion of the serum supply necessary to combat infantile paralysis today brought a request from Orange county health authorities for volunteer contributions of blood from former infantile paralysis patients. The drain upon the limited supply of such serum, practically all of which is in the Orthopedic Hospital in Los Angeles, has been so heavy, it was said, that there is danger of complete exhaustion unless a source is recruited soon.

Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer, announced that only those persons who have suffered attacks more than three months ago and less than ten years ago could supply blood that would be of use. Any such person was asked to call at the County Health Department in the Hall of Records.

The paralysis situation in the county remained unchanged today, no new cases being reported in the last twenty-four hours.

HARBOR TRAVEL TRADE SOUGHT

Danish East Asiatic Line to Augment Fleet

New Combination Liners Ordered on Ways

Plan Calls for Fortnightly European Service

BY WAYNE B. CAVE

Two motor liners each carrying 125 passengers are reported ordered by the Danish East Asiatic Line for service between the Pacific Coast and United Kingdom and Northern Europe.

The vessels will have a passenger capacity of more than twice that of the most of the modern carriers in this service, excepting only one ship just entering the run, with cabins for ninety.

The order illustrates the growth of direct travel between this coast and Europe. Five years ago most of the ships plying this trade were only slow freighters. Gradually they were supplanted by carriers accommodating a dozen travelers each. Then came fleets hauling forty, then sixty, and now that number is to be doubled. Many shipping men have forecast vessels carrying several hundred passengers will be seen in this run in the immediate years to come.

Both of the East Asiatic liners will have a speed of sixteen knots, and will possess liberal refrigeration space in addition to general cargo holds. In general design they are expected to resemble the line's Amerika, which departed for Copenhagen two days ago with her capacity of fifty-two passengers on the return leg of her maiden voyage. The major difference will be in additional cabins on the boat deck. A sister of the Amerika, the Europe, will make her debut out here next February.

With the augmented fleet, the line's service, which now is maintained on a three weeks' schedule with five ships, will be increased to an arrival and a departure each way fortnightly.

AMERICAN FLAG LINE IDEA POPULAR

Officials of the new Pacific-Atlantic Line, which has announced establishment of American-flag freight service from the Coast to the United Kingdom, were yesterday in receipt of a flood of congratulatory telegrams. Chief among these were two from United States Shipping Board Commissioners S. S. Sandberg, former traffic manager of the local port, and Jefferson Myers. Mr. Sandberg's telegram to the Pacific-Atlantic Line follows:

"The plan to inaugurate a Pacific-European service with five American-flag steamers serving all Pacific Coast ports to London, Liverpool and Manchester, with regular sailings every twenty-six days, until business justifies more frequent sailings will help solve the problem to develop one of the most important services that is needed to insure the various communities situated on the Pacific Coast a regular American service for their commodities to be transported to Europe.

"This service should have the whole-hearted support of American interests and I feel that a service of this character would be one of the greatest benefits in the further development of the American Merchant Marine."

Commissioner Myers, in his wire, stresses the announced plans of the Pacific-Atlantic interests to eventually place a fleet of fast passenger ships in the European-Pacific trade, as follows:

"The ultimate establishment of a passenger line will bring foreign travelers to us with ever-widening trade possibilities. All citizens on the Pacific Coast should aid you with their patronage of this most important American service, which will protect their freight charges and the delivery of their products in developing commerce with foreign markets."

A large group of Southlanders will sail for Buenos Aires and Rio De Janeiro tomorrow aboard the Norwegian motor liner Villanger, of General Steamship Corporation's Westfal-Larsen fleet. Among them will be A. Rivero, South American executive of the Export Petroleum Company, en route to Rio De Janeiro, with Mrs. Rivero; Samuel Brown, foreign representative of Swift & Co., going to Buenos Aires, with Mrs. Brown; Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Room, prominent in Long Beach society, on a South American pleasure tour; Mrs. Hugh Haley of Santa Ana, and Miss Delette Coy of Los Angeles.

The regularly scheduled meeting of the Board of Harbor Commissioners, to have been held at San Pedro this morning, has been postponed on account of absentees among the commissioners. The bids for piling and other construction material for the new Union Oil dock at Berth 149 will be opened at 10:30 a.m., however, by Port Manager Burt Edwards at the port offices.

Workmen from the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Corporation are in the midst of an extensive repair and overhaul program on the big Richfield Oil tanker Agwiworld, while she is tied up at Richfield's Long Beach terminal.

A record crowd of school-teachers sailed for Hawaiian vacations yesterday noon aboard the Lassco cabin liner Calawaii. Of the ship's total passenger list of 191 persons, only thirty-five were men.

Prices Drop as Melon Crops of South Overlap

BRAWLEY, July 1.—Overlapping of the Imperial Valley and Arizona melon harvests is blamed here for a sharp decline which has taken place in the price of cantaloupes during the past week. Imperial Valley's shipments are dropping off rapidly, but not as fast as the Arizona crop is coming on.

Arizona shipments exceeded the Imperial output for the first time this season on June 29, when local consignments of cantaloupes and honeydew melons amounted to 173 cars, and Arizona's output was 231 cars. Yesterday's Imperial shipments were 182 cars and Arizona's 274 cars.

According to United States market reports melons were selling here today at $1.15 to $1.40 a crate f.o.b., which growers say is below the cost of production. Imperial Valley's output for the season has been 13,197 carloads, the largest of any year except 1928 on this date, when 14,484 cars had rolled to market.

Detectives May be Quarantined

GLENDALE, July 1.—Local health authorities have placed Detectives Glenn Merrell and Willis Wright under observation, since they were detailed to accompany a refractory patient to the County Hospital.

Laboratory tests are being conducted to determine whether the patient was suffering from spinal meningitis, as was feared, and if this proves to be true the two officers will be quarantined for two weeks.

Merrell complains that the prospect of two weeks' quarantine may spoil his proposed fishing trip that he planned for his approaching vacation.

Tower, Broadway at Eighth—"Journey's End." A fine interpretation of the season's leading war drama. With Colin Clive.

Charge Against Officer Fails to Save Pair

BAKERSFIELD, July 1.—Morris Brown and Odell Malone were found guilty of burglary after the jury which heard the testimony during their sensational trial had deliberated twenty minutes. Judge R. B. Lambert said he will sentence the pair Thursday morning. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Tom Scott, referring to the defense allegation that the police had set a trap to catch the two defendants, said that the jury was not concerned with the "bait," but with "who took the bait."

Police, through the work of an investigator named C. H. Stone, who is not the former Chief of Police here, learned of the robbery as it was being planned, according to testimony, and posted officers about the Wooten Service Station. When the two defendants had loaded a small truck with the safe from the store, and with tires and other merchandise, the police stationed about the building called upon the pair to stop.

The two defendants, according to police testimony, tried to escape and were wounded in the attempt. Brown, armed with a heavy revolver, fired one shot, but it did not hit anyone. The two defendants were captured by the officers and charged with burglary.

Birthday Plans of Grandmother of Tibbett Made

BAKERSFIELD, July 1.—Feeble, but still dominated by the pioneer spirit which brought her family over the plains in 1853, Mrs. Rebecca Tibbet, 95-year-old grandmother of Lawrence Tibbett, Metropolitan Opera baritone, will celebrate her birthday anniversary here Thursday.

The single surviving member of Bakersfield's original settlers, Mrs. Tibbet possesses a unique heritage of memories. She is not one to dwell in the past, however, but takes keen interest in things of today—talkies, aviation and the radio. She is several laps ahead, in fact, wondering if her illustrious grandson will sing in pictures with another dimension.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Tibbett and their twin sons have been bidden to the informal celebration, which will take place at the home of the honoree's daughter, Mrs. C. P. Larson of 1003 L street. Four generations will be present.

HANFORD, July 1. — Kings County Treasury contains $745,754.12, according to the report of the county auditing committee filed today. The committee is composed of the District Attorney, the County Treasurer and the chairman of the Board of Supervisors. ARVIN, July 1.—Arvin school bonds, for improvements in that district, totaling $19,000, have been sold to the Elmer J. Kennedy Company by the Board of Supervisors. The Kennedy Company secured the bonds for a premium of $5.20 and interest at the rate of 5½ per cent. The bonds are of $1000 denomination. The Delano district will issue $15,000 worth of school bonds soon.

VETERAN MISSIONARY DIES

Mrs. Anne E. Boone, Who Served Nearly Thirty Years in China, Succumbs at San Bernardino

SAN BERNARDINO, July 1.—Mrs. Anne E. Boone, 73 years of age, for nearly thirty years a missionary to China, died today at her home here. She had resided in this city since her retirement in 1910. She was the widow of the late Dr. Henry W. Boone, himself a noted missionary worker.

Mrs. Boone was thought to have been near death last February, and her son, Dr. Wilmot T. Boone, a missionary in China, was cabled regarding his mother's condition. He immediately began what he believed was a race with death to her bedside. His arrival cheered Mrs. Boone so greatly, however, that she gained new strength for her life battle. She recently suffered a relapse, however, and had been sinking slowly since then.

Mrs. Boone was born in Ohio. At the age of 22 years, she first sailed to China as a missionary, sent out by the Women's Union of the Congregational Church. She was under the direction of Henry Ward Beecher. Mrs. Boone was the first teacher of kindergarten work in China. Two of her daughters and one son are now in missionary work in that country. She was a member of St. John's Episcopal Church here. Mrs. Boone leaves two sons, Wilmot T. Boone, a missionary in China, and Henry W. Boone of Los Angeles, three daughters, Frances of this city and Sister Anita of the Order of St. Anne, and Muriel, both of China; and four grandchildren, Ruth of Los Angeles, and Burgess, Edward and Lucy, children of Dr. Boone of China. Burgess and Edward are en route to the United States now. They will arrive in San Francisco in about twelve days, Dr. Boone said today.

RESCUER OF WOMAN IN FIRE KILLED

Hotel Man Sacrifices His Life in Blairsden Business Area Blaze

RENO, July 1. (AP)—One man was burned to death and a woman was seriously injured in a fire that destroyed the Plumas and Blairsden hotels, a store, two residences and a photograph gallery at Blairsden, Plumas county, California, this afternoon.

J. V. (Slim) Lewis, lessee of the Plumas Hotel, lost his life when he rushed into the burning structure in an attempt to save some money and rescue Mrs. Beatrice Parker who had been trapped by the flames.

Lewis pushed Mrs. Parker from a second-story window. He fell back into the building and was burned. The woman, who had been stopping at the hotel, was said to have been engaged to marry Lewis when her interlocutory decree of divorce became final.

Man Accused of Shooting Held Without Bail

DINUBA, July 1.—Lee Asadoorian, who is said to have shot and severely wounded W. W. Wright of Reedley in an altercation at Milepost, near the Tulare-Fresno county line, Sunday, is being held in the County Jail without bail pending outcome of Wright's wounds.

Officers said several liquor charges may be preferred, several barrels of dumped mash having been found on the place, and a quantity of liquor confiscated and taken to Visalia by the officers. Asadoorian was the tenant of the place.

Wright is in a Fresno hospital, one lung being punctured in the scuffle, but is reported in an improved condition.

Fugitive Bandit Suspect Taken

Percy H. Eberlee, 23 years of age of 216 North Vermont avenue, was arrested yesterday on suspicion of being one of the two bandits who, on June 25, last, held up a truck of the Citizens' Truck Company and made off with a $2100 pay roll.

Pierre V. Soleno, 29, of 418 East Twelfth street, was arrested soon after the hold-up when the automobile in which he and his companion were escaping struck a telephone post at First street and Mission Road. The second bandit, said to be Eberlee, escaped with the money.

Bank Robbery Suspect Seized

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1. (AP)—Wanted by Oakland police in connection with the robbery of a branch bank of the American Trust Company of $9000 there last September, John F. Keilly, alias Jack Duane, 32 years of age, ex-convict, was arrested in an apartment-house here today.

Arrested with Keilly were Joseph Allito, 30, and Joseph Spinosa, 35. Both are held for investigation.

Filipino Takes White Girl Mate

SALINAS, July 1. (AP)—County officials today started to investigate the marriage of a 15-year-old white girl, Velma Espinosa, and a 30-year-old Filipino lettuce worker, Rufo Canete.

Investigators reported the two were married in Mexico with the knowledge of the girl's father, Steve Espinosa, Castroville laborer.

REDS AND PERSIANS IN CLASH

Casualties on Both Sides as Soviets Pursue Group of Fugitives Across Line

TEHERAN (Persia) July 1. (Exclusive)—An ugly situation has developed on the Russo-Persian frontier of Azerbaijan Province, where a large soviet force is at present reported to be stationed. A large Persian village was attacked by Red forces who were pursuing a number of Caucasians escaping from Russia into Persia.

Investigation revealed that the refugees were Persian Nationals who had settled in Russia before the advent of Bolshevism. Persian troops were rushed to the spot and put up a fight against the Red forces, resulting in casualties on both sides.

A large Persian force is now being concentrated on the Persian side of Azerbaijan Province, where trouble is expected to flare up. The soviet charge d' affaires today held a long conversation on the situation at the Persian offices.

Rain Drenches Byrd Parade in Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, July 1. (AP)—Lightning, thunder and rain, the fire department, cheering crowds and showers of paper greeted Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd and his exploring companions today in the official greeting extended by the city of Philadelphia.

Admiral Byrd and six companions arrived at City Hall at noon and were greeted by a reception committee headed by Mayor Mackey.

In the midst of a paper shower two awnings on a tall building caught fire and some of the confetti that had lodged on them went up in flames.

After luncheon the explorer and his companions were taken to the starting point of a parade to Independence Hall. As the procession started the thunderstorm rolled up and scattered some of the crowd. Rain came down in torrents as the parade rounded City Hall.

GRADE CROSSINGS' TOLL FALLS SHORT

DENVER, July 1. (Exclusive)—Fatalities due to accidents at highway grade crossings totaled 2485 in 1929, a reduction of 3.2 per cent from the preceding year, according to a report submitted by the committee on prevention of highway grade crossing accidents to the tenth annual convention of the safety section, American Railway Association, convened here today.

FAMED SEA FLYERS MEET

Col. Lindbergh and Kingsford-Smith Brag on and Congratulate Each Other

NEW YORK, July 1. (AP)—On the eve of flying westward with his companions of the ocean-crossing Southern Cross, Squadron Leader Charles Kingsford-Smith had his first meeting with Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Kingsford-Smith was writing at a desk in his hotel suite when he looked up and saw the tall young American standing in the doorway.

"Hello, hello, old fellow," the Australian exclaimed, jumping up and extending his hand.

ALPHONSE AND GASTON

"How do you do?" Lindbergh replied. "I just dropped in to congratulate you on your latest achievement. I consider your flight across the Pacific two years ago is the outstanding flight of aviation history."

"Oh, we rather look on your flight as being that, you know," Kingsford-Smith protested. "You must remember we had three motors and there were four of us, whereas you had but one engine and you flew alone."

After more talk of planes and engines, chiefly of a technical nature, Kingsford-Smith congratulated Lindbergh on the recent birth of a son and Linbdergh felicitated Kingsford-Smith on his engagement.

Kingsford-Smith said unless a strong west wind prevents he will take off from Roosevelt Field at 6 a.m. tomorrow, flying over New York City and Newark, N. J., and from there on an air line to Cleveland, continuing without stop over Toledo, South Bend, Ind., and on to Chicago, the first stop.

TO VISIT LOS ANGELES

Leaving Chicago early Thursday morning the Southern Cross will fly to Salt Lake City, where the second overnight stop will be made. Friday the plane will go to Oakland, Cal., completing at that point for Kingsford-Smith and his plane a round-the-world journey that has taken two years.

The flyers will stay in Oakland only a day or two, going then to Santa Maria to visit Allan Hancock, West Coast millionaire, who offered backing for the Pacific flight. Kingsford-Smith said he wants to give Hancock the first chance to buy the Southern Cross before negotiating further with several institutions from which he has received "nibbles."

From Santa Maria the flyers will go to Los Angeles to return east as far as Kansas City by Western Air Express and from there on by some means of transportation not yet decided on. They will then take steamer for England as soon as possible.

BROKER AND ACTRESS TO WED HERE

Couple Change Plans for Santa Barbara Ceremony as Secret Becomes Known

A perfectly good marriage license will go to waste in Santa Barbara county today, but another one will be asked for in Los Angeles this morning by Alice Day, motion-picture actress, 23 years of age, and Jack B. Cohn, 24, member of a local brokerage concern. Last Saturday Miss Day and Cohn slipped away to Santa Barbara to file their notice of intention.

They were scheduled to call for the license today and to be married Sunday at 2:30 p.m. at the Biltmore in Santa Barbara. Last night, however, Cohn's parents got together with the bride-to-be and their on and persuaded them to change their plans and be married at the Cohn home.

They will appear at the local marriage license bureau to file another notice of intention. The marriage will take place Sunday.

The notice of intention in Santa Barbara was not discovered until yesterday as Miss Day used her off-screen name, Alice Irene Newlin. They wanted to keep the coming nuptials a secret from their friends until after the ceremony, they said.

Recently it was announced that the engagement had been broken by mutual consent.

EXPORTS OF PORTS HERE ON UPGRADE

Value of June Shipments Nearly $700,000 Ahead of Same Month in 1929

Exports from the ports of Southern California showed an increase in June, 1930, in comparison with the same month of 1929, according to a report of Collector of Customs Schwaebe. Exports for June this year were valued at $11,750,000, compared to $11,054,924 for the same month of 1929.

Imports for last June amounted to $4,150,000, with $4,631,777 for the same month in 1929. Shipments to Hawaii showed a slight decrease in value while those to Alaska for the comparative months were about the same. The collections of the various ports were $650,000 for June, this year, against $662,668.40 for June, 1929.

Postmaster O'Brien reported $821,163.65 Los Angeles postoffice receipts for June, 1930, and $809,028.23 in June of 1929.

Gallery Draws 9265 in June

A total of 9265 visitors were received at the Henry E. Huntington Library and Art Gallery at San Marino during June. Among others were more than 1000 librarians from all parts of the United States attending the American Library Association convention in Los Angeles.

SUIT MAY END DOUBTS ON DAM

Legality of Reallocating Bond Issue Debated

Supervisors Want to Be Sure in San Gabriel Case

Balance of $25,000,000 Sum Would Be Diverted Possibility of a friendly suit to obtain a Supreme Court ruling on the legality of reallocating the unused balance of the $25,000,000 bond issue voted to build a high dam in San Gabriel Canyon loomed yesterday when the Board of Supervisors again postponed action on the proposal to use the money for building three smaller structures to replace the abandoned project.

"According to the ruling of our County Counsel, the unused balance of $21,500,000 of the bond issue may be used for the three smaller dams, as suggested by the flood-control district," said Supervisor Graves, chairman of the board. "But in order to be absolutely sure that there will be no varying opinions among those who are to purchase the bonds, before we proceed with the project we want to take more time in order to obtain further opinions.

MORE OPINIONS SOUGHT

"We would like to have opinions from attorneys from the bond houses who will handle the bonds and all concerned. In fact, it would be better to have a friendly suit in the matter to obtain a Supreme Court ruling as to the legality of our act in reallocating the fund."

It is the general opinion of all members of the board and County Counsel Mattoon that every precaution should be used to fix the legal status of the reallocation or diversion of the money before any action is taken. If a friendly suit is brought it will be all of five months before a decision is handed down by the high court.

Members of the legal staff of the County Counsel's office, Roy W. Dowds, counsel, and Vincent Morgan, special counsel for the county flood-control district, are all of the opinion that the money can be diverted so long as the original purpose of controlling and conserving flood waters of the San Gabriel River is carried out.

LANDSLIDE HALTS WORK

They hold that under the law funds raised by a bond issue like the $25,000,000 one voted to control the flood waters of San Gabriel Canyon may be diverted if conditions change after the project has been gotten under way, or if the work has been stopped by law. In the case of the high dam at the Forks in San Gabriel Canyon the project was stopped by order of the State Engineer after a landslide occurred at the site.

Following the abandonment of the work plans and specifications were redrawn by E. C. Eaton, chief engineer of the flood-control district, calling for the building of three dams in the canyon to replace the abandoned project. Engineer Eaton estimates that the three smaller dams can be built at a cost well within the $21,500,000 left from the $25,000,000 issue, the improvement to carry out the original idea of the high dam.

GRAND JURY LOOKING INTO CASH ARGUMENT

The Los Angeles county grand jury yesterday took a hand in a private investigation which has been under way for several weeks to learn what became of $42,500 said to have been paid indirectly out of county funds into the hands of individuals interested in providing a security bond for Fisher, Ross, MacDonald and Kahn, contractors who undertook to build the San Gabriel Dam.

Refund of $150,760 was made to the county on May 24, last, on premium of a $12,000,000 bond purchased originally by the county to insure construction of the now abandoned San Gabriel Dam.

The Supervisors later explained that the amount under investigation by the grand jury went to fees to brokers who placed the $5,400,000 bond to protect the dam contract. Special Flood Control Counsel Morgan backed up the board's settlement with a later opinion that the surety companies could not have been compelled to return any of the premiums.

Yesterday the principal witness was W. A. Tickle, cashier of the Bank of Hollywood. He was called, it was asserted, to trace a check paid by Van R. Kelsey, Los Angeles insurance broker to H. H. Merrick, real estate man. The check, for $35,000, is asserted to have been part of $42,500 paid as commission on insurance.

According to investigators in close touch with the situation, through a

FLOWER STREET FIGHT ENDS

Final Barrier to Improvement Lifted by Decision of Court in Long Legal Contest

Legal proceedings which have delayed improvement of Flower street south of Washington street for years came to an end with a decision just handed down by the Supreme Court in an action brought by William and Kate Brill, owners of property on Flower street. A copy of the decision was received yesterday by Hugh Coultis, deputy clerk, in charge of the Los Angeles office of the tribunal.

The Brills questioned the jurisdiction of the Superior Court in making an order directing a reassessment of the area affected by the street-improvement project. They asserted that under a section of the Street Opening Act of 1903 the court cannot order a reassessment when an error has been made in the first assessment.

Justice Preston, who wrote the opinion, set forth that where due process of law is present when the first assessment is made the reassessment is proper. The court found that an error had been committed in connection with description of the projection of the street south of Exposition Boulevard to Figueroa street, but failed to find ground for a reversal of the Superior Court judgment under the circumstances as set forth in the action.

The Brill case is one of two actions which caused delay of the improvement. The other was brought by the Zobelein Company, owner of a parcel of property affected by the plans. The Supreme Court found for the city in that cause.

In the Zobelein case it was contended that a certain interlocutory judgment of condemnation entered on June 22, 1926, was void upon its face because the sum-

BILLIE DOVE OBTAINS DIVORCE

Beatings by Willat, Director, Related

Billie Dove in Courtroom

BILLIE DOVE, screen actress, yesterday obtained a decree of divorce from her director husband, Irvin Willat, after she had told Superior Judge Archbald of being knocked down on more than one occasion. She also asked for the restoration of her maiden name, Lillian Bohny.

Attired in a snug-fitting black suit and wearing a black straw toque, Miss Dove took the witness stand and told her story in response to questions by Attorney Neil S. McCarthy.

"Mr. Willat has an uncontrollable temper and often flew into a rage, when he would strike me," said Miss Dove, speaking in a low, clear voice. "On one occasion three years ago we were having a party. While I was talking to a group of friends Mr. Willat came up, struck me and knocked me down.

"On another occasion when I was arriving home from a studio before I could reach the door of our house he threw it open, ran out and struck me and knocked me down.

"He tried to run my life. We separated after each of these occasions. Mr. Willat then would say he was sorry because of forgetting himself, and would beg me to return. I did so until the last time, when we separated for good."

That was September 15, 1929.

Miss Dove was asked what effect the blows had.

"They made me very nervous," she testified. "They were painful and left marks on my shoulders and arms. These marks remained visible for some time."

Mrs. Mary Fitzpatrick, a maid in the Willat home at Valley Spring Lake, North Hollywood, corroborated some of the attacks related by Miss Dove.

"Mr. Willat once told me he wouldn't be responsible for what he did, that he was going to 'clean up' on his wife," said Mrs. Fitzpatrick.

Charles Bohny, a brother of Miss Dove, testified that his sister took refuge in his mother's home, displaying bruises on her arms and shoulders, which she said Willat had inflicted. Bohny said Willat later apologized to him for striking Miss Dove, saying he had lost his temper. Bohny said that Willat also apologized in his presence to the actress's mother.

Although no defense was put in, Attorney Sam Wolf was in court for Willat. A property agreement was shown to Judge Archbald but was not made a part of the record.

Big Pines Camp to Have Special Holiday Events

A special program of events for the Fourth of July holiday at Big Pines county recreation camp was announced yesterday by Fred W. Wadsworth, county superintendent of playgrounds and recreation. The day's program will include water sports, dancing, horseback riding, tennis tournaments and hiking.

Saturday a swimming meet will be held at Jackson Lake with diving contests, exhibition and relay races from 10:30 a.m. until noon.

A number of special camp attendants have been engaged to care for children over the week-end and provide programs to suit their needs.

COLLEAGUES AGAIN NAME VAN NORMAN

School Board Members Retain Him as President as Tribute for His Work

J. L. VAN NORMAN

J. L. Van Norman was re-elected president of the Board of Education at the annual meeting of the board, which was called to order at 9 a.m. yesterday. Mr. Van Norman, who will serve until July 1, 1931, has been a member of the board three years, and his re-election was intended as a tribute for the excellence of his work, according to his fellow-members.

President Van Norman indicated he will make no immediate changes in the six committees now serving under the board. Because of the great increase in the population of Los Angeles additional school facilities are needed, but the board decided to postpone consideration of building plans until a future time.

Heads of Large Oil Companies Fight Price Cuts

Executives of several of the major oil companies have joined forces to bring an end to price cutting, according to word received here from San Francisco, where a new reduced retail gasoline price of 15 cents per gallon was posted yesterday, but without a further cut in the wholesale price.

San Francisco tank wagon prices on gasoline continued yesterday at 13 cents a gallon, while retail prices varied between 13 and 15 cents.

Los Angeles retail prices varied from 10 cents a gallon for the product of the smaller independent refineries to 14½ for the well-known brands, with many of the stations selling major brands at 13½ and even 12½ cents.

CAR LINE FOES GET TIME

An extension of time to the 8th inst. was granted the Home Defense League yesterday by the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation, in which to answer the briefs of proponents of the proposed rerouting of "C" cars through the Third-street tunnel to create a new crosstown car service. The Home Defense League is opposing the proposed change.

FIRE HAZARD IN FIREWORKS KEEPS WARDEN ON ALERT

Aside from the ordinary fire hazards to contend with at this time of the year, Spence D. Turner, county fire warden, and his deputies are now waging a campaign against the sale and use of illegal fireworks in unincorporated territory of Los Angeles county to prevent forest fires.

As a result of the officers' activity 1000 pounds of illegal fireworks were taken yesterday from Lew Sang on College avenue, near the County Farm. It was the fifth arrest within the last few days.

Sang's fireworks were confiscated by Fire Prevention Engineer Dunlap, acting on orders of Warden Turner, and destroyed. The owner was fined $25 by Judge Woods at Belvedere Gardens. The maximum fine for the offense is $100.

Under a county ordinance the firing of any fireworks without a written permit, at either a public or private display, in county territory is prohibited.

According to county officers their chief trouble is with persons who purchase illegal fireworks in cities and villages that have no fireworks regulations, then carry them out into county districts to fire off. With all vegetation exceptionally dry at this time of the year one little firecracker, or the spark of a torpedo, roman candle or skyrocket can touch off a forest fire that might cause great damage, officials say.

MANSLAUGHTER VERDICT VOTED

Sanhuber Found Guilty of Killing Oesterreich

Seven Ballots Taken to Reach Agreement

Defense Will Ask Court to Set Aside Decision

A verdict finding the defendant guilty of manslaughter was returned by a jury of six men and six women in Superior Judge Hardy's court last night against Otto Sanhuber, so-called "ghost of the garret," charged with the murder of Fred Oesterreich.

The jury began its deliberations at noon yesterday and returned its verdict at 9 p.m., spending approximately four and one-half hours in actual deliberation.

Sanhuber received the verdict without speaking. He slumped back in his seat, lips quivering, but made no sound.

SEVEN BALLOTS TAKEN

The prosecution had asked the jurors to return a verdict of first-degree murder, which carries life imprisonment or death as a penalty. Mrs. Rita Harlan, forewoman of the jury, said that seven ballots were taken in the jury room before a unanimous verdict was reached, but that at no time did any juror vote for first-degree murder. She declared that at one time two jurors held out for second-degree murder, and at no time did any juror vote not guilty.

The verdict of manslaughter carries a sentence of from one to ten years in San Quentin prison and Judge Hardy set 10 a.m. tomorrow as time for pronouncing judgment. At that time, however, Defense Attorneys Wakeman and Rogers declared last night, they will make a motion that the manslaughter verdict be set aside and Sanhuber given his liberty on the ground that the statute of limitations had run on such an offense in this case. Oesterreich was murdered eight years ago and the law provides that the law of limitations expires on a manslaughter charge in three years. Whether this rule is applicable to a manslaughter charge derived from a murder indictment is a question that will be argued before Judge Hardy tomorrow morning. Wakeman and Rogers contend they have authorities supporting their contention and if the court overrules them they will file notice of appeal.

ADVICE EXPLAINED

After the verdict had been read, Judge Hardy told the defense attorneys from the bench that when, during the trial, he had suggested to them that they seek the advice of the Public Defender in presenting their case that he did not wish it to appear that he intended to treat them harshly.

"You stated that you were civil attorneys and even good civil attorneys are many times at a loss in criminal proceedings, so I believed that you might profit from the advice of the Public Defender," stated Judge Hardy.

LOUD ARGUMENT

The case was given to the jurors at 11:55 a.m., but they did not begin their actual deliberations until 2 p.m., when they had returned from lunch. An hour later loud voices in argument were declared to have been heard emanating from the jury room, located above the courtroom proper.

When the six men and six women left their seats to commence deliberating, Judge Hardy excused from further service James Lowden and Jacob Refoir, who had served as alternate jurors. Both of the alternates refused to comment on what their verdict would have been had they had an opportunity to vote with the other jurors.

Before the jurors were given the case Judge Hardy instructed them at length on the law applicable, taking forty-five minutes to cover what he considered every instruction that the jury should have. These written instructions were later sent to the jury room.

Judge Hardy told the jurors they could bring in a verdict of first-degree murder, second-degree murder, manslaughter or not guilty.

MORALS DENOUNCED

When court convened yesterday morning Dep. Dist.-Atty. Costello finished his closing argument to the jury. He excoriated Sanhuber as a home-wrecker and a person of low moral conduct. He declared that Sanhuber, by his own admissions, classed himself among subnormal criminals like William Edward Hickman, capable of the most vicious crimes. He painted the defendant as a cunning miscreant, cleverly seeking to escape the pen-

TWO MORE NAMES SENT TO COUNCIL

Capt. Hershfield Picked for Humane Commission, H. L. Herbert for Welfare

Two more appointments sent to the City Council yesterday by Mayor Porter make ten names he has submitted during the past week leaving nine more posts to be filled. Terms of seventeen city commission members expired yesterday. The additional vacancies were caused by the death of Mrs. H. C. Terrell of the Humane Commission and the fact that the Mayor is leaving open the post of former Public Works Commissioner Delorey, pending determination of his appeal to the Supreme Court against his ouster.

Of ten names submitted seven reappointments were confirmed at once by the Council. The appointment of H. S. Hargrave on Monday to the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation was referred to committee, as were the two names submitted yesterday.

Yesterday's appointees are Capt. Ben Hershfield of 6636 Hollywood Boulevard to the Humane Commission post and H. L. Herberts of 1702 West Sixty-sixth street to the Social Service Commission.

Posts now unfilled include that of Delorey on the Board of Public Works and those of Dr. John R. Haynes, Water and Power; W. G. Thorpe, Police; W. J. Miller, City Planning; Mrs. Mabel V. Socha, Parks; Arthur L. Line, Humane; Emerson Spear, Harbor; William L. Wenning, Fire, and Ralph E. Homan, Building and Safety, whose terms expired yesterday.

When advised yesterday of a rumor that Dr. Haynes will not be reappointed to the Water and Power Commission, the Mayor refused to give any indication of what his action will be.

LOST PAPERS QUIZ NEAR END

Decision Expected Today in Inquiry as to Why Power Employee Destroyed Water Board Data

Conclusion of the investigation of the Board of Water and Power Commissioners into the disappearance of valuable records from an office in the Water and Power Building during the recent water-bonds campaign is expected today, it was announced yesterday as the commission concluded its second protracted session.

The commissioners continued the policy of barring the press from the hearing and upon taking adjournment until this morning at 9 o'clock merely announced that progress was being made and there was nothing to give out for publication.

Efforts of a clique in the Bureau of Power and Light connected with the disappearance of the records to belittle the value of the missing papers and to minimize the significance of their sudden removal when most needed in the water bonds campaign are not at all in harmony with the time the commission is devoting to the investigation.

"They were worthless papers and I had them removed or destroyed because I needed the room for a sales campaign," was the statement given out by Burdett Moody, business agent of the Bureau of Power and Light, when asked by Times reporters to explain the disappearance of the records some days ago.

But Mr. Moody was closeted with the commission for more than an hour yesterday explaining his act. It was assumed that he also offered some explanation of the bureau's part in the water bonds campaign.

Others who appeared before the commission included Tom Mullen, in charge of power bureau transportation, and Jim Moran, construc-

by Harry Carr

I HAVE been reading an article with some more of this slush about the American business man who can not entertain his young wife because he talks nothing but business.

And I am in pain.

WHEN TIME FLEW

During the past week I have had three chit-chats with men of my acquaintance. One conversation lasted for two solid days, another the greater part of one night, and the third a mere couple of hours.

The first one, sure enough, related mostly to business; and it included the psychology of buying and selling; the basic reasons for supply and demand; the future bearing of chemistry on human life; the relation of oriental politics and world treaties to home-grown trade.

The one that wound up at 1:30 in the morning was with Col. Tim McCoy, and during the hours it never left the subject of Indians. I wish it had lasted through the next twenty-four hours—without changing the subject. The wise, sage philosophers in blankets Col. Tim has known; the strategy (he showed me with war maps) of great redskin generals unknown to school books; the origin of strange spiritual waves that have swept through Indian tribes . . . great philosophers, great mystics, great soldiers, great statesmen and treaty makers who have lived and died unknown to white men.

The third was with Hugo Ballin, who painted the murals of the Jewish temple on Wilshire Boulevard—to my mind the finest murals in America. And he talked of art and letters until the two hours seemed like a second and a half.

Where do they get this stuff about the bonehead American business man who can't rise to the intellectual heights of his club-lady wife?

GOOD-BY GLADIATORS!

Steam Shovel Crushes Boy as Father Watches

While his father, Ignacio Salgado, looked on, horror-stricken but unable to save him, Gilbert Salgado, 13 years of age, was crushed to death yesterday by a steam shovel at Simon and Lugo streets. The boy, witnesses told police, was playing about the huge machine and had attempted to climb up on it, when his clothing became caught by cogwheels and dragged him into the mechanism. The family lives at 4215 Floral avenue and the victim had gone to visit his father at work.

LAVINE SPRINGS TRIAL SURPRISE

Broker Tells of Offer to Buy Julian Oil Secrets

Says Miss Johnson Refused to Accept $35,000

Eight Witnesses Testify in Plot-Pair's Defense

With the close of the prosecution's case against Morris Lavine, newspaper man, and Leontine Johnson, on trial before Superior Judge Schauer charged with extorting $75,000 from Charles Crawford, politician, the defense yesterday called eight witnesses in quick succession in opening its case.

The surprise witness of the day was H. J. Barneson, broker, who testified that he once offered Miss Johnson $35,000 for documents which she had in her possession that he might obtain them for evidence in a civil suit brought by Julian stockholders, but that she refused to accept that price. Miss Johnson formerly was secretary to S. C. Lewis, former president of the Julian Petroleum Corporation.

Clair S. Tappaan, Superior Court Judge, also was called. He was called to corroborate statements that he had held during the civil suit that Miss Johnson could legally sell documents pertaining to the case.

Other witnesses were Louis P. Fink, Philip Cohen, Hubert T. Morrow, George G. Young, Ethel Peck and Alexander T. Sokolow.

During the morning session, the defense attorneys, William T. Kendrick, Jr., Richard Cantillon and William Beirne continued their cross-examination of Jacob Berman, prominent figure in the Julian crash inquiry.

Lavine and Miss Johnson are accused of extorting the $75,000 from Crawford under threats of exposing his connection with certain Julian deals. The defendants assert that Crawford was to pass that amount for documents which Miss Johnson held in her possession.

Judge Orders Absent Lawyer Under Arrest

Never in his years of legal practice did John F. Groene, an attorney with offices at 228 West Fourth street, ever display greater speed in getting to court than yesterday.

This record was not entirely voluntary, but was brought about by means of a bench warrant issued by Superior Judge Allen of Santa Ana. Groene was the attorney of record in the defense of James A. Howlett, who was about to be tried on a charge of burglary. When the court was ready to proceed the defense attorney was declared absent.

The bailiff said he called Groene's office by long-distance phone and was informed that the lawyer was in court.

"What court?" the bailiff said he asked, and the answer, in his opinion, was delivered rather flippantly by a feminine voice.

An hour or so later Groene was on his way to Santa Ana to face a charge of contempt of court.

COUNCIL TO TAKE ACTION ON PROJECT

Tenth-Street Betterment Plans Slated for Report Recommending Passage

A step toward realization of the greater Tenth-street project is scheduled to be taken tomorrow in the City Council, according to Chairman Randall of its Public Works Committee, which will recommend that City Engineer Jessup be instructed to prepare the plans and ordinances.

Proponents of the project want plans and ordinances for the physical improvement of the widened thoroughfare ready for adoption as soon as the opening and widening proceedings are completed, and if the Council tomorrow adopts the recommendation of its Public Works Committee, the improvement proceedings can be started.

There will be no action this week on the final ordinance for improvement of streets in the Olympic Boulevard and Stanley-avenue Improvement District. A final ordinance was not placed upon this week's calendar.

quirk in the California law, the Board of Supervisors was required to underwrite the bond for the contractors who undertook to build the $11,000,000 San Gabriel Dam, abandoned after approximately $3,000,000 was spent on preliminary construction work.

The bond was underwritten by the Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland and cost Los Angeles county approximately $250,000, according to investigators.

JURY CONTINUES BROKER INQUIRY

Session Will be Held Today to Finish Evidence

Wife of Francis J. Heney Among Witnesses

Loss of $8600 Blamed on Speculative Scheme

After hearing nearly a score of witnesses in its investigation into asserted frauds costing investors interested in stock handled by seven Los Angeles brokerage firms, at least $1,000,000, the county grand jury last night voted to hold a special session today to complete evidence on the first phase of the inquiry.

One of the witnesses called yesterday was Mrs. Francis J. Heney, wife of the attorney. She is asserted to have told the jury that she invested $15,000 with one firm, and lost $8600 because the money was invested in a speculative scheme instead of the stocks she selected.

Raymond Lewis, another witness, is reported to have told the grand jury that he invested $20,000 with the same firm and lost it all because the money was used to purchase a stock of a speculative nature which he had not mentioned in his order.

All seven companies concerned in the inquiry have had their licenses suspended by the State Corporation Commission.

Companies under investigation by the grand jury are the Commonwealth Securities Corporation, of which J. J. Costello and W. W. Costello and Frank Creasey are executives; the H. R. Rule Company, E. K. Fleming & Co.; Stock and Bond Guarantee Company, Sargen & Co., Craighill & Co., and the Mortgage Certificate Corporation.

FLEMING FAILS TO VOID RECEIVERSHIP

E. K. Fleming, broker, failed yesterday in the District Court of Appeal to void the receivership of E. K. Fleming & Co., and the Stock and Bond Guarantee Company. He had appealed to the District Court after the Superior Court had denied his petition that the receivership be lifted. In denying his appeal, the higher court announced yesterday it did so without prejudice.

Mr. Fleming contended the concerns are losing thousands of dollars because of the receivership and that the court has been without jurisdiction to appoint a receiver.

Superior Judge Doran appointed A. D. McLeod receiver of the various interests June 19. Fleming appeared in Superior Court June 25 to request the discharge of the receiver.

tion foreman for the bureau, the pair who complete the "Moody triumvirate" within the power bureau's "unofficial" organization. Moody had stated, when his memory was refreshed by the reporters, that Mullen and a couple of truck drivers under him had had charge of the removal and destruction of the records. Just what Moran's role in that evening melodrama of making off with "the papers" was has not been disclosed. He, too, was some time telling it to the commission.

Bruce Findlay, exploitation manager of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, who was called in to take charge of the campaign machinery after several weeks of rather uncertain activities, also was before the commission. Findlay had been quoted as saying that the Power Bureau had not given the full co-operation that had been promised.

Alex Pettibone, clerk immediately in charge of the records, who had turned the key over to Mullen the night the records were removed, was recalled for further testimony. Fire Chief Scott and Capt. Moran of the fire department were called for their version of how the department co-operated in the bonds campaign.

FLOWER STREET CONTEST AT END

mons failed to make reference to the complaint for descriptions of the parcels sought to be condemned. The court concluded that inasmuch as the summons contained a description of the property in mass and the complaint contained a description of it in separate parcels, copies of the complaint and the summons being served together, the summons was sufficient.

G. F. Halliwell, assistant manager of the Flower Street Improvement Association, said the City Council will hold a hearing on confirmation of the assessments at 10:30 a.m. on the 10th inst.

Ralph Hamlin, president of the association, declared the decision will result in renewed activity along the street, adding that a number of building projects that have been held back are expected to start in the near future.

The cost of the improvement was given as $1,338,980.91.

Action to open Flower street was started in 1923.

Dry Divisions Sworn in for New Regime

The severance of the two divisions of the Federal prohibition department took place yesterday without unusual ceremony. The agents who are to operate under the Department of Justice took their new oath of office, while others, to act in the permissive division in the Internal Revenue Department, also were sworn in anew.

It was stated that William G. Walker, new administrator for the Pacific Coast States, and William R. Woods, Jr., now in charge of permits for the same district, will be here tomorrow for conferences

MORE SHIPS TO BE REBUILT

Modernization of Eight Dreadnaughts Will Cost Total of $70,000,000

Modernization of the navy's five newest superdreadnaughts, the West Virginia, Colorado, Maryland, California and Tennessee, at a cost of $40,000,000, will follow $30,000,000 modernization of the New Mexico, Mississippi and Idaho, under Navy Department estimates, it was learned yesterday.

This announcement follows testimony at Washington last week before the House Committee on Naval Affairs by Rear-Admiral George H. Rock, chief of the Bureau of Construction and Repair. Admiral Rock told the committee that the American capital ship fleet is not now the equal to the British squadron and that after the scrapping of battleships as proposed by the London treaty it will not be on a parity with that of Great Britain.

He explained that before the United States Navy will have parity with the Royal Navy it will be necessary not only to modernize the three "New Mexicos," which work the Naval Affairs Committee has recommended, but the five "post-Jutland" battleships must also be modernized. The "New Mexicos" are the last of the American "pre-Jutland" dreadnaughts to be modernized. The Navy Department is planning to spend $10,010,250 to rebuild the New Mexico; $9,831,250 on the Mississippi, and $9,871,250 on the Idaho.

The local base further was denuded of men-of-war yesterday as the fleet flagship, California, sailed for Oakland to spend the Fourth of July and the battleship Oklahoma went to San Francisco. Today the dreadnaught West Virginia will go to Santa Barbara for the Independence Day celebration, returning here on the 8th inst. for gunnery training. The aircraft carrier Saratoga and units of the fleet train will remain here for the holiday and will receive visitors until 4 p.m. At noon Friday the Saratoga will fire the customary twenty-one-gun national salute.

TAX DEFAULT SALES BEGIN

One Option Sold to Comply With Advertisement

Several Hundred Properties to Go Under Hammer

Auction Proper Slated to be Started Today

Bidding $2, Charles D. Hulmes of [illegible] Park yesterday morning found himself in possession of an option to purchase the first parcel of real estate to be sold this year for delinquent taxes.

Auction of several hundred pieces of real estate throughout the county on which taxes have been delinquent since the fiscal year of [illegible] will begin today at 9 a.m. in the office of Tax Collector Welch on the third floor of the Hall of [illegible]. The auction will be conducted by L. A. Pfeiffer, in charge of the tax-sales division.

Sale of the one option yesterday was made in order to conform with an advertisement to the effect that the auction proper would begin on the 1st inst., according to Welch. Between fifty and sixty persons were present. A larger number is expected today. The auctio will continue until all of the property is offered for sale, probably lasting the remainder of the week, Welch stated.

The bid of Hulme covered only the first year's delinquent tax and penalty on the property, a lot 25 by [illegible] feet on Ruthupham street near [illegible] street in the vicinity of Sycamore Grove Park. On full payment within the following thirty days of further delinquencies accruing since the fiscal year 1924-25, Hulme will receive a tax deed, according to tax office officials.

STREET OPENING PLANNED

An ordinance of intention was adopted by the City Council yesterday providing for the opening and laying out of Overland avenue between Pico and Venice boulevards. August 19 was set as the date for hearing protests against it.

BLAZE REVEALS STRANGE HOBBY OF HOARDING PAPER

One man's weakness for collecting old newspapers was revealed yesterday by a fire which virtually wrecked a Filipino rooming-house at 515 West First street.

In a room occupied by Edward Moyle, Inspector Nichols, of the fire department, said he found a huge pile of newspapers which Moyle admitted he had been hoarding for more than twenty years. This hobby, however, had nothing to do with the fire, the inspector acknowledged, except that it greatly increased the insurance hazard.

The fire was attributed to the extreme zeal of another lodger who stuffed a small stove full of papers and applied a match. Flying sparks from the chimney did the rest, and for a time it seemed likely the whole block of frame structures would be wiped out.

Moyle, the newspaper collector, also kept a pet dove in his room which resisted the best efforts of police and firemen in an attempted rescue.

The damage was estimated at $2000.

COUNTY CAR INSURANCE BIDS ASKED

Policies Needed to Cover Damage Done by Drivers of Official Vehicles

Bids for liability insurance to protect Los Angeles county in the event damage is done by its automobiles or by county officers and employees while driving cars on county business were called for yesterday by the Board of Supervisors. They will be opened on the 23rd inst.

The action of the county follows that of the State following the passage in 1929 by the Legislature of an amendment to the Civil Code making the State, a county or a city liable for automobile damages the same as an individual.

The county has 296 passenger cars, 74 motorcycles and 231 trucks.

BRITISH WARSHIP WELCOMES VISITORS

The British Consulate announced yesterday that it had received advices from the admiral of the British cruiser Despatch that the war vessel, which arrives at San Pedro the 10th inst., will be open to the inspection of visitors 2 to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, the 12th and 13th inst.

SUIT HOLDS UP SALE OF BEACH LAND

County Lets Its Option on Manhattan Frontage of 3150 Feet Expire

Los Angeles county will take no action relative to the purchase of 3150 feet of ocean front property at Manhattan Beach until the courts determine who has a clear title to the land.

This was the decision of the Board of Supervisors yesterday following a visit of Attorney Neil McCarthy, counsel for the Manhattan Beach Development Company, announcing that the county's option on the property to purchase at $85 a front foot had expired.

"When the County Counsel's office began making a search on the title the attorneys found that the city of Manhattan Beach had filed a suit against the land company to quiet title," said Sidney T. Graves, chairman of the Board of Supervisors last night. "The city contended it already is public property. After learning this, the board did not want to do anything until the pending suit is settled."

Attorney McCarthy, however, declared there is no question but that his client company has a clear title to the land and is ready to prove the fact in the courts.

JULIAN JUROR BRIBERY TOLD

Berman's Brother Testifies Against Grider

Says Latter's Home Bought to Sway Influence

'Bright Youngster' Expected to Testify Today

The purchase of a $16,000 house from Frank C. Grider, a juror in the first Julian case in 1928, was a bribe for a vote of not guilty, according to Louis Berman, the first witness against Louis Krause, on trial in Superior Judge Wilson's court on jury bribery conspiracy charges.

Berman gave his testimony yesterday, one day after the charge against him and Jacob Berman his brother had been dismissed by Judge Wilson to allow both of them to testify against their former codefendant. He was followed to the witness stand by his brother, former business associate of S. C. Lewis, but court adjourned before any further testimony was given.

With Louis Berman's story before the jury of nine women and three men Dep. Dist.-Atty. Harold Jones prosecuting the case declared last night that Jacob Berman's account of the affair will ineluctably show that a bribery plot was formed by Krause who in turn approached Jacob Berman through his brother, and then after payments of money and whisky had been made by the two Bermans, approached two members of the Julian jury and bribed them.

FIRST MET IN NORTH

Yesterday Louis Berman told the jury that he first met Krause in San Francisco a number of years ago and then saw him again in the hallways of the Hall of Justice during the Julian trial in 1928. At the time Krause asked to be introduced to Jacob Berman, according to Louis, and then unfolded his plan of jury bribery.

Grider refused to take any money directly, Berman testified Krause told him and, therefore, the purchase of the Grider house was agreed upon, according to Berman. In all $16,000 was paid to Grider through a regular escrow agreement and the two Bermans never came into contact with Grider, was the testimony of Berman. A second juror charged with having accepted a bribe of $5000 from Jacob Berman after Krause had planned the deal also was mentioned by Jones in his examination of Berman, but the witness stated that he had nothing to do with any jury fixing except the Grider deal.

PRISONER TO TESTIFY

Chief Defense Counsel S. S. Hahn together with Attorneys Graf and Hamilton took turns at cross-examining Berman after he had completed his direct testimony and kept at it hour after hour during the entire afternoon. The witness, however, again and again declared that he knew very little of the inside of the deal and acted only on the instructions of his brother and Krause.

Today Jacob Berman, now a Federal prisoner brought here for the purpose of testifying in this and other cases, probably will be on the stand most of the day. According to the prosecution he will tell in great detail all of his dealings with Krause and the various members of the Julian jury. At least a dozen prosecution witnesses will be called to support the testimony of the two Bermans, according to Jones.

CAPT. BEAN DISMISSAL APPROVED

Police Board Unanimous in Upholding Action of Police Chief Steckel

Dismissal of Capt. James F. Bean, who had but nine months more to serve on the police department to entitle him to a retirement pension, was unanimously approved by the Police Commission in a written decision read at its meeting yesterday, following an examination of written testimony submitted by Bean in his appeal against the action of Chief Steckel for removing him from the department as the result of an automobile accident in April.

Bean crashed into a car driven by Jack E. Gould of 848 West Twenty-third street at the intersection of Thirty-eighth street and Angeles Mesa drive, and after three captains appointed as a board of inquiry had examined witnesses Steckel removed Bean for conduct unbecoming an officer on the ground that he operated a police car in a dangerous and reckless manner and because witnesses stated that he had been drinking. Witnesses for Bean and a physician who examined him reported he had not been drinking.

The written decision stated "an examination of the statements of reputable witnesses disclosed that Capt. Bean did operate a police car in a reckless and dangerous manner, and the commission believes that the appellant Bean had been drinking intoxicating liquor.

"There has been no tinge of personal ill will or animosity in this proceeding, and the incident is unfortunate and the outcome regrettable," the decision concludes.

It will be known as the first annual San Diego round-up and will be repeated each year.

Today's Bible Text

For this cause I bow my knees unto the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, that He would grant that Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith; that ye, being rooted and grounded in love, may be able to comprehend with all saints what is the breadth, the length, and depth, and height; and to know the love of Christ, which passeth knowledge, that ye might be filled with all the fullness of God.—Eph. iii:14, 17-19.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE

When Congress over-rides a veto it is a "great victory for the Democrats." When the veto is sustained it is "gag rule." Democracy is either victorious or cheated, according to this code.

FISH STORIES

Speaking of big catches, they landed a 450-pound swordfish at Newport Beach the other day. This is a big enough story to tell over the radio. This seems to be the year of the big fish. Records have been broken at several of the beaches. Possibly the abundance of sardines and mackerel has brought the big fellows in to fill their tummies.

NO LITERATURE

Dr. Max Wolff, famous German critic, was asked by a German publisher to write a history of American literature. He got out of it by declaring that there was no such thing. America was a land without a real literature. This will be quite a shock to a herd of lively novelists and also disturbing to the minds of admirers of Emerson, Hawthorne, Poe, Bryant and the hundreds of other writers who have passed on. What, no literature? Perish the thought.

SEAT OF EMOTIONS

The heart is popularly supposed to be the custodian of human emotions although surgeons and anatomists have assured the world that this is all poppycock. They said the heart was as emotionless as a chunk of mud and knew no more about love than a little red wagon. But here comes Dr. Mayo, who rates high as a surgeon, and expresses the belief that the heart really has something to do with our emotions and may respond to the click of romance. We are glad that doctors can disagree on this important point. This will give us a chance to divide. It is a sure thing that the poets will be strong for Dr. Mayo.

GUNS OF GOD

A fourteen-inch railway rifle, largest unit of mobile armament in the United States, has been assigned to Fort MacArthur at San Pedro. It has a range of twenty miles.

However, this may not be our greatest protection. The high school graduates, whose pictures have been filling pages recently, loaded with peace and good will and rightly trained upon the future, are better than forts and battleships.

Those envoys from twenty-five nations to the Golden Jubilee of the University of Southern California may have more to do with peace on earth and good will among men than generals and admirals.

The letters and exchange of gifts between our own schoolboys and girls and the youngsters of similar groups in Japan and Mexico are better protection for our borders than cannon.

Dispatching immediate and practical help after earthquake and famine may be the best way of disarming a nation. It may even beat parity conferences, good as they are. Treating foreigners within our own confines like brothers may prove to be the best way to shoot holes into their military ranks. Treating all of whatsoever color like human beings may be the best way to destroy Bolshevism and be 100 per cent Americans ourselves.

Johnson jingoism is passe.

The biggest guns are not fourteen-inch monsters belching forth death. The pieces of largest caliber are generosity and thoughtfulness. A soft answer still blunts the farthest thrust of a foe in any sector. Killing them with kindness furnishes the most satisfactory casualty list. Friendship is the mightiest ship in any navy. Mutual understanding will mow down more troops than any gas attack in Flanders—or Congress. Laying down a barrage of sympathy is the best prelude to approach. Going over the top in charity is the way to win the victory.

Deity may be on the side of the heaviest artillery, as Napoleon said; but the biggest guns of God are justice and mercy.

GETTING DOWN TO BUSINESS

Stripping campaign issues of political clap-trap and oratorical generalities, Dist.-Atty. Fitts, addressing more than a thousand Southern California women in the first important local exposition of his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Governor, placed before his hearers Monday the basic considerations of the gubernatorial contest.

Demonstrating his ability to analyze and understand State problems and giving every assurance of being capable of administering with vigor and firmness the duties of the office he seeks, Mr. Fitts elicited the enthusiastic approval of his audience as he described the governmental ills fostered by the Young administration and outlined the remedies he proposes to adopt if elected Governor.

The administration of Gov. Young was described by the speaker as the most costly in the history of California and as an organization managed by politicians more concerned with retaining their power in politics than with establishing and maintaining an efficient and economical form of government.

Using unchallengeable facts and figures as a foundation for his arraignment of the gubernatorial incumbent, the Republican candidate asserted that the huge general surplus mentioned with pride by Gov. Young is "largely a myth," and that instead of having an actual balance of many millions of dollars on hand, the State government merely has a "paper surplus" consisting of transferred and unexpended items belonging to other public funds.

Fitts charged the Young administration with delaying public improvements and expenditures until the eve of election. The record of the administration for three years and a half, Fitts asserted, is one of procrastination, vacillation and hesitancy.

He warned his hearers that unrestricted maintenance of State functions on the basis of increases advocated and effected by Gov. Young and his subordinates will bring California to the verge of bankruptcy. The facts presented on this point by the speaker were in themselves impressive and arresting, as he showed that the cost of government in this State during the last five years has increased more 70 per cent.

The Young administration, which is flooding the State with propaganda at this time calculated to show great economy and efficiency in government affairs, has actually collected more money from the people of California and spent more money than any preceding administration since California entered the Union. The total expenditures for the four-year term for which Gov. Young was elected, according to Fitts, will come close to the half-billion mark and will represent an increase over the expenditures of the preceding four years of more than $138,000,000.

Describing the administration under Young as lacking in initiative and leadership, and with making claims to public service not in keeping with the facts, the Governor's energetic opponent accused Young of using the Mooney case for the Governor's political advantage.

With reference to recently renewed agitation concerning the possibility of an executive pardon for Mooney, now serving a sentence in San Quentin for the San Francisco Preparedness Day outrage, Fitts charged that any decision by Young after more than three and a half years of inactivity will be dictated by politics. And, with regard to his own attitude on the famous case in the event of his election, Fitts said that he would expeditiously settle the question by announcing, after careful investigation, whether Mooney is entitled to a pardon.

He assured the southern women that the residents of other sections of California are inclined to agree that Southern California should have a greater voice in State affairs and that this state of the public mind is favorable to the election of a Southern California candidate for Governor.

Thus, the Southern California candidate has inaugurated his campaign forcefully and candidly among his own people. His observations and conclusions impressed those who heard him and resulted in pledges of active support from scores of the representative women who came to hear from the candidate himself some of the reasons for his candidacy.

NO TIME FOR SECRECY

The Board of Water and Power Commissioners is making a mistake in conducting its inquiry into the disappearance and asserted destruction of records behind closed doors. Public business is public business and should be conducted in public, because the public is entitled to know all about it, particularly when such fundamentals are under discussion as in this instance.

The reasons given for closing the hearing do not hold water. It is said employees of the department will be reluctant to tell all they know at an open hearing, for fear their superior officers, who might be involved by their testimony, will take revenge on them. The best protection such employees can have is for the public to hear their stories and be fully informed of the motives and circumstances if any reprisals are attempted. Such hearings invariably leak like a sieve and the superior officers will inevitably learn the gist at least of what is said. If the public knows it also, there is less chance to punish witnesses secretly for doing their duty.

It is also said that witnesses from the department will not talk fully in the presence of their superior officers and that these cannot be excluded if the public is let in. On the contrary, nothing is easier than to segregate witnesses and bring them in one at a time; it is done every day in the courts. The board controls all department employees, including these bosses, and can exclude them at will.

The reaction of the public to a secret hearing is bound to be unfortunate. Full and satisfactory explanation may be given of all the matters under investigation, but a mere announcement to that effect will not be convincing; many will suspect a whitewash. On the other hand, if evidence is produced which shows that the department is shot through with internal politics, the board will be embarrassed in dealing with the situation if the public is not as fully informed about it as it is. In any action it takes it will be accused of acting for political purposes unless all the ground for that action is plain.

In addition, the public wants to know that there has been a genuinely complete investigation and that bottom has been reached and explored. It will be satisfied with nothing less; and the only way of assuring it that no dirt has been swept under the sofa is to let it watch the broom in action.

The LEE SIDE o' L.A.

Peewee Golf

Councilman Webster wants a curfew for miniature golf courses, to compel their closing by midnight. And that is only one bit of evidence of the amazing spread of miniature golf courses. Nearly anybody who has a vacant lot, it appears, can dress it up as a miniature golf course and make a little money out of it. Even the children are taking it up. We know one 10-year-old boy who has sunk nine tomato cans in the vacant lot next to his house and charges the other kids a nickel a round and is no longer dependent on the quarter a week he used to get from his dad for certain duties about the house. He has become an independent business man to whom mere quarters are of small account.

One of the best results of this fad is the cleaning up of some hundreds of vacant lots in the city and the real beautification of many of them. They are almost putting the corner pool hall out of business and are interesting thousands of people in golf who always rather sniffed at it before.

What De Narvaez Was Seeking?

A Long Beach octogenarian was arrested as a "masher" the other day.

Some towns will do most anything to call attention to the youth-recalling and invigorating qualities of their climates.

Save the Messenger Boys!

These new direct-wire systems, by which a machine in your own office will type off the telegrams sent to you, and messenger boys will be unnecessary, may be a fine thing for business speed and efficiency. But what are we going to do, in future, for men who really know their cities?

IF IT WASN'T FOR THE EXCITEMENT OF THE THING

There never was any other educational course to equal the experience of a messenger boy. Do you know any former messenger boys who aren't making good? We don't, and we've known a good many of them. Very early they learn how to take care of themselves anywhere; they touch life at all its points. They may deliver one telegram to a millionaire and the next to a den of iniquity and they become hard-boiled humanists, unawed by anything on earth and yet with understanding sympathy for all sorts of people. One-half the world may not know how the other half lives, but the messenger boys do. Some of the best newspaper men we have known were messenger boys first.

Taxi drivers, too, learn a good deal about both sides or all sides, but not as messenger boys do. The taxi driver is dismissed at the curb, the messenger boy often waits inside to see if there is an answer. He is just a boy and people do less to conceal their feelings before him.

Progress is a great thing. But we're going to lose some mighty well-informed citizens when messenger boys are no longer employed.

Disclaiming a Distinction

Somehow we have gained an unjustified reputation as a gourmet, or at least a gourmand. We were introduced to a distinguished group of Hollywood the other day as one who knows all the best places in which to eat.

HAVE SOUP, LEE?

We don't, and we wouldn't consider it anything worth mentioning if we did. There are many Hollywood spenders who know more about where to eat than we do. In fact, some learn just where before they learn just how.

Revealing Ourself in All Our Hickiness

The simple fact is that we would rather dine at home, eating what was left over from lunch, than eat anywhere else we can think of. The finest banquet ever served wouldn't tempt us two blocks. When we dine out it is because of the people we will meet, not because of the food.

Every now and then some one tries to give us a thrill by inviting us to a very dressy dinner at some exceptionally sumptuous hotel or restaurant. Most of those invitations thrill us so that we groan and sigh. To set our kind friends right, we are going to tell just what a hick we are.

Our idea of a perfect life follows: Get up at 6 a.m., slip on soft shirt, overalls and shoes (no socks) and work in yard till 7, tub, shave and dress by 7:30, breakfast from 7:30 to 8:30. Our private opinion is that hasty breakfasts are the real cause of the crime wave. So many people find breakfast a sad, depressing, dyspepsia-breeding meal that they start every day wrong. Our breakfast usually consists of a bowl of cereal, two slices of toast and two cups of coffee if our helpspend is watchful or three if she loses count. It's always an interesting game to see if we get two or three. But we always give an hour to breakfast, our chattiest, pleasantest meal. From 8:30 till 11:30 we like to write—and if we accomplish anything which tickles us we feel just right for luncheon. Then we go somewhere or interview some one or otherwise pass the afternoon in pursuit of copy for the next morning and as soon as we have bagged what we want we speed home to have dinner with the Shippey family—and spend the evening at home if possible. We don't belong to any lodge, society, club or organization except two fraternities which meet only once a year, and one year we attend the annual dinner of one, the next year of the other. We're too fond of staying home and going to bed at 9:30.

Of course, such a schedule is too beautiful to last. We can't follow it. Some days we have to pursue copy in the morning and write it in the afternoon or at night; sometimes we have to pursue it at night; and sometimes we have to dress up and go to affairs. But usually it isn't half as much fun as putting on overalls and getting some real exercise in our own yard in the cool, sweet morning.

THE PURE-FOOD CRUSADER

The demise of Dr. Harvey W. Wiley at the ripe old age of 86 removes a figure nationally familiar to thousands through his long fight for the enactment of a law to purify foods and drugs and for his numberless magazine articles written to promulgate popular suggestions on the subjects of diet and health. For forty years he was prominently before the public, first as a crusader against adulterated foods and dangerous drugs and afterward as an indefatigable broadcaster of recipes on how to keep hale and hearty.

In his earlier years Dr. Wiley entered with all the enthusiasm of the crusader into a long campaign to reform regulations governing the preparation of foods for public consumption. With the aid of two Presidents, Roosevelt and Taft, both of whom were impressed by his zeal for the cause he had espoused, the Pure Food and Drugs Act was first put through Congress and its enforcement subsequently strengthened by the Department of Agriculture, to whom that duty had been allotted. In his later years he was a voluminous contributor to newspapers and magazines and his articles on health were read—and no doubt in many cases with good effect—by men and women in every State of the Union.

Like his predecessor, the Italian dietitian, Cornaro, who by following his own regime preserved his health to his one hundred and fourth year, Dr. Wiley was a living example of the good effects to be found in the rules he advocated for others. He did not, it is true, achieve the long life of Cornaro though he exceeded the average by sixteen years. And he made a minor record for himself by marrying at the age of 67 and becoming the proud father of two children.

NOTHING TO CHEER ABOUT

By James J. Montague

Space has now turned around and is eating up matter.—Prof. Einstein

Concerning Mr. Einstein's stuff
  I'm not at all delirious;
I never followed it enough
  To think that it was serious,
But though his diction has a swing
  That both delights and charms me,
He recently has said a thing
  Which troubles and alarms me.

I've read the stuff that he puts out
  With no extreme avidity,
Including what he says about
  The scheme of relativity.
But this last statement has a sound
  That is not idle chatter;
He says that space has turned around
  And now is eating matter!

The whirling earth on which we tread,
  The air, although ethereal,
Our cars, our clothes, our daily bread
  These things are all material.
And so are lands, and bonds and stock,
  Though panics may deplete them;
So how shall we survive the shock
  If space is going to eat them?

If space, its jaws with greed a-drip,
  Its massive features glowering,
Shall shortly have us in its grip
  And straightway start devouring,
The while it drinks the ocean dry
  And sends the fishes scurrying
I think it's time that you and I Should do a little worrying.

LETTERS TO The Times

[Name and address of writer must accompany all letters for this column. Letters of a personal nature or involving contentious religious questions are not acceptable.]

The Rashness of Hogue

FLAGSTAFF (Ariz.) June 27.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In The Times of June 16 appears an article entitled, "The Iconoclast at the Canyon," by a Mr. Hogue.

Needless to say this article in spots touched a sacred chord in the hearts of many Flagstaff people who have revered this wonderful chasm all their lives as one of God's masterpieces.

Personally, it is the only time in forty-two years' association with the Grand Canyon that I have ever once heard it criticised. Who Mr. Hogue is, or can be, to judge this sublime spectacle, I cannot imagine, but I do feel that he is ill, mentally, perhaps physically, perhaps both.

The penalty of success comes in again for its touch of criticism, as all beautiful paintings, all masterpieces of verse, or anything, in fact, achieving high standards, but I had always supposed the Grand Canyon occupied so lofty a throne as to be impregnable against such criticism. It lies there in such profound peace, such grandeur, asking nothing, yet giving so much to the eyes of those who have been fortunate enough to look upon it.

We ask of you in all kind esteem and regard for The Times, that another article of the nature never be permitted to appear in its columns again.

LEO WEAVER,
Secretary Chamber of Commerce.

A Valuable Suggestion

LOS ANGELES, June 29.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Permit me to express to you my thanks and appreciation for the editorial on the Depatment of Water and Power in Sunday's Times. As a member of the Civil Service Commission it has been my duty to contact the department in a more direct way than any other member of said commission and I am free to say that your suggestions point the only way to make this department of any service to the taxpayers to whom it belongs.

This is merely my personal expression of appreciation to The Times for calling attention to a condition that exists in our city government.

ELIZABETH A. LAWTON.

Charity Pensions

LOS ANGELES, June 30.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Published figures show that our soldiers' pension list is "staggering." The taxpayers will stagger under its financial weight for years. This is proper. Our disabled veterans cannot be paid too much for their services to this country, but the government should cut off the barnacles. The four widows of former Presidents did nothing beneficial to the government. They are not entitled to pensions and the money thus given is misappropriated and comes under the head of charity. Furthermore, they do not need the money. Mrs. Roosevelt is wealthy. Mrs. Taft is a millionaire, Mrs. Wilson is a millionaire and Mrs. Cleveland is a millionaire and has remarried. These items, though comparatively small, should be cut off and turned into the Treasury for the benefit of veteran soldiers who did something for their country. A widow of a President is no more entitled to a pension than the widow of a Congressman, or the widow of any other official.

WHERE CAN I LEARN

Weaving?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

For the first time in the evening public schools, weaving will be taught at Polytechnic Evening High School, 400 West Washington Boulevard, beginning July 7. Classes will meet in the cafeteria building on the second floor, reached from the driveway on Flower street, between Washington and Twentieth street. The hours will be 7 to 9 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

There is no charge for instruction in this class, but each student furnishes his own materials. People of all ages are welcome. As the equipment is expensive, there will be only one class and enrollment should be early. A good start may be gotten by enrolling now in the costume design and handwork class, where weaving is being demonstrated. The instructor is Mrs. Viola Rich, who has been a designer for the Patsy Romper Company for twenty-five years.

Radium Famine Threatened

Radium supplies in the Congo may decrease rapidly owing to the exhaustion of the ore, according to a Johannesburg (South Africa) newspaper which declares its information is from a reliable source. The result, it is predicted, will be a radium famine with the present price of $60,000 a gram being doubled or trebled within a year or two.

Garibaldi Head Fifteen Feet High

The head of Giuseppe Garibaldi being hewn out of marble as a memorial to the Italian patriot who furthered the cause of a united Italy, will be fifteen feet high. Prof. Lapina, famous sculptor, expects to complete the work in a short time. It will be placed in Rome. The features are so large that it is said an Alpine climber could not scale the face.

JOHNNY'S POOCH-DOG

BY WILLIAM HAMILTON CLINE

The heart of every dog lover will go out to 10-year-old Johnny Pershing Stanton, who the other day deserted the Ile de France at the moment of its sailing, threw up a trip to Europe, and went to work on a farm, all because his pooch, Rex, was forcibly excluded from ship and journey. Johnny is contentedly earning his keep and is the happiest boy alive; he needs no sympathy of mine, for he and Rex are reunited. So is the purp happy; he well-nigh pined away when Johnny left on his purported trip. And all is well with them. But—

There is something very beautiful as well as very strong, about the reciprocal love between a real boy and his canine companion—something quite unlike anything else in nature.

We all know that little girls love dolls, and consider that a decided and commendable foreshadowing of the maternal instinct—but a doll is an inanimate object that can make no return, so after all it is a wholly one-sided affection. We also observe the regard that elderly women, especially spinsters, have for cats. But a cat is so indifferent, so unresponsive, so independent; loyal only to its feed and comfort, and making up to any soul that will satisfy its needs. A cat has no fixity of friendship, no permanent abode; it is prone to traipse o' nights and take up with strangers—and whoever knew of a cat to stand up for its mistress, or fight her battles?

But a dog! Particularly a pooch dog, of uncertain parentage and diverse strain! A mere dog, without pedigree, morals or even family! Just plain dog.

Given a small boy of normal vitality and a mutt of varied and various lineage; let them become acquainted; permit to develop and flower that trust and comradeship and interdependence one for and upon the other, and you have a combination of lovable faults and and foibles, of honest and worthy faith, that can be equaled in no other way. The regard of man for man, "passing the love of women," is an epitome of the highest and most unselfish human relationships, but beside even that, the ties that bind a boy and his dog rise to supernal heights and to sublime significance.

I don't mean, good folk, anything idealistic in all this. A mongrel dog is just dog—often dirty, a pretty sure to be flea-bearing, certainly a bit smelly and possibly a destructive nuisance about the house. He is not a parlor ornament, forsooth, unless you include in his category (which I do not!) the sniveling, snarling, interbred beasties that live on cushions and wheeze through a mercifully brief life.

I mean a he-canine, of either sex—an animal that has sense and smartness; that knows you and cherishes you; that has a sturdy heart and will stand up and fight for you—how he will fight!—or will follow at heel wherever fate may lead you. A dog that knows how to romp and play when your desire so dictates; that can fetch and carry, and do a few simple but cute tricks; that snuggles up to you when you are tired; that understands when you are hurt and offers his mute but unquestionable sympathy when you are in sorrow; that knows your moods better than you do, and co-ordinates his own accordingly; that wakes you in the morning, watches over you all day; wearies with you of evenings and sleeps beside you at night. Where else on earth will you find a pal like your pooch? It just can't be done.

All honor to you, Johnny; you are a reg'lar kid; your love for your mongrel pup certifies it as nothing else could. You are a credit to American boyhood; would we had millions more like you.

ARE YOU LOST?

By The Foothill Philosopher

When I lived in the country I used to take long walks in the woods at night and sometimes, within a mile of my cabin home, I lost my bearings and rambled about for hours before I spied the beacon lights of home. Occasionally, when I had enough presence of mind to stop rushing frantically around and to stand still for a few moments, something within me, or some familiar sign outside of me, told me exactly where I was and the direction to take toward home.

I have been wondering if the main trouble with many of us today is that, in our inordinate desire for accomplishment, we seldom pause long enough to come to our senses and allow our senses to come to our aid. In our ambitions to make money, to write books, break speed records and to do a thousand other things that modern life seems to demand of us as the price of "success," we get ahead of life's story either omitting or reading too cursorily the chapters of life's fascinating book, until we find ourselves perusing the closing chapter without any real knowledge of what the volume might have taught us.

Instead of digesting life's experiences, as they come to us, we rush hither and yon in high confusion, leaving behind us a host of unsolved issues which rise to haunt us at unexpected moments. Many of us imagine we are "concentrating" when we are only scattering our physical, mental and emotional forces and intensifying our confusion. Such a state of consciousness can be cured only in one way. That method is for the confused one to pause, forget his importance, be still and allow the Director of life to point the way to peace.

JAMES WARNACK.

MRS. LANGDON RAPS MOTHER

Brands Story in Deposition "Deliberate Lie"

Actor Also Tells How Parent Shook Finger at Him

Heart-Balm Suit Case Nearing Point for Decision

Depositions by attorneys for Langdon and Thomas J. O'Brien, Leo Rosecrans and Otto today will give to Superior Judge Blake disposition of the sensational suit to collect on notes for $11,000 signed by the screen comedian. Both sides rested late yesterday following a final flare-up of dramatic testimony by Langdon when he was called in rebuttal. Mrs. O'Brien Langdon, present wife of the defendant actor and former wife of the plaintiff, also was on the witness stand.

Langdon was the last witness. He was called in rebuttal of testimony read from a deposition made by his wife's mother, Mrs. Laura Walton. The latter's deposition contained accusations that her daughter, while still O'Brien's wife, was unduly friendly with Langdon, and that she had protested to the comedian at his studio.

"Mrs. Walton visited my dressing-room at First National studios," testified Langdon. "She said: 'You think Helen is a nice, sweet girl, but she is not what she's cracked up to be. She has always treated me mean, and she will double-cross you.'

"I tried to pacify her. She went on: 'Tom O'Brien is coming back to work. What are you going to do about it?' I said let O'Brien come. I wasn't going to do anything about it. She walked out, shaking her finger at me and shouting: 'You'll be sorry' and slammed the door."

Mrs. Langdon was recalled to testify about two occasions when her former husband, O'Brien, quarreled with her about Langdon. She said that on one occasion, when she returned from a studio where she had been doing picture work, O'Brien accused her of being late and that she had been with Langdon.

"He was going to strike me. I ran to Charles Love's room," said Mrs. Langdon. Love boarded with her. "He vilely cursed me and Langdon."

She was asked about Mrs. Walton's deposition to the effect that her mother had seen her come out of a room at her house occupied by Langdon late at night.

"That's a deliberate lie," asserted Mrs. Langdon. She continued to shout her answers until Judge Blake ordered her to confine herself to answering her lawyer's questions.

Charles Love, studio property man, testified that he had roomed at the O'Brien house, and that he knew Mrs. O'Brien was on her couch in the living-room each morning. He said the only quarrel over Langdon which he ever heard was when Mrs. O'Brien said Langdon was a good comedian, and O'Brien said he was not.

Attorney Paul Schenck for Langdon and Attorney Bayard Rountree for O'Brien stipulated to the suggestion that Judge Blake study the Langdon house at 6215 Hollymont Drive, where Mrs. O'Brien lived several weeks in 1927 following an operation.

NEWS OF THE CAFES

The spirit of Old California is strikingly emphasized by the Old Monterey style of furniture and decoration employed by the new Queen's Eating House at 7312 Beverly Boulevard. The Monterey furniture, designed especially for Queen's by Barker Brothers, is reminiscent of California's romantic past, and yet is so cleverly designed that it fully meets the modern demand for comfort and utility. Electrified kerosene lamps furnish illumination. Paintings and books in keeping with the atmosphere are to be found. Everything down to the last small detail, the clay water-bottles, the salt-and-pepper shakers of stained yellow glass, carries out the Old California motif. The cuisine, however, is cosmopolitan. A table d'hote dinner is served daily, also complete a la carte service may be obtained.

NEW REVUE TONIGHT

July midsummer and celebration of the nation's anniversary, all over the United States, bring holiday outings and in Los Angeles, July spells symphony under the stars, with world-wide artist soloists.

One of the lovely affairs of the month is the semicentennial, golden jubilee celebration of the Los Angeles Orphans Home, 815 El Centro street, Hollywood, when, the 11th inst., the board of directors is giving a wonderful luncheon at the home, honoring its advisory board, former members of the board of directors, the extension committee members and former auxiliary members, the honored guest being its president emeritus, Mrs. Dan D. Stephens, who with the late Dr. Walter Lindley (its first president) and Mrs. Frank Gibson, its first secretary, founded this wonderful organization fifty years ago.

The hosts of the luncheon include Mrs. Theodore Eisen, Mrs. Charles Walton, Mrs. Charles Dick, Mrs. William G. Kerckhoff, Mrs. Grace W. Biggs, Mrs. Edward Dean Lymon, Mrs. Herman H. Kerckhoff, Allan C. Balch, Mrs. Ernest Albert Bryant, Mrs. Walter Lindley, Mrs. George H. Macaulay, Mrs. Woods Woolwine, Mrs. Emiel Ducommun, Mrs. Lucia Macbeth and W. D. Longyear, who, by the way, is the treasurer of the organization. The luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock, and the guest list sounds or reads rather like the official social register of the city.

Weds in South

One of the interesting weddings of last month was that of Miss Douglass Ellison, charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kingman Ellison of Birmingham, Ala., and Howard Bierne Burwell of Huntsville, the ceremony taking place June 25, last, at the home of the bride's parents at 4 p.m. with Rev. J. B. Meacham officiating.

The bride was lovely in an afternoon frock of pale pink tulle with picture hat of horsehair braid to match and she carried an arm shower of butterfly roses and lilies of the valley.

Following their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Burwell will be at home to their many friends in Nashville, Tenn., where the former is completing a post-graduate course at Vanderbilt University.

The bride, a charming member of the younger set of Birmingham, has a host of friends here, being the grand-daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jefferson Douglass. She was graduated from the Loulie Compton Seminary there, while Mr. Burwell received his schooling at Vanderbilt University, having just gotten the degree of Master of Arts. Both Mr. and Mrs. Burwell are representatives of prominent southern families.

Church Wedding

Calvary Church of the Brethren was the setting of the marriage of Miss Dorothy Moomaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira A. Moomaw of Inglewood, and J. Carroll Cline, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cline, with Rev. H. B. Heisey officiating. Mr. Moomaw gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride was charming in close-fitting gown of ivory satin and lace with veil of tulle held in place cap-shape by orange blossoms. She carried roses, gardenias and valley lilies, while Miss Dorothy Koopman, maid of honor, wore green chiffon and carried pink roses. Mrs. Clarence Harter, matron of honor, also wore green chiffon and carried pink roses, other attendants Miss Maxine Moomaw, cousin of the bride; Miss Jean Green, Miss Margaret Scarisbuck and Mrs. Ronald Young, wore frocks of pink taffeta and carried pink sweet peas, little Beverley Jean and Shirley Jean Chick were flower girls.

Miss Bonnie Emene sang three songs, while Miss Billy Owen played the wedding marches, while Warren Crowell served as best man and Russell Cline, Victor Philip, Lewis Riork, Clarence Harten and William Moomaw ushered. The church was effectively decorated with palms and white gladioli with profusion of gypsophilia blooms.

Going Abroad

Miss Mary Catherine Guthrie, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Guthrie of 5914 Foothill Drive, Hollywood, left with her brother, William C. Guthrie, for New York, to sail on the steamship Paris for a three months' trip abroad. They will visit in Chicago en route. Miss Guthrie has been extensively entertained at many farewell parties, among them being the bridge-dance, at which Miss Bettye Nicholson entertained, sixteen guests being bidden, a bridge-luncheon given by Miss Bernice Laird of Canyon Drive and bridge-party given by Mr. and Mrs. George S. Wright, at which Mr. Guthrie shared honors, a travel motif predominating in all the decorations and appointments.

Bon-Voyage Parties

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cole Martin of North Elm Drive, Beverly Hills, have recently entertained with several informal dinner-parties in honor of their daughters, Miss Delia C. Martin and Miss Janice Martin, who are leaving for an extended tour of Europe, sailing from New York early this month and joined by several friends, who will be with them while they visit in France, Italy, Switzerland, Germany, Austria, Hungary, Czecho-Slovakia, Holland, Belgium, England and Scotland. The Passion Play at Oberammergu, a sail on the Blue Danube from Vienna to Budapest, and a trip to the Blue Grotto and Capri are among the many special features.

The Misses Martin are members of Alpha Gamma Delta Sorority. Before sailing Miss Delia Martin, recently elected grand president of Alpha Gamma Delta, will attend the grand council meeting in New York City.

Among the courtesies extended the Misses Martin was a bridge-party given by a sorority sister, Miss Louise Goodson, who entertained last week at her home in Alhambra.

Engagement Announced

Formal announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. F. McL. Brinckerhoff of 1717 North Van Ness avenue of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Betty Frances Brinckerhoff, to Calvin Denise Smalley of Chicago, the news being told to intimate friends at a charmingly appointed tea given by Mrs. Brinckerhoff and her daughter Saturday afternoon, guests being given corsages of gardenias to which were attached small gold and white envelopes with cards bearing the names of the betrothed. Assisting the hostesses were Miss Margaret Brinckerhoff and Eleanor Smalley and Mmes. Robert Rush Taylor, Douglas Hodson and Burton W. Chase, while Mrs. Francis William Vreeland and Mrs. George H. Forster presided at the tea table.

Will Wed Today

Miss Florence Solomon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abe Solomon, became the bride of Louis E. Kline at noon Sunday in the Temple B'nai B'rith with Rabbi L. Dubin officiating. Following the ceremony a reception and wedding breakfast will be held in the Blossom Room of the Roosevelt Hotel. Miss Solomon was graduated from the University of California, while Mr. Kline attended the University of Southern California and claims membership in the Tau Epsilon Phi Fraternity.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

BROILED CHICKEN, HUNTER STYLE

Cut broiling chickens in halves lengthwise and marinate for an hour in the following sauce: For each chicken allow one-half cupful of lemon juice, one-third of a cupful of olive oil, one-fourth of a cupful of grated onion, one-fourth of a cup of finely chopped parsley. Let the chickens lie breast down in this for an hour, drain, and pat dry, dip in fine bread crumbs, then in beaten egg, and again in crumbs, and broil under a hot fire. Take one-half of the marinade and add an equal amount of either chicken or veal stock to it, with one tablespoonful of flour to each cupful of liquid, add salt and paprika to taste and serve this sauce with the chicken.

SPICED CARROT CONSERVE

Scrape four pounds of tender young carrots and steam them until tender, then press them through a fine sieve. Make a syrup of four cupfuls of sugar and two cupfuls of water. Allow to boil for five minutes, adding one-half a cupful of vinegar, one ounce of green ginger root, tied in a small square of cheesecloth, and one ounce of mixed spices, stick cinnamon, mace and whole cloves. Add the carrot pulp, two tablespoonfuls of grated lemon rind, three tablespoonfuls of grated orange rind, one bay leaf, and allow to come to a boil. Remove the spice bag, cut two lemons in paper-thin slices, rejecting the seeds, add two oranges cut in thin slices and one-half a cupful of seeded raisins. Let the mixture marmalade, place it in small jars and cover with parafin.

LAMB BALLS WITH CURRANT JELLY

Take two pounds of breast of lamb and put it through the meat chopper, add to it one teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of pepper and one-third of a cupful of cold water, add a tablespoonful of finely chopped parsley, shape the mixture into small balls, place it in a saute pan and brown for two minutes on each side, reduce the heat and cook slowly for twenty minutes. Melt one cup of currant or plum jelly, allow it to boil for one minute, arrange the meat balls on a hot platter, pour the jelly over them, garnish wth parsley and serve.

STRAWBERRY CREAM TART

Line a deep pie dish with a rich paste and fill as full as possible with alternate layers of strawberries and sugar, cover with a thick top crust and cut a small hole in the center. Place in a hot oven and bake until well browned. Set the pie aside until cooled, then pour in through the hole the following mixture: Beat one egg, add two tablespoonfuls of sugar and two-thirds of a cup of cream, or rich milk, place in a double boiler and cook slowly until the egg has thickened the cream. Cool quickly in a pan of cracked ice, brush the top of the pie with strawberry juice and cover with sifted powdered sugar.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department, PRACTICAL RECIPES, published every Friday.—(All rights to reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

Your Baby and Mine

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply. This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

MOTHER MUST NOT BE TOO RIGID NOR TOO LAX WITH CHILD'S DIET

The skeptic in any group has more influence than all the conformers. Let some one else decide why this is true, but the fact remains that if every member of a group agrees and one dissents, the group immediately begins to doubt. Probably the strong emotional bias of the dissenting mother puts her opinion across.

"I was elected to write and ask your opinion about some subjects upon which a group of mothers are in disagreement," Mrs. M. M.'s letter begins. "We started to play bridge, but very soon were discussing our children. I was horrified at the way in which the other mothers fed their children anything on the table. They said, 'Let them eat what they please, and don't be a fussbudget,' but they agreed to consider your opinion. At what ages can children eat pork chops, mayonnaise, cabbage and bananas?

"My children, 2 and 4 years of age, will not eat puddings, but will eat ice cream and gelatin. They have potatoes and vegetables and a quart of milk a day. I will admit they are the thinnest children on the block. If I coax and force them to eat they throw up their meals. I just ignore advice and let them go puddingless."

SUBSTITUTE FOR PUDDINGS

There are so many substitutes for puddings that there seems no reason to tear your hair just because your children won't accept them. In fact, you may not have tried all the various kinds of puddings. Ripe bananas are an excellent substitute for either a cereal or a pudding dessert, being digestible for even a young child. They are delicious baked, or sauted in butter. Most children love them in any form. I feel sure that if you and each of your friends will send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me, our leaflet on "Week's Menus for the Child from Two to Four" will offer many suggestions for a well-balanced menu.

Coaxing and forcing children to eat is always a useless procedure, and to a limited extent children should be allowed to eat the foods they enjoy, trying always to give them small portions of all the good foods so that they will enlarge their diet and prevent a monotony.

THE OTHER FOODS

Sometimes drinking a quart of milk a day prevents a child's eating as much solid food as he needs. A wiser procedure is one small cup of milk at each meal and the rest used in preparing other foods.

Mayonnaise is wholesome when made with lemon juice instead of vinegar, and it may be either a raw or cooked dressing. Cabbage, shredded and steamed or boiled slowly for twenty minutes, is a fine vegetable. It is even nicer when chopped and served raw with carrot and celery as a salad or a spread for sandwiches. Pork chops and ham are not for small children—they tax the digestions of adults, being too fat, and demand too lengthy a digestion period to be good for children.

It is my belief that mothers should not be too rigid in their menus for the child over 2, neither should they be too lax. Usually the right foods for a child this age are equally as good for his parents so that the menu may be varied and wholesome for all with little extra labor.

Health and Diet ADVICE

by DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

CHERRIES AND MILK

During the cherry season it is often a good plan to take a few days' fruit fast, using nothing else but ripe cherries. This is a cherry cure somewhat similar to the "grape cure" of Europe. In cases of anemia, in which the iron in the body is low, it is especially desirable to use the fresh cherries which make the best fruit to use as they contain more iron than many of the other desirable fruits.

The directions for taking the cherry fast are very simple. Just buy two or three pounds of cherries a day and eat them whenever desired. Keep a bag of them on hand, eating a few at a time whenever you think about it.

If any hunger is felt, or if you feel lonesome for other food, just eat more cherries and you will find that at least for several days you will be satisfied. Just try this for three or four days and see how good you feel from giving the stomach a rest from the heavy winter food you have been eating.

Cherries contain more blood-building properties than any other fruit which can be found on the market. Like all other acid fruits, they should be used by themselves or with sweet milk.

Cherries and milk together make a perfect food combination. But cherries, milk and bread probably form the worst combination that could be put togther.

There is a false belief that the combination of cherries and milk is particularly harmful, but a little experimenation will reveal the fact that this is not true and that the combination seems to be perfect. The acid of the cherries seems to assist in the digestion of the milk so that the cherries and milk together are digested more rapidly than if the sweet milk were used alone.

Of course, if bread or any other starch is added, fermentation is set up quickly as the acid of the cherries, which is malic acid, is very strong and no kind of starch should at any time be mixed with this fruit, whether the cherries be in the raw, canned, or cooked state.

When the child eats cherries, bread and milk, you may expect intense stomach cramps, as such a combination of foodstuffs makes stomachaches. The trouble, however, is caused entirely by the fact that bread has been added to what would otherwise have been a perfect combination.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

"Whoever goes to nature's school
Finds "Safety first" to be the rule.
—Mother West Wind.

Safety first is the most important law of life for the little people who wear feathers and fur. It is the first thing to be learned. Nothing else matters until that is learned. There is no such thing as safety for the heedless, the careless or the stupid. No, sir, there is no such thing as real safety for these. One must be heedful, careful and smart to live to old age among the little people of feathers and fur. So, usually the first thing that is taught the furred and feathered babies is to instantly heed danger signals.

Over in the Smiling Pool was a school of safety. It had two teachers and nine pupils. The two teachers were Jerry Muskrat and Mrs. Muskrat. The pupils were their nine children. Peter Rabbit happened over there and it was a funny sight that Peter saw. The nine little Muskrats were swimming about where the water was shallow. A little farther out was their mother. Away over by the Big Rock was Jerry Muskrat. The instant that Peter appeared on the bank things happened. Slap! went Jerry Muskrat's tail on the water and Jerry disappeared. And then there were nine funny little slaps on the water, and nine little Muskrats disappeared. It was so surprising that Peter didn't know what to make of it. He just sat there and stared.

Presently, up came Jerry Muskrat right beneath where Peter was sitting. "How do you like that?" he inquired.

"How do I like what?" demanded Peter, looking perplexed.

"The way those children of mine have learned their lessons," replied Jerry.

"What lesson?" asked Peter, looking still more perplexed.

"Didn't you hear me slap the water with my tail?" demanded Jery.

"Yes," replied Peter.

"Yes," replied Peter.

"And didn't you hear all the children slap the water with their tails?" persisted Jerry.

"Yes," replied Peter, "but what of it?"

"A great deal of it," retorted Jerry. "They showed you how well they had learned their lesson. Of course, you know perfectly well that that slapping of the water is the Muskrat danger signal. Mrs. Muskrat and I have been teaching the children that, no matter what they are doing, when they hear that signal they must instantly dive and hide. You saw them do it just now."

Peter nodded. "Yes, I saw it and they did it very nicely," said he. "But where are they now? I shouldn't suppose that such little fellows could stay under water so long. Indeed, I shouldn't think that Mrs. Muskrat could stay under so long."

Jerry chuckled. "Bless your heart, Peter, they're not under water," said he. "They've had their noses out ever so long. They swam over among those tussocks of grass and among the bulrushes, where they could put their noses out of water to breathe, yet not be seen. Here they all come now."

Sure enough, there was Mrs. Muskrat with the nine little Muskrats following her. They were coming out from among the bulrushes and the grassy tussocks growing near where the Laughing Brook enters the Smiling Pool. Jerry looked up at Peter and his eyes twinkled. "Safety first, Peter," said he, and slapped the water with his tail. Instantly, Mrs. Muskrat and nine little Muskrats disappeared, but not before Peter heard one big slap and nine little slaps on the water.

IT makes a big difference, that date! It shows you when that can went on your grocer's shelf... the very day he got it.

You run no risk of unknowingly buying shelf-stale coffee. Of getting coffee that has had time to lose even a little of its roaster-fresh perfection.

For we watch those dates, too! We call on your grocer at frequent intervals... remove any can that remains unsold for ten days... replace it with a fresh one. No matter when you buy, you buy coffee straight from the roaster.

If you like coffee, by all means try this kind in the dated cans. See what a difference there is in flavor, body, aroma, when the coffee is roaster-fresh. Generations of coffee epicures have preferred Chase & Sanborn's Coffee.

ESSENTIAL FOODS SHOULD BE SEASONED TO PLEASE TASTE

Science of Cooking Calls For Knowledge of Developing Flavor

The fact that a housewife decides to serve simple, wholesome food does not mean that it should be lacking in taste-appeal and uninviting in appearance.

Yet, too often, this is the case. As a result there is either patient indifference to the food, or outspoken rebellion by old and young.

One of the most popular ways to make wholesome foods zestful is to season them with sugar. A dash of sugar to a pinch of salt works wonders in the seasoning of vegetables, canned and fresh, meat stews and salad dressings. This seasoning does not change the characteristic flavor of the food but emphasizes it.

Many other foods can also be improved by sugar. Fresh and stewed fruits, and most cereals need sugar to make them inviting to the taste.

Doctors and dietitians recommend the use of sugar in flavoring and seasoning, because it encourages the consumption of foods rich in vitamins, minerals and roughage. What is more, they recommend the regular practice of serving desserts—for their nourishment and their satisfying qualities. Most foods are more delicious and nourishing with sugar. RADIO LAGGING IN ORIGINALITY

Creative Side of Broadcast Still to be Developed

Opportunities Waiting in This New Field

Special Program Prepared by Don Lee Station

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

The creative side of radio broadcasting is as yet unborn. Time and [illegible] are necessary for its development. The history of the new [illegible] to date shows practically nothing in the way of creative accomplishment beyond the marvelous mechanical or technical achievements. Thus far broadcast stations have been content to send forth over the air the music of the old masters and many more hours have been devoted to the distribution of jazz and popular music than anything else. Originality has been lacking. The names of the inventors and engineers who made radio possible will live, but how many names have been established in the "who's who" of radio tradition?

Eventually radio will create an entirely new form of contact in drama, literature and music as well as educational development, that is, if the industry is afforded by freedom of the air. Under monopoly it will continue to be merely a showman's art, little different from the stage and sound pictures.

POSSIBILITIES SHOWN

A few radio skits and continuities have been produced, indicating the possibilities. The value of personality has been augmented but years will be required before the real importance of this is fully realized. In much the same way that the motion-picture industry evolved from the slapstick comedy stage through the development of continuity writers and master directors, the future of radio depends on the evolution of radio specialists. The creative specialists necessary for the future of radio include sound engineers, continuity writers, program arrangers, dramatic, musical, feature and educational directors.

The greatest possibility for star achievement in radio lies in the creation of new educational methods. For example, it may be only a few years hence that the majority of students will get their lessons at home, via radio. Classrooms of public schools may become merely auditoriums supervised by a monitor who will maintain silence while the student receives a given course of instruction from a master radio seat of knowledge. The best, in fact, the ideal in instruction thus would become available to all.

DIVORCE CAUSED BY KNOCKOUT

Husband Says Wife Laid Him Low by Blow With Alarm Clock

Usually alarm clocks are employed to raise sleepers, but one in the hands of Mrs. Edna Letcher Broyles put her husband to sleep, according to testimony of Marshall Edgar Broyles at his divorce trial in Superior Judge Sproul's court yesterday.

Broyles said he had been married less than a month when his wife began to attack him with fists and torrents of abuse. Then she hit him with an alarm clock and knocked him out, he said. The divorce was granted.

GINGER ALE
Pale Dry

The LABEL tells the story of ⅓ more for your money

Most dry ginger ales come in little 12-ounce bottles. Clicquot gives you 16 ounces, one full pint. You'll find this information plainly printed on the label

DO YOU know how much ginger ale you're really getting when you ask for a pint? If you want to know, just read the label. The fluid contents are printed there by government requirement.

Most of the so-called "pints" of dry ginger ale sold today actually contain a scanty 12 ounces. One-third less than a pint. Perhaps you've been buying one of these ginger ales and have never known that you weren't getting full pint measure.

In the past, many women made this error, but today you'll find thousands and thousands of thrifty buyers who always insist on Clicquot Club Pale Dry.

The full pint, they find, is much more economical than the 12-ounce bottle or the family size near-quart. Not only have women been enthusiastic about our policy of giving full-size pints, they are loud in their praises of Clicquot Club flavor too.

Clicquot Club has long been famous as the ginger ale that is aged 6 months in the making. And today more women than ever are learning about the rare and mellow flavor that our patient ageing process gives this ginger ale.

Made from finest Jamaica ginger, pure table sugar, real fruit flavors and pure spring water, Clicquot Club has a flavor that cannot be excelled. And when mellowed by age it has a taste unequalled in any other ginger ale. Clicquot Club Pale Dry is fully carbonated for added zest and sparkle.

Just go to your dealer and compare a bottle of Clicquot Club Pale Dry with any other nationally known dry ginger ale. Note the 4 extra ounces Clicquot gives you. Note, too, its rare and more mellow flavor. We're sure that you'll agree with thousands of other housewives here who say, "No other ginger ale will do."

ADLER AND GORE SEEK PROBATION

Bank Robbers Withdraw Insanity Pleas

Pair Convicted in Hold-up of Seaboard Branch

Disposal of Air Line Tickets Puzzles Judge

Harry S. Adler and Charles Gore, convicted of bank robbery, yesterday withdrew their insanity pleas in Superior Judge Schmidt's court, and filed applications for probation, which will be heard on the 11th inst.

With this indication that the case will not be appealed, Judge Schmidt was confronted with a peculiar problem in the disposal of two airplane tickets to Kansas City, found in the possession of the convicted men after they were arrested. The tickets cost $120 each, and it was the theory of police that the bank robbers, intending to escape east by air, spent part of their booty for transportation.

However, it is impossible to identify the money received for the tickets as bank plunder, so the tickets, while in possession of the court as evidence, are signed by the defendants, and may be claimed as their property.

Adler robbed the Wilshire-Vermont branch of the Seaboard National Bank, April 24, last, obtaining $3200 from the manager, Hugh L. Brink, and escaping in an automobile driven by Gore. The robbers were arrested after a motorcycle policeman had recognized their car from its description on a parking-station wash rack, and a number plate was found to be defaced.

APPEALS DUE TODAY

Appeals are scheduled to be heard by the City Council today against the confirmation of assessments for the improvement of Pico Boulevard between Crenshaw and Robertson boulevards, La Brea avenue between Sunset and Hollywood boulevards, and One Hundred and Twelfth street between Avalon Boulevard and Figueroa street, and also for the installation of lights on La Brea avenue between Franklin and Fountain avenues.

POWELL QUITS DETECTIVE ROLES

Harold Lloyd to Take Trip After Completing Comedy; Universal Produces Thrilling Circus Serial; Norman McLeod Given Directorship

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

William Powell

Delivered from the toils of the law and all its machinations, professionally speaking, William Powell will next be seen in a story of high society in New York. Of late the popular Paramount star has been playing crooks, detectives and high-power lawyers, with no chance seen for him ever to escape; but there have been so many demands on the part of the public to see him in some other style of role, and he himself has so much wanted to break away from that kind of story, that Paramount is now giving in to the mounting demand.

The new story will be entitled "Ladies' Man," and was written by Rupert Hughes. It is a published magazine story. Edmund Goulding will direct, and the production will start on August 18.

The story is a dress-up yarn of a New York man-about-town, and as William Powell is now in Europe, doubtless he will stop in London long enough to find out just what the ultra-well-dressed man is wearing, and will bring home a wardrobe. He and Ronald Colman are traipsing about Europe together.

Nella Walker Busy

Nella Walker, former vaudeville headliner, is being allowed a single day since she came to Hollywood in which to look around her.

Now Miss Walker has signed up with First National to play a featured role in "Hot Heiress," which Clarence Badger is directing.

The actress has appeared in two pictures for Warner Brothers and one for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Norman McLeod Signed

Norman McLeod, for many years a writer for motion pictures and more recently a director, has been given a directorial contract by Paramount Publix Corporation, it was announced yesterday by the organization. So far he has received no assignment of story.

The new director started in motion pictures shortly after the war, and made his first success as an illustrator for Christie Comedy titles in the silent days. He has contributed to the making of many Paramount productions, including "Wings" and more recently "Young Eagles." At one time he was under contract to Fox as a director.

HAROLD LLOYD WILL TAKE LONG JOURNEY

HAROLD LLOYD

A long journey, either to Europe, where he has long promised himself a tour, or to the Hawaiian Islands and possibly on to the Orient, is to be undertaken by Harold Lloyd and his wife as soon as he completes his current comedy.

This news was forthcoming from the comedian himself yesterday, when he was relating some of the incidents of his trip to Hawaii. During that trip on the boat, he tore a ligament of his leg, and it looked as though it would take the entire time of the voyage for the member to heal, but luckily it was well in a day or two. And whereas he was warned that most of his ship shots would probably come out badly, they were, on the other hand, except for three or four, entirely satisfactory. All of which is naturally very pleasing to the popular funmaker.

"I've been promising my wife and myself a trip to Europe for years," he said. "I've never been over there, and I'm interested in just everything there is to see. I'm going if it is possible; that is, if I find I don't have to start a picture right away. If I do have to start another soon, I shall at least take a trip to the Hawaiian Islands. As I spent only four days there, I'm extremely curious to know what the islands hold for the sightseer, and I'm certainly going to make it my business to find out."

There is, of course, the possibility that Lloyd may continue on and take a peep at Japan.

Universal Makes Serial

ALBERTA VAUGHN

Although "All Quiet on the Western Front," which might be called a tall-brow production, is making a sensational success, both here and in New York, still Universal, its producer, does not feel above making an honest penny by turning out one of those old-fashioned exciting serials that it knows so well how to make.

Indeed that's what the organization is planning to do. "The Big Circus" will be the title of the chapter play, and in it Alberta Vaughn and Francis X. Bushman, Jr., will be featured.

Robert F. Hill will direct, and work is to be commenced within the next few days. Hill formerly had charge of the old Universal zoo. He is also to play a part in the picture.

Tom Jackson Another Detective

THOMAS E. JACKSON

Tom Jackson has become another detective. He has been signed by First National to appear in that capacity in "Little Caesar," which Mervyn Leroy will direct.

The actor first made a sensational hit as the detective in the stage production of "Broadway." Since that time he has appeared in a number of similar roles on the screen, as well as in other types of parts, including a gangster in a Fox picture, a racketeer in "The Fall Guy" and a football coach in "Good News."

Walter Pidgeon Plays Lead

Walter Pidgeon, none other, has been cast in the leading male role in "The Gorilla," which First National is producing as a talker. The role is a romantic lead, but will offer Pidgeon some good acting opportunities despite the fact that the story is a mystery meller.

Jury Locked Up in Case Charging Deed Swindling

The jury which heard the evidence against Owen E. Wyatt, charged with several trust deed frauds, was last night locked up on orders of Superior Judge Aggeler, when they failed to agree after the case had been given to them yesterday afternoon.

Wyatt was charged with defrauding Herbert Rear of $12,464, Emil Barbul of $3280 and Opal Dempster of $4750 in trust deed transactions. Wyatt was convicted at a previous trial but won a new trial charging that he had been tried without a jury without first having given his consent. This time, Wyatt was tried before a jury. The trial lasted nearly three weeks.

Whispers in the Wings

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

THESE be days of plans and counter-plans along the theatrical rialto. What with only five theaters open at the present, with nine promising to reopen in the next four or six weeks, there are all sorts of ventures afoot, which will probably burst into being at the same moment.

There is talk, for one thing, of doing a new Lynn Starling comedy presently. George Sherwood is interested in the production and will probably stage and manage it. Starling, as most people know, wrote "Meet the Wife," "In His Arms" and "Weak Sisters," all good box-office. Franklin Pangborn played the latter at the Majestic a number of years ago and only last season revived it at the Vine-street.

Casting for "Fata Morgana"

Arthur Greville Collins, who is staging "Fata Morgana" at the Hollywood Playhouse, is to be seen about that theater with a somewhat harassed look upon his countenance. Collins has yet to find a supporting cast for Elsie Ferguson in this drama, which will mark the one-time famous star's return to the stage.

Although nothing had been definitely settled late yesterday afternoon when I dropped into the theater, there seemed a strong probability that Tom Douglas, a young English actor, might be persuaded to fill the important role of the boy. Douglas starred in this part in the London production, and followed it with "Merton of the Movies." He is known in New York for his work in "Young Love," the Samson Raphaelson play in which Dorothy Gish appeared.

"Oh Judge" to Vine-street

They've named the new musical comedy by Lucien Denni, Gwen Meredith, George Bowles and Edward Elsner, which is coming to the Vine-street in two or three weeks, "Oh Judge." He must be rather a dashing figure, this "judge," for the musical pieces of the show include "The Spanish Drag," "Love is in the Air" and "Little Love Nest on the Hill."

Elsner is staging the show. It seems he not only has staged all of the recent Noel Coward plays, including "Bitter Sweet," but was a major figure in the productions of the late Charles Frohman, directed Maude Adams for three years, and staged plays for Pauline Frederick, Jeanne Eagels and Lenore Ulric. Denni, who wrote the music, used to be a musical director for Ziegfeld.

Casting for "Oh Judge" has already started, I am told.

Perry Askam at Loew's

Coming to Loew's State on the 10th inst. will be that full-throated baritone singer, Perry Askam, late of "New Moon," the Lillian Albertson-Louis Macloon musical. Askam has been a prime favorite locally ever since "The Desert Song" and the announcement of his appearance will no doubt cause an onslaught on Loew's box office.

Music Guild Formed

News of the organization of the Music Guild of Los Angeles to take up the production of Victor Herbert light opera, where the recent Ferris Hartman company left off, was brought to this desk yesterday. A. H. Mauer is to be general manager, Hartman, producer, and Hans Linne, musical director.

The guild has 200 persons pledged to membership and is out after 1000. All the money from these memberships is to go toward putting on a light opera season at the Philharmonic Auditorium. Members of Linne's radio broadcasting orchestra will compose the orchestra for the season. "The Fortune Teller," "Mme. Modiste" and "The Red Mill" are among the first pieces to be produced. No dates yet.

"Rebound" on Its Way

"Rebound," the Donald Ogden Stewart comedy, in which Ina Claire is to be seen at the Belasco shortly, started on its way in San Francisco Monday evening at the Curran Theater. The critics' notices have not yet come through, but the report is that the play was well received. John Gilbert, reported to be ill with ptomaine poisoning, was not present either at the Santa Barbara or San Francisco openings.

In Miss Claire's supporting cast are Robert Williams, Walter Walker, Lex Lindsay, Moon Carroll, Corinne Rosse, Joseph de Stefani, Vida Buckland, Pierre D'Ennery, Zoila Conan and Charles Schneider.

Fourth of July Matinee

The only Fourth of July matinee in town—that is, at the stage playhouses—will occur at El Capitan Theater, according to Matt Allen, manager.

Mr. Allen also points out, not without justifiable pride, that El Capitan, the oldest playhouse in Hollywood, is at the moment the only Hollywood theater now open and furthermore it has never, since going under the Henry Duffy banner, lost a single performance in some three years.

In case you are interested in the Fourth of July matinee, "Nancy's Private Affair" is the attraction.

"Second Man" to Pasadena

Comedienne Has Different Type of Picture Role

New roles for old. Nancy Carroll, petite actress who pleased in comedienne parts in "Honey" and "Sweetie," will be seen and heard in a new type of screen role in "The Devil's Holiday" her latest Paramount effort starting tomorrow at the Million Dollar Theater.

Included in the supporting cast are Hobart Bosworth, James Kirkwood, Ned Sparks, Morgan Farley, Jed Prouty, Paul Lukas, Morton Downey and Zasu Pitts.

"Hot Curves" Forms Holiday Fare

Alice Day

Plays an important role in the film starting at the California Theater Friday. Benny Rubin is starred in this tale of baseball, romance and comedy.

"BRIGHT LIGHTS" BOOKED

"Bright Lights," new First National Technicolor production, starts at Warner Brothers Downtown Theater Friday. Dorothy Mackaill heads the cast, which includes Frank Fay and Noah Beery.

The story of "Bright Lights" moves through picturesque locales, originating in an African cafe and carrying the heroine through a rise to success on New York's Broadway. Miss Mackaill, formerly a Follies dancer, has her first opportunity to exhibit her terpsichorean art in the picture, it is said.

Others in the supporting cast include Daphne Pollard, James Murray, Tom Dugan, Ines Courtney, Frank McHugh, Edmund Breese, Eddie Nugent and Philip Strange. Michael Curtis directed.

Billie Dove in "A Nororious Affair," a First National and Vitaphone production, with Basil Rathbone and Kay Francis, closes at the Downtown Theater Thursday.

NEW FILMS ANNOUNCED AT ARTISTS

Moran and Mack Picture Starts Off Schedule for 1930-31 Season

Five outstanding pictures are included in the list of future bookings at the United Artists' Theater as announced by Leon Levy, manager.

Following the current attraction of William Powell in "Shadow of the Law," will be "Anybody's War," starring the noted Two Black Crows, Moran and Mack.

The other pictures, all produced by United Artists, include Ronald Colman in "Raffles," Gloria Swanson in "What a Widow!;" Norma Talmadge in "Du Barry, a Woman of Passion," and Walter Huston in D. W. Griffith's "Abraham Lincoln."

"Raffles" is said to be Ronald Colman's outstanding talking-screen production. In it, he returns to the "Bulldog Drummond" type of role.

Gloria Swanson's "What a Widow," is called a smart comedy. Lew Cody and Owen Moore head the supporting cast.

"Du Barry, Woman of Passion," is said to mark the triumph of Norma Talmadge's screen career. She is supported by Conrad Nagel, William Farnum and Hobart Bosworth. "Abraham Lincoln," starring Walter Huston, is D. W. Griffith's first all-talking production.

Moran and Mack in "Anybody's War," is tentatively set for the 9th inst.

Prison Picture Brings Letters to Criterion

The Criterion Theater has received many letters regarding "The Big House," the current attraction, according to the management. These letters are from prison officials, former inmates of penitentiaries, wives and sweethearts of prisoners and others.

Invariably the letters praise the authenticity of the picture, it is said. Many letters inquire whether the tanks used in the picture were the ones employed at Folsom. In answer to this inquiry the Criterion announces that the tanks are the same ones.

The makers of "The Big House" wish to point out, however, that the picture is a composite of features of many American penitentiaries and of no particular one.

"I had a good time seeing 'The Big House,'" writes a man who appends his former penitentiary number to his letter. "What I liked about it was that it has plenty of laughs. Beery is just like a guy I knew in Leavenworth. He was a killer, this guy, but he could make you laugh your head off one minute and then tell you he was going to blast you the next."

PRODUCER TO START FILM REHEARSALS

Roland West's "The Bat Whispers," film comedy drama featuring Chester Morris, will enter rehearsals at the United Artists' studios within the week, according to announcement. The vehicle is the producer's first undertaking since "Alibi," and also marks Morris's first work on the Artists lot since that production.

CRITIC TALKS ON MUSIC OF SPAIN

Olin Downes Appears Before Distinguished Audience at Biltmore

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

Olin Downes, eminent critic of the New York Times, gave an intimate talk on his recent musical journey through Spain at the Biltmore last night that was enjoyed by a distinguished audience. The lecture was sponsored by Mrs. Richard Fudger in the interests of the coming Bowl season, and Mr. Downes was introduced with a few fitting words by Jose Mojica.

Mr. Downes's reflections on Spain gave the listeners a vivid picture of the life and spirit of a nation which he declares to be the most truly musical in the world. The music lore of Spain, which he cited as the oldest and the most varied existent, is only beginning to be realized through the songs of the people which are to be heard constantly in the streets and the restaurants. He spoke of this life and of this people as being truly aristocratic, possessing all the charm of ancient tradition in the reality of the present time.

Illustrating his talk with rare records of singing, guitar playing, flute playing and bands, Mr. Downes closed with excerpts of De Falla's "Le Amor Brujo," saying that this music was derived from the primitive folk song of Spain which had been raised to beauty by a great artist.

Mr. Downes will lecture at U.C.L.A. this afternoon and tomorrow.

"MERRY WHIRL" PLEASES

The current Follies show, "Merry Whirl," lives up to its title. Evelyn Myers, soubrette, and Bumps Mack, comedian, are the featured players and make the most of their opportunities. Ray parsons, playing a comedy role, has a quiet but spontaneous brand of humor. Tex Oliver and Melba Roy are seen and heard in dances and songs.

ROLLICKING FARCE PLAYS AT BILTMORE

Jacob Ben-Ami and Troupe Enact "Green Fields" in Convincing Fashion

BY JACOB COOPER

The second play in the repertoire of the Yiddish Art Theater was performed last night at the Biltmore Theater, and was in direct contrast to the first offering. "Green Fields," by Perets Hirshbein, one of the foremost living Yiddish writers, was as rollicking a comedy as could be conceived.

Hirshbein leans heavily toward the depiction of pastoral life in his writings and the company last night seemed to catch the very spirit of rustic humor which the author intended to portray. There were moments when some of the cast overacted, thereby tending to lean a little too much toward the farcical, but on the whole it was a clear-cut and highly enjoyable interpretation.

The plot deals with the arrival of a young, esthetic Hebrew teacher in a small colony of Jewish farmers in Poland. He is gladly welcomed in the home of one of the farmers who treats him as an honored guest and employs him to teach his sons. The daughter of the house falls in love with him and is forced to resort to naive, feminine wiles in order to capture him, in which, of course, she succeeds.

Jacob Ben-Ami played the part of the young teacher—a part in which he was able to reveal a refined and deliberate technique carrying the conviction of simplicity. There was no hint of the "star system" marring the unity of this play. Ben-Ami did not force his personality on the audience to the exclusion of his support, but allowed each actor free play in his respective delineation.

The cast throughout was good, and each character was vividly drawn. There was a feeling throughout that one would want to see more of Ann Appel, who played the mother of the household. This splendid actress won quite a bit of attention when the company played here last year. She is the perennial Jewish mother.

Morris Strassberg gave a highly sympathetic portrayal of the father. In point of honors, it was a toss-up as to who dominated the male portion of the cast—Strassberg or Ben-Ami. Bertha Gersten, in the role of the daughter, brought some fine bits of comedy which proved to be the highlights of the play—in the second act especially, where she puts on her Sabbath best, washes her hands, face and feet in a bucket of water and mirrors herself in a water barrel.

The two brothers, played by Anatol Winogradoff and Lazar Freed, and the work of Anna Teitelbaum, Louis Weissberg and Judith Abarbanel as the neighbors, were all equally adept in their roles and gave support which was decidedly up to a par with the balance of the cast.

After seeing the company last year, one misses in its present appearance something of the force which Maurice Schwartz used to impart through his direction. There seems to be less attention paid to minute detail and mass effect, which Schwartz used to build up a more colossal unity.

It is to be regretted that the company is substituting another play in the place of Ibsen's "Doll's House," which was scheduled for tomorrow night. Tonight, the company will offer their first of three performances of "Jew Suss."

Gala Event to Mark Return of Warner Revues

Street decorations, flood lights and a general festive carnival effect will be in order for the return of Larry Ceballos and his revues to Warner Brothers' Hollywood Theater Friday. "Nancy from Naples" is to have its world premiere with the Ceballos revue.

Three new film names are included in the picture. These are Irene Delroy, popular Broadway stage player and the two comedians, Olsen and Johnson.

Others in the cast are Charles King, Lotti Loder, Viennese comedienne, Lowell Sherman, Noah Beery and Charles Judels.

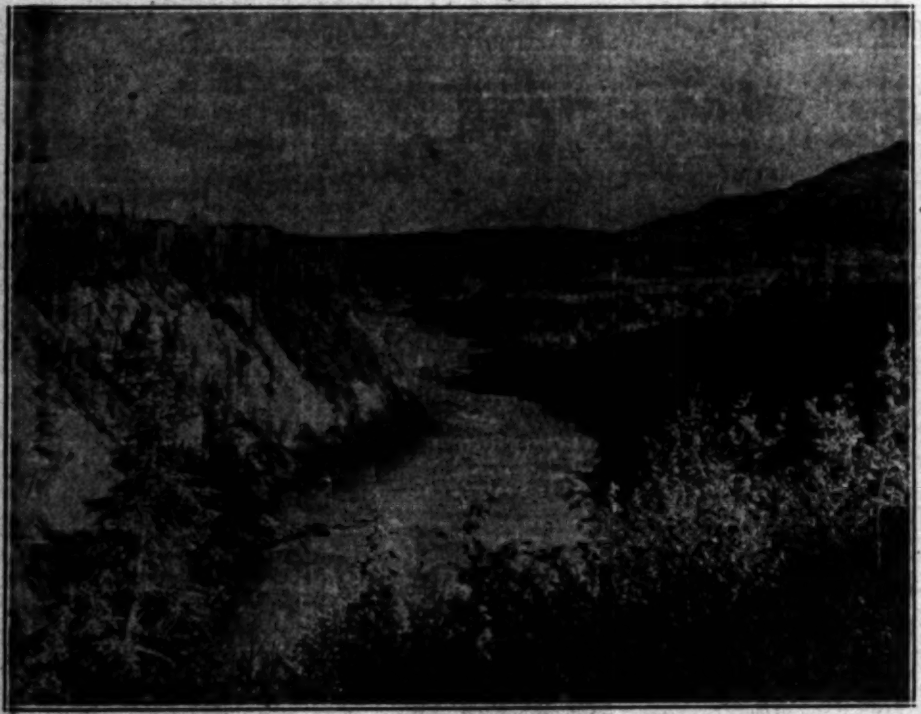
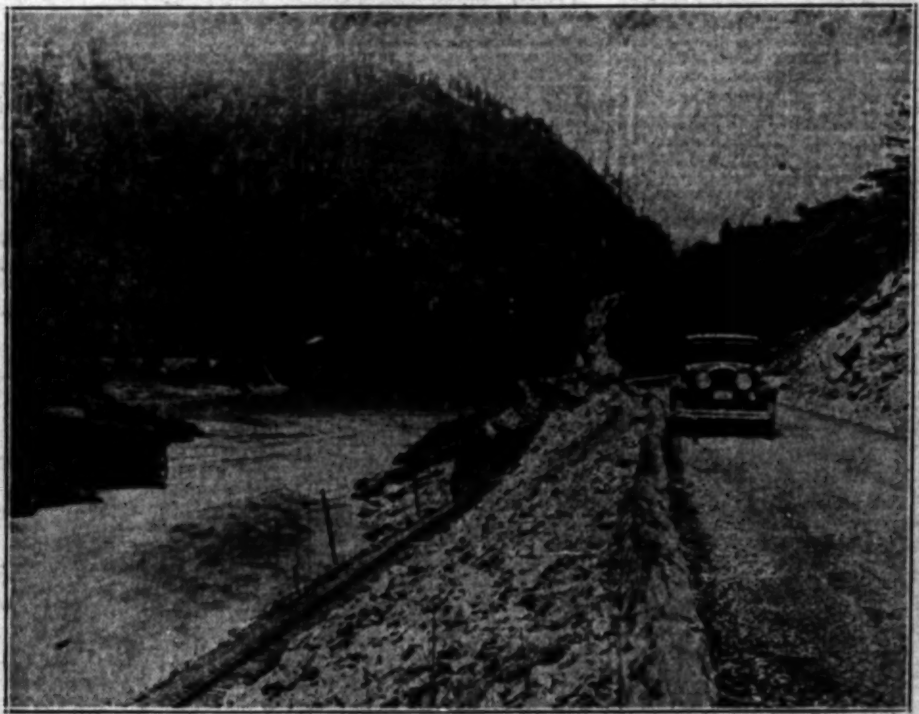
World's Longest Highway, From Argentina to Alaska, A Possibility





A Highway From Argentina to Alaska, the Longest Possible Stretch of Continuous Highway in the World, is proposed by Portland (Or.) auto officials. MOTORED SQUAD NOT TO INCREASE

Police Board Rescinds Its Action of Monday to Buy Fifty New Motorcycles

On motion of Commissioner Thorpe the Police Commission yesterday voted unanimously to rescind its action of Monday when it approved awarding the contract for fifty new motorcycles for the police department to the Henderson motorcycle concern, highest bidder, at $17,987.50.

The motion carried with it the abandonment of the idea of any increase in the police motorcycle division at this time, because of shortage of city funds and the need for economy. The action was taken after Mayor Porter had conferred with Thorpe, whose term has expired and who seeks reappointment on the commission.

Thorpe, who has been urging the increase in the number of motorcycle men for several years on the ground that they are necessary, if motor accidents and fatalities are to be curbed, said it would be impossible to take enough men from the ranks of patrolmen for operation of the additional motorcycles, and that therefore it is of no use to buy them.

WOMAN ARRESTED BY STECKEL DENIES CRASH

Arrested by Chief of Police Steckel after an automobile crash at First street and Westmoreland avenue late Monday Vivian Madden, 27 years of age of 202 North Harvard Boulevard, yesterday entered a plea of not guilty to a misdemeanor charge of hit-and-run driving in traffic court. She asked for a jury trial, which Municipal Judge Valentine set for August 5, next. Chief Steckel reported that Miss Martin failed to stop after her machine struck one driven by Morton Buryan, 3816 Clinton street, and that she jumped from her car and ran after his automobile had forced her into the curb.

CAPITAL EARNS HIGH RATE HERE

Finance Expert Argues for Utility Corporation

Investments' Average Yield Put at 8.20 Per Cent

Contented Gas Concern Gives Better Service, He Says

Capital commands a higher rate of return in Los Angeles than it does in New York, Chicago or San Francisco, Paul A. Sinsheimer, financial expert, testified yesterday before the State Railroad Commission in a Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation rate hearing. Sinsheimer offered this statement in connection with testimony that a fair rate of return on the capital invested in the corporation's gas properties would be in excess of 8 per cent.

"By reason of Los Angeles' unusual growth the requirements for capital in Los Angeles over a series of years have been abnormal and, therefore, capital has received a somewhat higher rate than in other cities of similar size and importance," Sinsheimer said.

RETURNS HIGH HERE

Sinsheimer said further that a special investment list, compiled from the securities of major enterprises centering in Los Angeles and forming to a substantial degree the city's industrial life, yield 8.20 per cent. The return, including undistributed surplus, he related, substantially exceeds this figure.

"It is clear, therefore, that a natural gas enterprise such as is maintained by the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, to compete for capital in the Los Angeles territory, must be able to earn a return of not less than 8 per cent," Sinsheimer said.

MANY OWNERS

The witness testified that the corporation serves a population of 1,800,000 persons. Its securities, he went on, are ownew by several thousand persons. Together with its parent company, the Pacific Lighting Corporation, he said, it numbers among its stockholders approximately 12,000 residents of California.

"It employs 3119 persons resident in Los Angeles," he testified, "and its gross earnings in 1929 of $23,902,896.79 were largely disbursed in the city for materials, supplies, wages, interest and dividends to stockholders."

MEASURED BY PROFIT

Sinsheimer said that the service of any public utility is directly dependent upon its rate of return expressed in earnings. A rate of return unduly low, impairing service, is against the public interest, he declared. A rate of return under enlightened public policy, he asserted, should be sufficiently generous to bring about the fullest measure of service in the public interest and to maintain and preserve the economic and social well-being of the community.

Sinsheimer was preceded on the witness stand by Victor H. Rossetti, executive vice-president of the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank, who asserted that a public utility should receive a return of between 8 and 9 per cent on its capital investment.

The commission believes that a return of between 7 and 7.5 per cent would be reasonable.

CONVICTION IN PANTAGES CASE STANDS

McGee, Private Detective, Loses Appeal in Bribery Attempt Affair

The conviction of William R. McGee, a private detective, on charges of attempted bribery in connection with the case of Mrs. Lois Pantages, is upheld by Division One, District Court of Appeal, in a decision handed down yesterday.

McGee was adjudged guilty in Superior Judge Fricke's court of having offered a bribe to Officer W. H. Dutton to maintain silence about a phase of the automobile accident in which a car driven by Mrs. Pantages fatally injured a Japanese gardener.

"Say you know nothing about that liquor," McGee was declared to have told Officer Dutton. "If you can do anything to fix this up everything will be fixed up fine for you."

McGee contended that the evidence was insufficient, that the court committed prejudicial errors and that the facts were insufficient to constitute an offense.

The opinion was written by Justice York. Presiding Justice Conrey and Justice Houser concurred.

Break in Health Forces Lila Lee to Quit Film Role

LILA LEE.

Due to a breakdown in health, Lila Lee, film actress, has been compelled to give up an important role in a current picture production and make plans for a rest, it was learned yesterday.

On advice of her physician Miss Lee withdrew from the leading feminine role in "Little Caesar," which soon goes into production at First National, and yesterday was arranging to leave the city for some near-by health resort.

For the past two months Miss Lee has been suffering from a severe cold and her physician is said to have advised a change of climate. She plans, her friends say,

OPERA SINGER WINS SUCCESS IN LIEGE

Hope Hampton

Hope Hampton, former Hollywood screen actress who turned grand opera singer, was a sensation last night in the role of "Manon" at the Liege (Belgium) civic opera company, according to advices received here. Playing to standing room audience the singer repeated the success she scored last summer in the Opera Comique, Paris.

Local music lovers are to hear this singer in "Manon" when she appears with the Los Angeles Grand Opera Association during the fall repertoire, which begins September 29. The famed tenor, Beniamino Gigli, will sing opposite her.

Before returning to America she will sing before the King and Queen of Spain in the San Sebastian opera company. Miss Hampton will also appear with the San Francisco Grand Opera Association.

SUIT BEGUN OVER FUND FOR CHARITY

Committee Asks Control of Money Raised to Aid City Mother's Work

Chief of Police Steckel, the members of the Police Commission, City Mother Elizabeth Fiske and others are named defendants in a suit filed in the Municipal Court by Elizabeth Korbel, member of the City Mother's advisory board appointed by Mrs. Aletha Gilbert when she was City Mother, for over $1500 in cash and the furniture of the City Mother's Bureau.

The defendants were notified yesterday to answer the suit, which is the outgrowth of a controversy over the cash and furniture following the appointment of Miss Fiske as City Mother, after she had topped the first test held by the Civil Service Commission for this position.

The advisory committee, appointed to raise funds for charitable work of the department, contended that it should have supervision of the cash and claimed ownership of the furniture. The committee appealed to the Police Commission several months ago to sustain this stand.

The commission asked the City Attorney's office for a ruling and was informed that since the cash and furniture were obtained by the committee in connection with the City Mother's work the latter has jurisdiction. The suit then followed.

YACHT HARBOR PLAN ADVANCED

Santa Monica Takes Action on Breakwater Project

Call for Bids on Franchise Ordered by City Council

Move Commended by Realty Board of Bay Section

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, July 1.—The first legal step toward realization of this city's dream of a breakwater and yacht harbor off the municipal pier was taken today when the City Council, after reviewing an ordinance drafted by City Attorney Coffin, ordered the immediate advertising for sale of the breakwater franchise. Bids will be received until August 4, next, when the actual sale will take place.

At the City Hall it is not believed there will be any bidders competing with the syndicate, which last month filed a formal application for such a franchise. This group includes O. K. Hunsaker, Philip Ilsley and C. E. Hewing, all Los Angeles financiers. They made first approaches in their project through Fred S. Wilson, municipal industrial secretary, and were furnished a large amount of data.

Actual construction on the breakwater must start within four months after the sale of the franchise, the Council ruled today, and the first breakwater unit must be completed within eighteen months. A $50,000 surety bond protecting the city against any possible damage to ocean-front property must be posted. It is regarded as certain that all these requirements will be met.

City officials today received the commendation of the Santa Monica Bay Realty Board for their prompt action on the project, which promises, the indorsement recites, to bring to this city a development of tremendous value financed by private capital. Yachting enthusiasts from many cities have expressed their full support of the project.

Judge Considers Motion of Mix

Superior Judge Westover yesterday took under advisement the motion of Tom Mix, screen cowboy, that he be relieved of further payments to Mrs. Ruth Mix Gilmore, his 17-year-old daughter who recently eloped to Arizona with Douglas Gilmore.

Mix held that inasmuch as his daughter was married, he was no longer responsible for her support. Mrs. Gilmore replied that her father promised to support her until she was 21, when he divorced her mother two years ago.

ORATORY POPULAR

Public speaking leads in popularity at the evening summer classes given by the extension division of the University of California at Eighth and Hill streets, which opened Monday. Accounting is a close second and short-story writing third. It is anticipated that the enrollment will be heavy in phonetics, a new system just being introduced for training students in the correct use of the voice.

PIONEER OF RADIO FAME TO ARRIVE

Dr. DeForest, Inventor of Vacuum Tube and Sound Film, on Way Here

Dr. Lee DeForest, known as the father of radio, president of the Institute of Radio Engineers, is due to arrive in Los Angeles tomorrow for a two-day inspection of motion-picture studios, coming from San Francisco, where he has just attended the Western Radio Trade Show and convention.

While the fame of Dr. DeForest rests chiefly on his invention of the vacuum tube which made broadcasting and other branches of modern radio possible, he is recognized as the pioneer in sound-on-film talking pictures. The modern talkies are dependent on the vacuum tube and the vacuum tube amplifier, both inventions of Dr. DeForest, and are indebted to him further for his research and development of sound recording and reproduction from film itself.

From 1920 to 1923 Dr. DeForest experimented with talking pictures in New York and Europe, later organizing DeForest Phonofilms.

Freedom and Fortune Given Pasadena Wife

Trust funds totaling $175,000 yesterday were approved by Superior Judge Bowron after granting Mrs. Elsie Ogle a divorce from George B. Ogle, a Pasadena millionaire. Mrs. Ogle complained that her husband called her a "gold digger."

In the settlement Mrs. Ogle is given a trust fund of $100,000 for her support and an additional $75,000 fund for her two youngest children, Alden, 4 years of age, and William, 2. Custody of their eldest child, Robert, 9, is given the father by the terms of the agreement. Ogle is eighteen years olden than his wife, it was brought out at the hearing. He did not contest.

Ogle made affidavit, before the agreement was reached, that his wife had furs and jewelry valued at $90,000 and that she had an income of her own sufficient for her support.

BUS LINES PREPARE FOR HOLIDAY RUSH

Record-breaking travel to California's numerous recreation centers during the Fourth of July three-day holiday is being anticipated by motor-coach lines and preparations have been completed to put in service additional equipment to transport the thousands of holiday pleasure seekers. According to E. E. Sullivan, general agent of Pacific Greyhound Lines, the movement to mountain, lake and ocean resorts is already under way. Frequent motor-coach services to ocean beaches, mountain beauty spots and the Los Angeles City Playground in the High Sierra country, bring virtually every recreation center within a few hours of the various population centers, Sullivan said.

ELKS WILL START FOR CONVENTION TONIGHT

Elks of Los Angeles Lodge No. 99 tonight at 6:45 o'clock will start the long trek to the Grand Lodge Reunion at Atlantic City, where the convention of the Order is to assemble next Monday. The journey will be made on the California Elks Special over the Overland Trail Route to Chicago and Niagara Falls to the seaside city, the delegation from Los Angeles and the surrounding Southern California towns joining hands at Oakland with the northern delegation. Prominent members of the local lodge who will attend include Past Exalted Ruler John J. Doyle, Past Exalted Ruler Edward A. Gibbs, and Dr. Ralph Hagan.

An invitation will be extended by Seattle lodge to hold the 1931 convention in that city.

HOLIDAY FUNDS VOTED

One thousand dollars was appropriated by the City Council yesterday to aid the Park and the Playground and Recreation departments to conduct their Fourth of July celebrations. The Park Department will get $800 and divide it evenly among the Hollenbeck, Lincoln and Westlake Parks and the Venice celebration, and the Playground and Recreation Department will get $200.

FIRE DANGER REDUCED BY ROAD WORK

Many Jobless Men Also Aided by Clearing of Threatened Areas

Nine miles of roadside clearing and 16.7 miles of firebreak have been constructed in the Santa Monica Mountains during the past few months, according to figures just released by Fire Chief Scott through Fire Captain A. F. Bergendorf, in charge of the city's forest fire prevention project. The program called for the expenditure of $30,000 and was designed to remove serious fire menaces in this area as well as provide employment for jobless men.

The work done was the clearing of a strip along roadsides through particularly dangerous areas to a width of twenty feet. Franklin Canyon, Benedict Canyon and Beverly Glen were thoroughly cleared and the work is well started along Mulholland High Way from Topanga Canyon east. Approximately ten miles of Mulholland High Way remain to be protected. The firebreak is sixty feet wide.

In order to make the fund give assistance to as many men as possible the policy was adopted of employing two crews for three days a week each. Approximately 5120 man days of work were paid for at the rate of $4 per day in firebreak work, but figures are not yet available for the men employed in clearing roadsides.

The fund was appropriated by the city through the efforts of the Los Angeles County Conservation Association upon the recommendation of W. S. Rosecrans, president, and O. T. Johnson, member of the board of directors.

Board Approves Officer's Ousting

Attending church in full uniform in an intoxicated condition was frowned on by the Police Commission yesterday when it approved the action of Chief of Police Steckel in removing from the department Patrolman Elmer W. Lindsay.

Steckel reported his action to the commission as follows:

"I have removed from the department Officer Elmer W. Lindsay for conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman in that on June 15, 1930, he appeared at the church of Dr. Augustus Briegleb in an intoxicated condition in full uniform."

PAY ROLL CUT POSTPONED

Discharge of 203 Employees by City Engineer Due to Budget Slash to be Held Up

The threatened discharge of 203 employees of the city's engineering department because of the reduction in the department's salary allowance in the new budget will be averted for at least two months, it was announced following a conference on the matter yesterday between City Engineer Jessup and the members of the Board of Public Works.

On Monday Jessup laid a report before the board in which he listed the employees who would have to be dropped because of the retrenchment made necessary by the cut in his department's budget appropriation. Later in the day Public Works Commissioner Wirsching took the matter up with Mayor Porter and the latter stated that he is opposed to the dropping of any city employees from the pay roll at this time unless the step is absolutely necessary.

He pointed out, according to Wirsching, that in this particular case it is not necessary, since the City Council in reducing the budget appropriations had made the proviso that during the months of July and August the various departments would be allowed to exceed their budget appropriations by one-twelfth in each month.

Then, on September 1, after the total assessed valuation of nonoperative property in the city has been learned and an exact estimate of the city's tax revenue has been made, the employees will be retained if the estimate comes up to the Mayor's expectations. If the estimate of revenue is no greater than that upon which the Council based its slashes in the budget, the retrenchment program will probably be put into effect in the Engineering Department and many other departments as well.

"Therefore," explained Wirsching after yesterday's conference, "we told Engineer Jessup not to lay off anyone at this time."

Wynne Bullock Returns Home

Wynne Bullock, tenor, returned to Los Angeles yesterday after a year and a half spent in concert work and study in France and Italy. He is here on a visit to his mother, Municipal Judge Bullock, and other members of his family.

Mr. Bullock was formerly with the New York Music Box Revue, first as understudy to John Steele and later as leading tenor of the show.

Upon recommendation of the late Henry Rothwell, conductor of the Los Angeles Symphony Orchestra, he relinquished the stage to prepare himself for concert work. He has since won recognition abroad.

FRAUD LAID TO BOARD IN JOB TANGLE

Ex-Building Manager at City Hall Asks Inquiry Into Resignation

An appeal for an investigation into the circumstances surrounding his resignation as building manager of the City Hall, which he asserts was obtained "by fraud, trickery and device," was filed by George Leigh Rodgers with the Los Angeles Civil Service Commission yesterday and referred to a committee.

Rodgers, a civil-service employee, declares that he tendered his resignation to the Board of Public Works after he had been informed that the board intended to abolish the position. When he found that the new budget provided for continuance of the job Rodgers sent a withdrawal of his resignation to the board, he asserts.

The board on Monday filed the request for a withdrawal, accepted the resignation of Rodgers and assigned duties of the position to C. O. Brittain, superintendent of construction, for the present.

The commission yesterday turned down the request of the Board of Public Works that the position of chauffeur-investigator filled by Pierre Wamboldt be permanently exempted from civil-service regulations.

Flower Sale Suit Dropped

Whether a rose by another name is legally a vegetable will not be decided by Superior Judge Crawford in the case of Drusilla Fowler against the McDaniels Food Market of Alhambra.

Mrs. Fowler, owner of a store building, sued to eject her tenants because, she held, they were selling flowers and tobacco in violation of a lease. The case was dismissed when a witness could not be located.

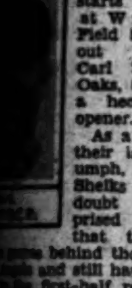
The surprising Stars of Oscar are still on the rampage. They chalked their eighth straight victory and their fourteenth win out of their last sixteen starts yesterday at Wrigley Field by nosing out Magician Carl Zamloch's Oaks, 6 to 5, in a hectic series opener.



As a result of their latest triumph, the Sheiks will no doubt be surprised to learn that they are games behind the league-leaders and still have a slim chance in the first-half reckoning. They are still in fifth place behind the Angels, Oaks, Sacs and

Walter Mails Cops Hurling Duel from Baecht

Seraphs's Lead Reduced to Game and a Half

PORTLAND, July 1.—Portland's Beavers put a crimp in the pennant chances of Jack Lelivelt's Angels by defeating Los Angeles, 3 to 2, in today's series opener. A two-run rally in the ninth inning won the game for the lowly Ducks.

WALTER MAILS

The defeat, combined with Sacramento's double victory over the Missions, reduced the Angels' lead over the Senators to a game and a half.

The contest was a mound duel between Ed Baecht and Walter Mails, with The Great One having a decided edge, inasmuch as both runs made off him were the result of Portland errors.

Ken Williams drove in the Ducks' opening run in the first, but the Angels took advantage of Portland miscues to score twice and take the lead in the sixth.

Williams opened the ninth with a homer to tie the score. Then Rhell singled, took second on a wild pitch, went to third on Orwoll's out and brought in the winning run when Johnny Walters, batting for Johnson,

SUNNY JIM BOTTOMLEY
SLUGGING FIRST BASEMAN OF THE ST LOUIS CARDINALS

Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service Inc.

A guy I like is "Sunny Jim" Bottomley, slugging first-baseman of the St. Louis Cards. You've got to admire the happy-go-lucky style of this rakish guardian of the initial sack on Gabby Street's team, and the cocksure way in which Jim makes his plays, as well as the cheerful line of chatter that rolls out of that grinning mug of his endears him to you right away, whether you want the Cards to win or not.

"Sunny Jim" is not all hot air and swagger, either—no, indeed! He can play first base with anybody in the league and while he doesn't sock that old onion the way Bill Terry does, for instance, he is a true .325 hitter or better, and in 1925 reached the .367 mark. Also, for your information, he batted .345 against the Yankees in 1926, but a mere .214 in that disastrous (for the Cards) four-game series of 1928.

Bottomley's greatest value to his team, aside from his "esprit de corps" (French for "good old pepper!") is his ability to bat in runs. For six years in a row James Leroy Bottomley has knocked in 100 or more runs, which stands as a National League record. And, in September, 1924, the slugging son of Oglesby, Ill., brought in twelve runs in a nine-inning game, getting six hits in six times at bat.

This is how it happened, and dear old Brooklyn was the team he picked on. In the first inning he singled, scoring Mueller and Douthit (that's two runs driven in;) second inning doubled, scoring Sherdel (one more;) fourth inning, hit homer with the bases filled (four more tallies;) sixth inning, another home run, this time scoring Douthit (two;) seventh frame singled, scor-

BY FRANK H. KING
Associated Press Staff Writer

WIMBLEDON (Eng.) July 1. (AP)—The unexpected downfall of Helen Jacobs, America's second ranking tennis player, at the hands of Cecilie Aussem of Germany featured play in the British championships today, but failed to prevent the United States from landing two of its representatives in the semifinal round of the women's singles.

Miss Jacobs, sadly off her game and lacking in stamina, was eliminated in the quarterfinals in straight sets, 6-2, 6-1.

HELEN JACOBS

Elizabeth Ryan, veteran California player, who makes her home in England, came through to the semifinals along with the defending champion, Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, Fraulein Aussem and Mme. Rene Mathieu, who holds Suzanne Lenglen's old place as the first ranking feminine player of France.

Johnny Holds Lead in Finale of Sizzling Bout

Fans Boo Winner of Coast Lightweight Title

BY PAUL LOWRY

Goldie Hess got the boos along with a ten-round decision over Johnny Lamar at the Olympic last night.

JOHNNY LAMAR

It was a free-swinging fight, capped by a sizzling final round, which Lamar won decisively, and Referee Harry Lee's award to Hess did not down with the gallery gods.

It seemed to be a fairly even battle going into the final spasm, and when Lamar beat Hess repeatedly to the punch, smothering him under a volley of blows, he apparently cinched himself nothing worse than a draw.

But Lee figured otherwise, motioned Hess to his corner and held up the Ocean Park boy's hand.

Hess's best rounds were the seventh and eighth. In the seventh he dropped Lamar momentarily with a stomach punch, and the eighth saw Goldie outspear his Mexican foe with a furious attack to the head.

It was a battle of swings on both sides, with little or no straight punching.

Lamar showed to the best advantage in the third and tenth, and won six rounds to his opponent's four. Hess did not hit him at all in the tenth.

Hess's victory carries with it the synthetic title of Pacific Coast lightweight champion possessed by Lamar. The fight was at weight, Hess scaling 134 and Lamar, 134½.

The semi-wind-up was stopped in the fourth round, and the fight awarded to Sammy Jackson over Charley Cobb on a technical knockout.

Jackson had beaten Cobb all the way beside opening a deep cut on his left cheekbone which gushed blood and refused to yield to treatment. Referee Frank Holborrow halted the contest between rounds.

In the other bouts Johnny DeLano defeated Jimmy Alvarado in six rounds, Vincent Martinez won from Joe Soldivar in four rounds, and Luis Ramos copped the four-round opener from Pete Magallanes. The crowd was about 5000 strong.

HASTINGS PARK (Vancouver, B. C.) July 1. (AP)—Tearing up a thirty-inch grade on a hard clay track where horses will race later this month, Eddie Tolan, University of Michigan "Midnight Express," today clipped one-fifth of a second off the world's 100-meter record and handed Percy Williams, Olympic sprint champion, his first defeat at that distance.

BUD TAYLOR LOSES SCRAP TO MASTRO

DETROIT, July 1. (AP)—Earl Mastro, Chicago featherweight, won a referee's decision over Bud Taylor of Terre Haute, Ind., in a ten-round bout at the Michigan State Fair Grounds tonight. Mastro weighed 124, Taylor 125.

Mastro's speedy two-fisted attack had Taylor puzzled throughout most of the rounds and the Chicago youngster was able to keep out of the way of most of Taylor's powerful swings. There were no knockdowns.

BOBBY JONES LANDS IN NEW YORK CITY TODAY

NEW YORK, July 1. (AP)—By train and airplane, up from the land where the golfers grow, came 250 beaming Georgians today to see Atlanta's most prominent citizen get a Broadway welcome.

On the excursion steamer Mandalay they'll go down the bay tomorrow and watch Robert Tyre Jones, Jr., British amateur and open golf champion, escorted from the liner Europa aboard New York City's welcoming yacht, the Macom.

Zack Farmer Says Gigantic Event to be Greatest Ever Staged; Forty Nations to Compete

BY BRAVEN DYER

When the Olympic Games are held in Los Angeles during the summer of 1932 all the action of this gigantic sports event will be crowded into a two-week period.

Such was the announcement yesterday of Zack Farmer, secretary of the Los Angeles organizing committee for the games, made at a luncheon attended by sports writers at the Los Angeles Athletic Club.

ZACK FARMER

The Olympic Games program will open on July 30 and run through August 14. This schedule will include fourteen different branches of athletics comprising approximately 138 separate events. Farmer expects forty nations to compete.

AT LAKE PLACID

Lake Placid, N. Y., will be the scene of the winter sports, but this end of the program is being managed by eastern officials and no announcement of the date for these events has yet been made, although it is expected that they will occur during January or February.

Farmer's report was made following his return from Europe, where he spent ten weeks acquainting athletic leaders with plans for the greatest Olympic Games program ever presented.

The outstanding feature of the Olympic Games congress in Berlin, according to Farmer, was the amazement displayed by European

NATIONAL A.A.U. SWIM MEET OPENS TOMORROW

One hundred and fifty swimmers and divers from all parts of the United States, including Hawaii, are set and ready today for the opening tomorrow at Recreation Park, Long Beach, of the 1930 national A.A.U. championships.

Never before have so many champions entered a national meet and never before have officials predicted a more bitter battle for the team championship as well as for the twenty individual titles.

Tomorrow's program is especially attractive with the 100-meter races for both men and women heading the list of events. Trials will be held in the morning starting at 10:30 o'clock with finals starting at 2:30 p.m. The field in the men's sprint is one of the fastest ever gathered together outside of the Olympic Games. Only Johnny Weissmuller is lacking.

New York Athletic Commission Evolves Method Doing Away with "Foul" Ring Bo

RULE DESIGNED TO CURB FAULT

Low Blows Eliminated by Latest Program

Participants to Provide Own Safety Ideas

Mandell, Singer Promise to Battle Cleanly

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, July 1. (AP)—The New York State Athletic Commission finally solved the foul problem today. It decided there was no such thing.

Listening to the pleas of Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion, and young Al Singer, the "Bronx Beauty," who will battle him for the crown here the 17th inst., the solemn fathers decided upon the most drastic action in its history to curb the curse that has fallen upon major fisticuffs. Singer and Mandell wanted a ruling that would prevent their match ending in a foul. They got it—with trimmings.

NO SUCH THING

The commission, harassed by the growth of the foul plague and already the sponsors of life suspensions for a fourth low blow offender, decided to eliminate fouls entirely. Boxers will devise their own implements of protection, gain the approval of the commission and then go into battle with the knowledge no matter what happens there can be no claim of foul.

To guarantee Singer and Mandell there could be no possibility of a foul in their approaching conflict the commission wrote this clause into their contracts for the match:

"The parties of the first and second part agree to equip themselves with an abdominal guard of their own selection, the type to be approved by the commission, which will obviate the necessity of any foul claim being made during the contest. It is expressly understood this contest is not to terminate by a foul as a protector selected by the boxers is in their own opinion sufficient protection to withstand any so-called low or illegal blow which might temporarily incapacitate either or both parties."

The same clause will be written into all future fight contracts submitted to the commission. All referees have been summoned for conference and instructions all fighters claiming foul in the future shall be promptly counted out.

The new ruling supplants a commission edict that failed in its purpose of eliminating fouls. The solemn fathers voted to suspend a first offender for thirty days, a second offender sixty days, a third violator for six months and a fourth-timer for life. The fouling fighter was to be paid only on the basis of the number of rounds completed. Then the commission waived this rule for the heavyweight title quarrel between Max Schmeling and Jack Sharkey, which ended in a foul and ruined the efficacy of the regulation.

TRAUNG APPROVES LATEST MEASURE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1. (AP)—The new "no foul" ruling for boxing contests adopted today by the New York State Athletic Commission has the hearty approval of Charles F. Traung, San Francisco member of the California State Athletic Commission. Mr. Traung said he would watch with interest the effect of the ruling with a view toward its possible adoption in this State.

Loop Bosses Vote Against Split Season

CHICAGO, July 1. (AP)—The American Association today voted against a proposed split season and pledged anew its allegiance and adherence to final decisions handed down by Kenesaw Mountain Landis, high commissioner of organized baseball.

The allegiance pledge to Commissioner Landis, made in a special resolution, indicated the suit filed in Federal Court by the Milwaukee club, to restrain enforcement of Landis's transfer order on Outfielder Bennett of that club would be withdrawn.

HELEN JACOBS MEETS DEFEAT

6-3, 2-6, 6-0. Mrs. Moody overwhelmed England's latest schoolgirl sensation, Phyllis Mudford, 6-1, 6-2, and Mme. Mathieu disposed of Joan Ridley of England, 6-2, 6-1.

In the semifinals tomorrow Miss Ryan meets Fraulein Aussem, while Queen Helen opposes Mme. Mathieu.

In doubles, also, Mrs. Moody and Miss Ryan went into the semifinal round. This strong combination, which recently won the French championship, eliminated an English team consisting of Mrs. Randolph Lycett and Mrs. J. E. Hill, 6-2, 6-0. Edith Cross, San Francisco, and Sarah Palfrey, Boston, also advanced, defeating Mrs. M. A. O. Mayne and Mrs. V. H. Montgomery, England, 7-5, 6-4.

In doubles two powerful teams of youthful United States Davis Cup players as well as the American-Dutch alliance of Bill Tilden and Hans Timmer advanced.

Wilmer Allison of Austin, Tex., and John Van Ryn, East Orange, N. J., the defending champions, won from Henry Austin and J. S. Olliff of England, 6-2, 5-7, 7-5, 7-5, while George Lott, Chicago, and John Doeg, Santa Monica, Cal., the American title-holders, won two matches to join them in the semifinals.

Lott and Doeg defeated C. E. Malfroy and R. D. Poland, English players, 7-5, 2-6, 14-12, 6-3, and then put out the Australian Davis Cup pair consisting of Jim Willard and Harry Hopman, 6-4, 6-2, 4-6, 6-8, 6-6.

TILDEN WINS

The victory of Tilden and Timmer was scored at the expense of the American Davis Cup youngsters, Berkeley Bell, Dallas, Tex., and Gregory Mangin, Newark, N. J., at 7-5, 8-6, 6-2. Jean Borotra and his young French contryman, Christian Boussus, downed Jack Crawford and E. F. Moon, Australia, 2-6, 6-2, 6-1, 5-7, 6-4.

England started the afternoon's play with three survivors in women's singles and lost them all.

In the Ryan-Nuthall match, Betty scored frequently with brilliant backhand cross-court drives but one fine stroke was not enough to beat the American veteran who chopped with all her old skill and generally out-fought her younger opponent.

The other English girls, Miss Mudford and Miss Ridley, never had a chance against Mrs. Moody and Mme. Mathieu, respectively.

Fraulein Aussem played with the steadiness of the champion herself. She tried nothing spectacular and let Miss Jacobs commit errors. This the Californian seemed always ready to do.

Tomorrow is semifinals day. Miss Ryan and Fraulein Aussem start the program; then Mrs. Moody plays Mme. Mathieu, after which Borotra meets Tilden and Allison encounters Doeg for the right to enter the final round in singles.

TOLAN BREAKS DASH RECORD

eye Bullet" both showed their heels to the "Canadian Comet."

Tolan's time of 10 1-5s. was one-fifth of a second better than the world's mark which he shares with Charlie Paddock, former University of Southern California athlete.

The Michigan Negro broke the tape three feet ahead of Simpson, and the Ohio State flash with a mighty burst of speed in the last twenty yards passed Williams to beat the Vancouver boy by a foot.

Williams hung close to Tolan for the first seventy-five yards, but was unable to keep up with the terrific pace set by the Negro, and he slowly fell away. Simpson trailed the Olympic champion until they reached the final twenty yards where he forged ahead.

The Vancouver lad, who was running his first important race since last summer, when he conquered both Tolan and Frank Wykoff, Southern California ace, on this same track, tried to catch the Americans, but failed to muster the final burst of speed that carried him to two Olympic victories.

The track officials announced after the race that Tolan's new record was all the more remarkable in the fact that he ran uphill, the finish mark being thirty inches higher than the starting point.

One other world's record was broken, another tied and still another nearly shattered when the 100 men and women athletes from the United States and Canada vied for honors.

Simpson equaled his world's figure of 20.6s. when he conquered Tolan in the 220-yard race on the uphill track. The Ohio State speed artist broke the tape less than a foot ahead of the Negro to turn the trick. Williams did not enter the race.

Lillian Palmer, young Vancouver girl, shattered the world's 50-yard dash record for women when she captured the event in 5 4-5s. Her time was one-fifth of a second better than the mark held by Rosa Grosse, Toronto.

Hurling the sixteen-pound shot 52ft. 7in., Herman Brix, giant Los Angeles Athletic Club weight man, came within a quarter of an inch of the official world's mark held by E. Hirschfeld, Germany.

440-yard run, won by Vic Williams (L.A.A.C.,) Holman (O.C.,) second; Nichols (Van.,) third. Time 50.3s.

100-yard dash, won by Sweet (O. C.,) Leveridge (Pitt.,) second; Vic Williams (L.A.A.C.,) third. Time, 10s.

Shot put, won by Brix (L.A.A.C.,) 52ft. 7in.; Jessup (Washington) second, 49ft. 4½in.; Stewart (L.A.A.C.,) third, 45ft. 10½in.

880-yard run, won by Genung (Wash. A.C.,) Fuller (O.C.,) second; Clark (W.S.C.,) third. Time 1m. 58s.

50-yard dash, (women,) Lillian Palmer (Van.) Time, 5 4-5s.

Discus throw, won by Jessup (Wash. A.C.,) 152ft. 5in.; Stewart (L.A.A.C.,) second, 140ft. 3in; Brix (L.A.A.C.,) third, 136ft. 2in.

120-yard high hurdles, won by Smith (Wash. A.C.,) Grumbles (L. A. A. C.,) second; Bracken (Wash. A.C.,) third. Time, 15.8s.

Javelin throw, won by Hein (W. S.C.,) 181ft. 4in.; Stewart (L.A.A.C.,) second, 172ft. 4in.; Brix (L.A.A.C.,) third, 157ft. 10in.

PADDOCK AMAZED AT SPEED OF TOLAN

When informed of Eddie Tolan's record-breaking run last night, Charley Paddock expressed amazement at the Michigan boy's feat. Charley has held the 100-meter record at 10 2-5s. since 1921. This is one-fifth of a second faster than the Olympic mark. There was no record of anyone ever having even tied Paddock's mark of 10 2-5s., and now Tolan comes along, runs uphill and beats the mark. Paddock ran 110 yards in 10 1-5s. in 1921, but due to a row with the A.A.U., did not get credit for doing 100 meters (approximately the same as 110 yards,) in this time. When Roland Locke was given his world record of 2? 2-5s. for the 220 in 1926, he was also credited with the same time for 200 meters.

LES KENNEDY AND SPIKER MIX TONIGHT

Les Kennedy, Long Beach heavyweight, who proved he is capable of making a sensational fight by his performance with Frankie Campbell, resumes his ring activity tonight at Wilmington, when he squares off against Marine Ray Spiker in the scheduled ten-round feature. Bud Baker meets Battling Max at the light-heavyweight poundage in the six-round semi. Jack Tinan and Jimmy Peterson tangle in the special.

THE RETURN

Wearing three crowns upon his head
Where kings wear only one,
He comes back where his fame has spread
Above the work he's done;
From Sandwich to St. Andrew's town,
And then to Hoylake's rough—
At least he left King George his crown,
And that is fair enough.

He whaled them down the fairway's sheen,
He socked them to the pin;
His long irons sailed upon the green,
His putts went popping in;
He said "I'm lucky"—partly true,
For underneath your hat,
I'd think that I was lucky too
To have a swing like that.

Wearing three crowns upon his dome,
Or hanging by an ear,
The young par-beater comes back home
To get an old time cheer;
By well trapped hill and bunkered down,
His birdies filled the air;
At least he left King George his crown,
And that was pretty square.

Beyond Skill

AN ARGUMENT came up a day or two ago among a certain group as to which trio might be listed as three most popular young men in the world. The majority vote finally went to Col. Lindbergh, the Prince of Wales and Bobby Jones.

The reception by New York and Atlanta to be given the triple champion of golf today in New York goes well beyond golf skill, or ability with wood and iron. It goes on to the character of the man himself.

"I have never seen anything like it in sport before," a returned American from Hoylake said yesterday. "Here were 20,000 Englishmen and Scotchmen apparently pulling for Bobby Jones to win. They have made him their great idol of sport, far above any of their own countrymen. It was not only his skill at golf and his competitive spirit, but his entire demeanor. His personality got to them and gripped them.

"I'll give you one example of Bobby Jones, the man," he continued. "I had known Bobby a long time and one day I invited him out to lunch. 'I'm terribly sorry,' Bobby said, 'but I have to go out in the country today and play a game of golf.' I found later that the 'game in the country' was with the Prince of Wales, but Bob never mentioned this part of it. He wouldn't, if he were playing with two kings and a sultan."

The crowd at large admires skill, but it can also sense in a hurry a combination of complete modesty and high-class sportsmanship. There are some who have magnetism, and others who haven't. Jones happens to have this magnetic quality. He caught the fancy of a big gallery back at Merion in 1916 when he was 14 years old in his first appearance in a national championship, and he has held this fancy ever since from Pebble Beach to St. Andrews, regardless of all sectional and international pride. It has been a combination of many qualities that made possible the big reception awaiting him in New York today.

The Fall of Cochet

One by one they come to the peak, hold it, and then start down hill. Henri Cochet, ranked as the first tennis player in the world, banked upon as the main defensive ace in the struggle for the Davis Cup, seems to be the next in line. His defeat by Wilmer Allison of Texas at Wimbledon was one of the great upsets of sport, and yet there had been at least some warning of the overthrow. Borotra had beaten him less than two weeks ago and the Belgian champion had taken him to five sets.

It remained for the brilliant play of Allison to break through completely and change the entire status of the Davis Cup. This doesn't mean that Cochet is through. It simply means that he is no longer the dominating figure in tennis that he has been for two or three years. He is still a great tennis player, but no longer an unconquerable force. Allison had to play magnificent tennis to win as he did in straight sets against the French star.

Nor does this mean that the United States has the Davis Cup won. Cochet may be a different player two weeks away. And there is still Borotra, who proved by his victory over George Lott that he has a lot of tennis left in his system. The point is that the next big Davis Cup contest can no longer be considered a sure thing in any way. It may be the closest and the most spectacular of many years where Cochet can no longer be sure of starting the French ahead with two victories.

him New York is proud of him, too.

And then—after New York gets through with him—they'll take young Bobby over to the Hotel Vanderbilt tomorrow night for the kind of welcome-home dinner only one's home folks know how to give.

All day today they were arriving in New York, those Jones fans from Georgia.

Seventy-five came in on "the Bobby Jones special," which left Atlanta yesterday carrying to Robert Tyre Jones, Jr., from Robert Tyre Jones, III, the following message: "Tell him I can whistle now."

More arrived during the afternoon in airplanes at Newark Airport, and others by trains during the afternoon and evening.

Mayor I. N. Ragsdale of Atlanta officially headed the delegation on "the Bobby Jones special," but the real boss was a gentleman named Robert T. Jones, the champion's father. Mrs. Jones arrived on another train late this afternoon.

JUNIOR OLYMPIC BOYS PAY KANSAS CITY VISIT

BY JOHN F. NESS
"Times" Staff Representative

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) July 1. (Exclusive)—This place is not a bad town. Following forty minutes of rapid-fire inspection by the four Junior Olympic Games champions Louis Haley figures that San Bernardino can give the local Chamber of Commerce a few pointers, while Johnny Lee says he wishes that the perpetual flame which blazes in honor of Missouri's war veterans could be moved to Highland Park.

Joe Andrade thinks that Calexico is quieter than Kansas City, while Sam Waxman wonders why the traffic cops can't smile like they do in Los Angeles. Even with these drawbacks Kansas City kept the boys pop-eyed as they toured through the avenues of blazing lights in the downtown district.

The second day of the journey to the Junior Olympic Games finals at Atlantic City finds the four Southern California boys in splendid physical and mental condition. Everyone in the party had plenty of sleep last night. Heavy rains gave relief from the heat of Monday and the early morning hours offered a thrilling pyrotechnic display as forked lightning flashed through the dark clouds and all the youngsters gathered in the lower berths for grand-stand seats.

The first inspection of the diaries that each boy must keep on the entire trip to New York and the Latin Americas, was made today and the tentative award was given to Johnny Lee. While all the records are interesting and so far are equal in descriptive value, Lee won because his was written up to the last minute before the official call at Hutchinson, Kan.

The writer will award a trophy for the best diary and present indications are that the award will change hands many times before the champions return to their homes.

The natty suits worn by the boys attract a lot of attention and when given the opportunity, each boy talks about the virtues of Southern California with the force and even the gestures of a chautauqua lecturer. If Los Angeles realtors get these kids on subdivision busses as spielers, they've got something.

Discovery of the brass rod in the shower room was made by the gang this afternoon and it will never look the same again. Everyone had a real workout, using it to chin the bar.

With the few stops made by the Golden State Limited the boys have taken to the car aisles and the rest room for setting-up exercises and they are all looking forward to some real track-and-field performances at Northwestern University tomorrow following their arrival in Chicago.

Crews Set for Henley Event

HENLEY - ON - THE-THAMES (Eng.) July 1. (AP)—Crews, which will engage in the great rowing battle for the Thames Challenge Cup starting tomorrow, are in fine fettle tonight for the contest.

The Kent crew, which meets Sydney Sussex College of Cambridge in its first race, was out for only twenty minutes today and by coincidence saw its opponents collide with an obstruction in the river and smash the outrigger.

Rev. Father Sill said his boys are in great shape, but he is especially pleased that the American crews will not meet in the early rounds.

Princeton, which will follow Kent on the river, matches strokes with Twickenham, one of the most formidable opponents the Americans will have to meet. The Princeton coach said he is satisfied with the progress made by the Tigers.

The Argentines, termed the darkhorse, because little has been seen of their practice, meet Maidenhead in their first contest tomorrow.

RABBIT PUNCHES
By PAUL LOWRY

MIGHT HAVE SAVED IT

WILMER ALLISON'S three-set victory over Henri Cochet at Wimbledon was a great feat, but it doesn't necessarily signify an American triumph in the forthcoming Davis Cup test.

It probably means nothing as far as supremacy between America and France in that international classic is concerned.

Deserving of praise as is Allison's triumph over the wonderful Frenchman, it is not hard to read between the lines of a Cochet that has not yet reached the peak of his season's play.

His countryman, Borotra, has already beaten him this year, and Henri has also been pushed to extra-set matches by players he can ordinarily trim in straight sets.

When the Davis Cup battle arrives the Cochet who faces Allison then will be a different Cochet.

Just between you and me and the gatepost I wish that Mr. Allison had saved his artillery surprises for the French-American combat.

THE "MIDNIGHT EXPRESS"

EDDIE TOLAN, the "Midnight Express," is even with Percy Williams, the Canadian Olympic hero.

In fact, he has the edge.

Last year Percy's friends invited Tolan and Frank Wykoff to a little duel of the sprints at Vancouver.

And when he got 'em in his own territory Percy beat both of the Americans hands down, 100 and 220.

This year the invitation was repeated. Tolan accepted with alacrity.

And the "Midnight Express" not only reversed the verdict, but he set a new world's record of 10 1-5s. for the 100 meters in so doing.

That is a feat that will make Wykoff, holder of the world's 9 2-5s. record in the 100-yard dash, sit up and take notice.

PICKS ON TIGERS

COACH JOHNNY BLEWETT, once a football star at California when Andy Smith was at the helm, bursts out with a gridiron blare.

Said toot concerns his San Diego Marine team, which Johnny says is no longer a local proposition, but represents the entire West Coast area.

He seeks a date with Occidental October 5, and wishes to correct an impression that the Marines play football that is not quite according to Hoyle.

Brother Blewett, who is associated with Harry Liversedge, another ex-California star, in the coaching duties, says the Marines play hard football and that the tutoring staff tolerates nothing unorthodox. Among others he has scheduled games with the Olympic Club and St. Ignatius this year.

THOSE FIGHTING STARS

EIGHT straight for the Hollywood Stars.

I can see Bill Lane pouring himself another one on the strength of that record.

And also fourteen out of the last sixteen games.

That is a real mark, one you can't sneeze at.

Victory yesterday puts the Stars only four games away out of first place.

That means that if they continue their phenomenal stride in the remaining fourteen games of the schedule they can capture the first half of the pennant chase.

ing Mueller and Douthit again (two;) and ninth inning singled, scoring Blades, (one.) That's twelve—count 'em!

Of course, this all happened nearly six years ago, but just the same the clumsy rookie who fell all over his own feet back in 1920 and '21, yet who was good enough to win the National League's most valuable player award in 1928, can still drive in almost any and all runners who happen to be on the base paths when he comes up to bat!

MISSIONS DROP TWO TO SOLONS

Sacramento Takes Twin Bill from Bells

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1. (AP)—After losing seven straight games to Hollywood last week, Sacramento's Senators came back with a vengeance today to trounce the San Francisco Missions in both games of a double-header here. The Senators picked off the first contest, 5-2, and followed up with a 12-9 beating in the second affair.

The Missions outhit their rivals in the first game, but the blows were scattered while the Senators bunched wallops in the seventh and eighth for their runs. A smashing rally in the ninth inning, in which the locals contributed by posting up two errors and a wild pitch, accounted for eight runs and a second victory for the visiting team. The Senators belted out five hits and acquired two walks in the inning. Scores:

Ralph Breyer and Art Highland, Mert Wilcox and Paul Corbett of the Chicago Athletic Association; Capt. Johnny Howland and J. K. Brines, Bob Butler, A. L. Hapke, C. C. Leedy and R. L. U. champion, has left for Texas and will be missed by the Hollywood crew.

The field in the women's sprint is topped by Helene Madison, the record-wrecking Seattle miss, who is clipping off records considered almost unbelievable for feminine stars a few years ago. Her competition will be supplied by Josephine McKim and Olive Hatch of the L.A.A.C.; Constance Hanf and Catharine Ames of the New York W.S.A.; Lois Crow and Doris Waite of the Western Women's Club, San Francisco; Annette Saville, Fleishhacker Club, San Francisco; Jane Waite of St. Louis and several more.

Trials in the one-mile swim for men will be held today, it was announced late last night by A.A.U. swim officials. The finals are slated for tomorrow.

The third title event tomorrow will be the men's ten-foot springboard diving and will find Mickey Riley of the L.A.A.C., defending his championship against his brother, Johnny, Dutch Smith also of the L.A.A.C.; Wally Colbath of the Chicago A.A.; Elbridge Ryan of New Orleans; Al Greene, unattached, San Francisco; Ed Kelley and Geary Searle, unattached of Southern California; Guertin Carroll, Olympic Club; Ed Alvarez, unattached, New York City; Richard Louttit, Hawaii; J. A. Godchaux and W. S. Manuel, Yale University; Frank Kurtz, Hollywood A.C., and Billy McAllister and John McDonald, Pacific Coast Club.

The entire Long Beach program will be free to the public and accommodations will be available for some 15,000 fans. The course in Recreation Park may be best reached from Los Angeles by driving east on Anaheim street. The Pacific Electric Railroad from Los Angeles to Newport and Balboa beaches runs parallel to the course. Special cars will be operated as well as Motor Transit busses from all parts of Southern California.

The meet is a four-day one with final events listed for Sunday. Afternoon results will be broadcast over KGER.

STARS NAB SERIES OPENER

was the main reason Hollywood won. After Frank Shellenback had been battered for five runs, seven hits and a sore finger, Page took the mound in the fourth and slammed the door right in the Acorns' faces. Vance found himself in a couple of tough spots, but had the necessary stuff to hurl his way out of any and all difficulties that presented themselves.

Otis Brannan, with three of the Stars' nine hits to his credit, and Dave Barbee, who rapped out his seventh homer in fourteen games and drove in three runs, supplied the offensive dash that brought the Sheiks their eighth straight win.

Lou McEvoy, back from the Yankees, started on the mound for Oakland and hurled effective ball except in the first and fourth innings. The Sheiks bunched six hits for five runs in those two rounds. McEvoy was lifted for a pinch hitter in the eighth and Herb McQuaid worked the last half of the round against Hollywood.

Oakland started off with a run in the first when Martin forced Uhalt, who had singled, stole second and scored on Vergez's hit to center.

STARS SCORE THREE

The Stars came back with three runs in their half, all of the tallies coming after two were out. Both Hill and Lee were disposed of but Brannan doubled down the left-field line. Barbee followed with a line drive over the left-field fence and the Stars were ahead, 3-1. A walk to Carlyle, Heath's single and a successful steal brought Carlyle home with the third run of the round. Bassler also walked but Green lofted to Martin.

The Acorns tied it up in the third on McEvoy's infield hit, Brannan's wide throw to first on Uhalt's grounder, which put runners on second and third, and Martin's double. Shellenback injured his finger trying to get Brannan's throw to first but stuck around until the Oaks got after him again in the fourth.

Zamloch's charges put across two more runs in the fourth and might have made more but for some bum base running by Uhalt. Dean led off with a single and Griffin doubled. Deviveros fanned but McEvoy hit to Lee whose throw to Bassler arrived too late to get Dean at the plate. Uhalt singled to left, scoring Griffin, and McEvoy took third and Uhalt second when Hill let the ball get through him. Page replaced Shellenback and forced Martin to hit to Lee. Lee threw Martin out at first but Uhalt, for some unknown reason, ran McEvoy off third and the hurler was doubled at the plate easily on Heath's toss to Bassler.

After Green had fanned, Page singled to start the Stars off on a tying rally in their half of the fourth. Hill followed with a double off the wall. Lee's infield out and Brannan's infield hit scored Page and Hill with tying tallies.

From then on until the seventh the game developed into a mound duel between McEvoy and Page, with the former weakening to yield the winning run.

LEE CLOUTS DOUBLE

Lee paved the way for the deciding counter when he opened the seventh with a double down the left-field line. Brannan bunted Dud to third and Barbee brought him home with a long sacrifice fly to Martin, who made a nice catch in deep left center.

The Oaks had runners on first and second with one away in the sixth, but Page disposed of McEvoy and Uhalt to end the threat. Again in the eighth the Oaks threatened and filled the bases after two were out, but Uhalt again failed to deliver, Lee spearing his grounder and stepping on second for the third out.

Martin beat out a bunt to begin the ninth and Vergez bunted him to second to once more cause Skipper Vitt to become nervous. This time, however, the rally ended in a hurry with a double play. Lombardi, who went hitless in five times at bat, hit to Lee and Martin was trapped between third and second. Lee finally tagged out Martin and then tossed the ball to Brannan to double Lombardi, who tried to reach second on the rundown. Score:

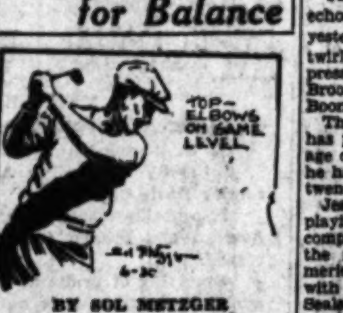
Elbows Even Level at Top for Balance



BY SOL METZGER

The main idea in golf is to swing in the groove. In other words, swing the clubhead through on the same arc it took going back. To accomplish this much depends on starting the club down right.

Lou Berrien, a California pro who has the interesting problems that a municipal course offers its instructors, by reason of teaching at the one at Santa Monica, says that one's position at the top must be correct, else the downswing will not function properly. He recommends it to be one in which the elbows are on the same level. This insures proper balance of the arms and permits them to work in unison.

The common fault of most of us at the top is to spread the right elbow too much. Consequently we are given to slicing our drives. So look to elbow balance, to keeping them on the same level, at the top.

Putting is half the game. Good putters score low. Sol Metzger has prepared an illustrated leaflet on "The Art of Putting" which he will gladly send any reader free of charge. Address Sol Metzger, in care of The Times, and inclose self-addressed, stamped envelope.

HURLERS HAPPY AS BOONE LEAVES

That audible sigh of relief which echoed throughout the Coast League yesterday, came from the collective twirlers of the loop, who thus expressed their appreciation to the Brooklyn ball club for removing Ike Boone from the league.

The Mission outfielder's trusty bat has punched out an unofficial average of .450 for the eighty-one games he has played. Of his 135 safe hits, twenty-one were home runs.

Jess Hill, of the Hollywood Stars, playing in twenty-seven games, has compiled an average of .390. Among the regulars, however, Wes Schulmerich tops the Angel contingent with .387, Earl Sheely leads the Seals with .386; Hoag leads Sacramento with .376; Arlett tops Oakland with .367; Ken Williams is Portland's best with .348, and Holland leads Seattle with .332. The figures, compiled by Leo Moriarty:

ILLINOIS TURNS DOWN PRIMO CARNERA TILT

CHICAGO, July 1. (AP)—The Illinois State Athletic Commission today refused to sanction an exhibition match featuring Primo Carnera, which Promoter Mique Malloy had been planning. The refusal was made because of the suspension of the big Italian heavyweight by the National Boxing Association, of which the Illinois commission is a member.

STEWART BEATS SPARKS

CHICAGO, July 1. (AP)—Jackie Stewart, 129-pounder from Louisville, Ky., outpointed Ward Sparks, Detroit 130½-pounder, in an eight-round match tonight. In another eight-rounder, Patsy Pollock, Winnipeg, Can., outpointed Frankie Burns, Milwaukee.

CORBETT COMPLETES HIS HEAVY TRAINING

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1. (AP)—With a rousing six-round workout today, Young Corbett of Fresno completed heavy training for his ten-round nontitle bout here July 4 with young Jack Thompson, welterweight champion.

Thompson did not work out, his handlers expalining he was down to fighting weight of 142½ pounds and too rigid training might cause him to go stale. The Negro will get into action tomorrow, however.

BASS BOUT DEFERRED

PHILADELPHIA, July 1. (AP)—Announcement was made today that the ten-round bout between Benny Bass and Tony Canzoneri, originally fixed for the 14th inst., at the Phillies' Ball Park, has been put over to the 21st inst.

OLYMPIC DATES ARE ANNOUNCED

delegates following the announcement that visiting athletes could make the round trip to Los Angeles for approximately $400, this amount also to cover their expenses during the two-week period here. This figure is approximately half of what the Europeans had been led to suspect and was only made possible through untiring work on the part of Farmer and his corps of assistants.

It was this announcement that assured the success of the games here, according to Farmer, for immediately upon securance of this knowledge athletic leaders of the European countries came forward and declared they would send their strongest and most representative teams to Los Angeles for the 1932 program.

Germany, according to Farmer, plans to send the largest team ever entered by that country in the Olympic Games, while Finland also aims to exceed its total of 1928 when the Finns took second to the United States in the point score.

July 30, opening day for the gigantic program, will bring a crowd of 105,000 fans to the Coliseum, in the opinion of Farmer. This mammoth spectacle, featuring every athlete entered in the Olympic Games, is one of the most picturesque and impressive rites of world history.

Track and field sports start the following day and will run for eight days.

Polo has definitely been included on the 1932 program, which means that the greatest riders from all over the world will be on hand, including the famous Argentines, who made such a hit here this spring. Various fields will be available, including two at Midwick, two at the Riviera Country Club and those of the Uplifters and Will Rogers.

Another spectacular event has been added in field hockey, played on the grass. This is one of the most interesting athletic events on the entire program and should provide plenty of excitement. Many fields will be used for the elimination games, with finals slated for the Coliseum.

All rowing events will be held over the 2000-meter straightaway course back of Long Beach and Alamitos Bay, where more than 100,000 spectators can be accommodated.

FINALS AT COLISEUM

The entire program will be so arranged that finals in practically every event can be held in the Coliseum without conflicting in any way with the track and field schedule.

Boxing, wrestling and weight lifting are scheduled for the Olympic Auditorium with finals in all three to be held at night.

Women will most assuredly compete in the Olympic Games here, according to Farmer; but one or two of the more strenuous events have been eliminated.

Tennis is not included in the program, although for a time there was talk of staging such competition at the Los Angeles Tennis Club. Since the Paris Olympic Games tennis competition has centered around the Davis Cup play and Olympic officials have felt that this is the big event of the net sport and that it should remain so. Consequently there will be no attempt to include tennis in the 1932 program.

The ruling adopted at the Olympic Congress, restricting each nation to three entries in each event, will work to the benefit of all concerned, in the opinion of Farmer. It will make for representation in all events, rather than specialization and better enables the smaller countries to compete on more equal footing with the large.

Gwynn Wilson, former general manager of the Associated Students of the University of Southern California, was present at yesterday's luncheon in his new capacity as Farmer's chief aide in the matter of staging the Olympic Games.

GLENNA IN TIE FOR SECOND POSITION

CLEVELAND, July 1. (AP)—Leading the national champion, Miss Glenna Collett of Providence, R. I., by four strokes, Mrs. E. F. Lenihan of Cleveland, today won the first invitational women's golf tournament at the Kirtland Club with a score of 79-80-159 for thirty-six holes.

Miss Collett added an 82 today to her 81 yesterday for a total of 163 and tied for second with Miss Peggy Wattles of Buffalo, who had rounds of 80 and 83.

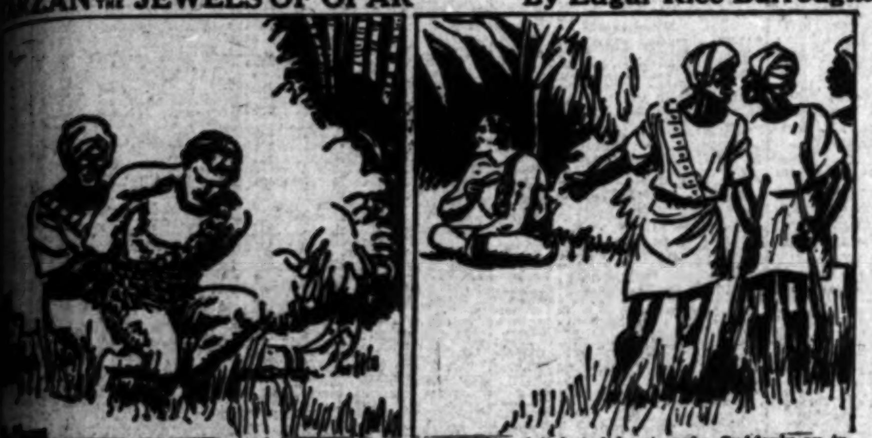
TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR

By Edgar Rice Burroughs



Tarzan regained his senses he was a long from the scene of the encounter. Both he and were lying bound. The column had halted a stream and were preparing the evening From the thick foliage of the near-by jun- pair of fierce eyes watched the soldiers with intensity. As the guard unfettered Tarzan's to allow him to eat and he arose to his feet, expression of recognition entered the eyes hidden watcher and a low guttural broke from savage lips.

Tarzan heard it but did not reply. Suddenly an inspiration came to him. All through the meal time he mumbled some strange jargon resembling the barking of a dog and the chattering of monkeys. One of the blacks spoke to his companions. "I have heard those sounds before. Once at night when lost in the jungle I heard the hairy men of the trees talking among themselves and their words were words of this white man. I wish we had not found him. He is an evil spirit. We shall have bad luck."

companions laughed nervously and moved away the conversation, with variations and ex-, to the others, so that soon a frightful of black magic and sudden death was woven the giant prisoner and had gone the rounds the camp. And deep in the gloomy jungle amidst darkening shadows of the falling night a hairy, creature swung swiftly southward upon secret mission of his own. Meanwhile, Jane through a series of vicissitudes, had fallen the hands of the Abyssinians.

After her hairbreath escape from the Arab camp she had unluckily crossed the trail of the returning soldiers of Menelek, had been captured and again under new masters, her journey was resumed toward what she now began to believe was her inevitable fate. Abdul Mourak, foiled in all his ventures to gain the gold and jewels of Opar, was reluctantly returning to make his report to his black emperor. Perhaps now this fair flower of another race would be an acceptable gift to temper the wrath of that black ruler.

FISH CANNERS NAME LEADER

Morrissey as President Completes Group

Banker Has Had Success in Sea Industry

State Organization Lists Score of Companies

THOMAS A. MORRISSEY

With the drafting of Thomas A. Morrissey, Los Angeles capitalist, to be secretary-manager of the California Fish Canners' Association, the first State-wide body of its kind overcame the last big obstacle to its organization.

The selection of Morrissey was accomplished by directors of the new association at the Biltmore yesterday after eleven candidates had been considered, several of whom are outstanding in the industry. Morrissey was the only one on whom all directors agreed.

MORRISSEY BANKER

Essentially a banker, having risen from change boy to cashier of the Merchants' National Bank, Morrissey has taken flings in the fishing industry at times with productive results. It was he who revitalized the Southern California Fish Corporation. He also was president of the Pacific National Bank. Independently wealthy, he sought the post, packers said, in the hope merely of helping the industry.

Except for selecting its manager, the association was completed at Del Monte three weeks ago. Yesterday, however, Frank Van Camp, who has presided at the meetings, resigned and Bismarck Houssels, vice-president of Van Camp Sea Food Co., Inc., was elected president of the new body in his stead.

MANY COMPANIES ON LIST

The organization represents a score of companies and 95 per cent of the $30,000,000 in sardines, tuna and mackerel packed yearly in the State. It will absorb the present tuna and sardine associations and maintain at San Pedro an elaborate research laboratory.

Attending yesterday meeting were Van Camp and Houssels, H. A. Irving, Sea Pride Packing Corporation; Sam Hornstein, Coast Fishing Company; E. B. Gross, E. B. Gross Canning Company; K. Hovden, K. Hovden Company, and Martin Bogdanovich and Ed Hoyt, French Sardine Company.

The next meeting will be at Del Monte the 24th inst., when Morrissey is expected to lay his plans before the association.

CADETS AT PARK

Cadets of the Urban Military Academy have arrived at Sequoia National Park for their annual encampment, it was announced yesterday. There are about fifty boys in the group.

COOK TO WED SUNDAY

Clyde C. Cook, advertising manager for the Kelley Kar Company, and Marie C. Harrington, Los Angeles newspaper woman, yesterday filed notice of intention to wed. They will be married Sunday.

RUMOR EXAGGERATES LOSS IN RECENT LIBRARY BLAZE

That the fire in the periodical room of the Los Angeles Public Library June 15, last, resulted in the loss of $35,000, of which amount $25,000 represented loss on contents and the remaining damage to the building, was denied last night by Orra E. Monnette, chairman of the Library Board.

According to some reports yesterday only a few hundred dollars' insurance was carried by the Library Board.

"There was no such loss," said Mr. Monnette. "I do not know the exact amount of the damage, but it will not approach such a hugh sum."

Mr. Monnette said that under municipal authority the Library Board had been carrying a part of its own insurance by setting aside a certain sum each year as a possible loss fund. This covered possible loss to the building, it was explained.

"Practically every library in America is working on the same plan," he said. "There is nothing unusual in this procedure. If the sum on hand in this fire fund is not large enough now to pay the loss it will be made up by future premiums set aside each year. I do not know just how much there is in the fund now."

According to E. R. Perry, City Librarian, the amount in the insurance reserve fund which the local board has built up is around $10,000, and the amount will be available to apply on the building loss.

"We are carrying $277,000 on the contents on a co-insurance basis. I mean that we, not carrying the full amount of valuation, will bear a part of possible loss together with the insurance companies. We are advertising now for bids to replace the furniture and to repair the damage to the building."

Bowl Jubilee Benefit to be Held Tonight

A complete dress rehearsal yesterday added the finishing touch to preparations for the second annual Hollywood Midsummer Jubilee, to be given by stars of the stage and screen in Hollywood Bowl tonight under supervision of Florenz Ziegfeld as a testimonial to the Los Angeles Sanatorium, free, nonsectarian hospital at Duarte.

Beginning with a medley of song-hits played at 8 p.m. by the Vitaphone Orchestra under direction of Louis Silvers, the program will present a succession of acts. Among those to entertain are Don Jose Mojica, Ted Healy and his "racketeers," Frank Richardson and Marjorie White, Eddie Tierney, J. Harold Murray, Richard Keene, Fifi D'Orsay, Everett Marshall, Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey, the Tiller Sunshine Girls, a Pearl Eaton Ensemble, Abe Lyman's band, a Larry Ceballos Revue, Rose Perfect, Mosconi Brothers, an Albertina Rasch ballet, Charles King, Lottice Howell, a Sammy Lee revue, Ann Pennington, Harry Green and Mitzi Green, Cliff Edwards and the Los Angeles Opera Company chorus. The duties of master of ceremonies are to be performed by Fred Niblo, Lew Cody, Benny Rubin and Charles Irwin.

The Bowl stage has been equipped with extra space and lighting effects, and amplifiers have been installed to make the program audible in all parts of the amphitheater.

County Plans Appeal From Jury's Dward

Appeal from an award of $91,370 by a jury in Superior Judge Burnell's court against the county for 600 feet of roadway condemned through a gravel pit on the Arrow Highway near the San Gabriel River, probably will be taken immediately, it was stated by County Counsel Mattoon yesterday, following the jury's verdict.

The condemned road, about three-fourths of an acre in extent, was valued at $22,000 by county experts and at $108,000 by experts for the defendants, the Burden Material Company, and R. F. McCollum, lessor of the land. The jury's verdict stipulated $13,500 for the land taken, and $77,870 for severance damages. This amount was augmented by the operation of a county ordinance which prohibits excavation of gravel within 360 feet of a county road, and, therefore, made worthless for gravel mining considerably more land than that actually traversed by the roadway.

Stunting Charge Denied in Suit Over Pilot Death

Airplane stunting did not precede the crash in which Dominic Di Fiore, pilot, was killed, it was set forth in a deposition by Russell J. Brownell, airplane mechanic, read yesterday in Superior Judge Keetch's court. The pilot's widow, Mrs. Ethel May Di Fiore, is suing the Mutual Aircraft Corporation for $50,000 damages, asserting that her husband's death was due to a defective plane wing. The company contends that Di Fiore was stunt flying in disobedience of orders.

Brownell described Di Fiore's last flight at Bakersfield, August 11, 1928, saying the plane went into a tail spin and crashed in flames.

Air Trip North to Be Shortened

When Western Air Express moves its northern terminal next Monday from Oakland municipal airport to San Francisco Bay Airdrome, Alameda, approximately twenty-five minutes will be clipped from the time of departure from downtown Los Angeles to arrival at the San Francisco Ferry Building, officials announced last night.

The long drive from Oakland municipal airport to the Alameda ferry pier will be shortened to five minutes from the new site. In addition, quicker service will be afforded by Air Ferries, Ltd., which also will use the airdrome. Approximately fifteen minutes after leaving the land plane passengers will arrive at the foot of Market street by means of amphibian planes.

Burr McIntosh Delays His Suit

Burr McIntosh, stage veteran and present radio entertainer, yesterday failed to appear in Superior Judge Smith's court to press his suit for divorce from Jean Snowden McIntosh. Later, it was learned that he had decided to drop his suit for the present, at least.

Attorney Gilbert J. Heyfron telephoned the court clerk, requesting that the case be continued for two months. It was continued until September 2, next.

Citizens' League to Make Check of City's Affairs

Organization of the Citizens' League of Los Angeles with the purpose of providing a bureau of information on the affairs of city and county administration and the publication of a weekly journal was announced yesterday by George H. Pinard. Mr. Pinard said the league has already obtained about 200 charter members and that a permanent organization would be perfected Friday.

Among the objects which Mr. Pinard listed as the policy of the organization are elimination of duplication of county taxing units, advocation of a number of State constitutional amendments and vigilance over civil service appointments.

Mr. Pinard said the organization will be similar in scope to the Citizens' League of Cleveland, of which he was one of the original promoters.

BANDITS GARNER RAILWAY'S CASH

Pacific Electric Cashier Choked by Hold-ups

Pasadena Office Loser to Tune of $5000

Trainmaster Trussed Up as He Interrupts Crime

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, July 1.—Between $5000 and $6000 was taken from the cashier's office of the Pasadena division of the Pacific Electric Railway Company tonight by two bandits who throttled the cashier of the company into submission and bound with copper wire the trainmaster, who happened to enter the room while the hold-up was in progress.

The cashier's office is in the car barn forming the terminal for trains between this city and Los Angeles and adjoins the room in which from ten to twenty motormen and conductors usually congregate, waiting to begin their trips.

CASHIER ALONE

The hold-up tonight was effected between 8:15 and 8:30 p.m. J. E. Engle, company cashier, was alone in his cage when the two bandits entered. Engle later said he did not know of the presence of the men until one of them, muscular and about six feet tall, suddenly came up behind him, and fastened his fingers about his throat. At the same time the second man, only a little less tall than his companion, shoved a revolver against Engle's side, threatening him with death if he made an outcry.

The first man, meantime, kept his fingers about Engle's throat until he fell to the floor, at which point the second man began shoving the money into a brief case he had brought with him.

TRAINMAN ENTERS

At this moment Arthur Smith, trainmaster for the company, entered the room. He was at once cowed by revolvers and compelled to submit to the binding of his ankles and wrists with copper wire. He was then thrown on top of the prone cashier.

The two bandits, having collected all the money in sight, then ran through the door and disappeared, dropping an empty second brief case near the door as they dashed out and disappeared.

Both men were described as having dark complexions and being neatly dressed. One wore a light cap, and the other a dark one. The police believe the brief case that was dropped may prove a clew leading to their capture.

COURT LIKE WAREHOUSE FOR LIQUOR

Hundred and Forty-three Cases Trundled in for Trial of A. B. Stewart

Hand trucks were required yesterday to trundle in the evidence for a trial before United States District Judge Cosgrave—143 cases of expensive imported liquor that were removed from the Federal Building's basement stronghold to the court.

It was in the case of Alexander B. Stewart, business man of Long Beach, accused of violating the national prohibition act by permitting the landing of a large cargo of imported liquor at the wharf of the Curtis Corporation, which he heads.

He was once convicted, but the case was reversed by the Circuit Court of Appeal. Testimony yesterday was mostly that of Federal dry agents. The case will be resumed today.

alty of his deeds by working on the sympathies of the jurors.

Yesterday was the sixteenth day of the trial. The larger part of the time was consumed in the presentation of the prosecution case. Witnesses testified that Fred Oesterreich was murdered late on the night of August 22, 1922. When the police arrived they found Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich locked in an upstairs closet and her husband's bullet-riddled body lying by the front door downstairs.

HISTORY OF INQUIRY

Mrs. Oesterreich claimed that she had gone upstairs to hang up her coat and had been pushed into the closet by an unseen assailant and the door locked. Nearly a year later she was arrested and charged with murder when the police said they learned that she had given two automatic pistols to two different men to dispose of. The charges against her were dismissed at her preliminary hearing, however, for lack of evidence, and for seven years the case marked time.

A few months ago, however, Attorney Herman Shapiro, once Mrs. Oesterreich's civil lawyer, made an affidavit in which he declared that while Mrs. Oesterreich was in the County Jail in 1923 she asked him to release Sanhuber from the garret of her house, which he did. Later Sanhuber was arrested and made a statement to the grand jury that he had lived in the garrets of various Oesterreich houses over a period of ten years, and had shot and killed Oesterreich when the latter one night began quarreling with Mrs. Oesterreich. At the trial Sanhuber's defense was that he was locked in his garret when the murder took place, and that he had falsely confessed to the grand jury only because Shapiro had once told him that it was the only way to save Mrs. Oesterreich.

Large Number of Burglaries Believed Solved

What police officials declare sets a record for speed in the capture of an important criminal was established by Detective Lieutenants Thompson and Harper in the arrest of Frank T. Ecker, 35 years of age, transient, who is charged with suspicion of burglary and being an habitual criminal.

Ecker, after an all-night grilling by detectives, is said to have confessed yesterday to burglaries amounting to more than $25,000 over a period of four months in Los Angeles. Most of the jobs were committed in Hollywood, North Hollywood and the exclusive Los Feliz Boulevard section.

Only money and diamonds were taken, Ecker is said by the officers to have declared. The questioning was conducted by Detective Lieutenants Vannice and Lennen and Ecker confessed to having served sixteen years in prison on similar charges.

His arrest came within fifteen minutes after Thompson and Harper had been shown a rogue's gallery photo of the fugitive.

Boys Arrested For Hold-up of Beach Theater

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, July 1. (Exclusive) Very formidable appeared the lone bandit who, revolver in hand, held up the box office of the State Theater, Pine avenue and Ocean Boulevard, last Sunday night, compelling the cashier to turn over $220.

But William N. Soske, 16 years of age, arrested tonight at his home on North Banning Boulevard, Wilmington, as the bandit, looked like any other schoolboy, say Detective Sergeants Dickson and Brunt, who took him in custody.

Nevertheless, say the officers, Soske admitted the hold-up and implicated Harold Hart, 18, of the Don Hotel, Wilmington, as his accomplice, who waited for him in a parked car while Soske assertedly "pulled the job." He, too, was arrested.

Only $14 of the asserted booty was found. The boys had spent the rest, they said, according to police.

Railroad Plea Issued for Safe Holiday Driving

To locomotive crews the Fourth of July is not yet safe or sane as it might be, according to T. H. Williams, assistant general manager for the Southern Pacific, who issued a plea for unusual carefulness on the part of all who plan automobile trips during the three-day holiday.

"The automobile in the hands of careless or thoughtless drivers has become more deadly than the firecracker in the national total of Fourth of July mishaps," Williams said.

"The holiday spirit seems to make otherwise careful drivers careless, and in spite of every safety device and precaution provided at crossings railroads are almost helpless to prevent the annual toll of crossing watchmen run down, lowered gates crashed through and trains run into by careless motorists."

Radio Device Inventor Ends Life in Shop

In a small radio shop at 1786½ North Main street, where he lived alone, Frank B. Miller, 45 years of age, had tinkered for two years on an invention that was to be a radio receiving device and bring him fame and fortune.

His neighbors, who liked him, were inclined to regard him with humorous tolerance as "that inventor feller."

But for the last two days the little shop had been closed to customers, and no one had seen Miller.

The police of Lincoln Heights station were asked to investigate, and found Miller hanging from a rafter above his shop. Near by were the tools he had used in his "tinkering," and also the box, on which police say he stood while adjusting the noose and before kicking himself free.

Failure of the device, on which he had applied for a patent, is believed by the police to have prompted his suicide.

Annulment of Marriage Won

To aid his wife in obtaining an annulment of their marrage, Harry J. Tuel yesterday testified in Superior Judge Gould's court. Zelma Tuel was asking an annulment of her marriage to Tuel at Santa Ana on December 26, 1926.

Tuel testified that at that time he was not free to marry because his decree of divorce from Mrs. Pearl Tuel did not become final until December 1, 1927. Judge Gould granted the annulment. Attorney Martin S. Ryan appeared for Mrs. Zelma Tuel.
